Senate Sends Rights Measure Back To House

Basic Provisions Unaltered As Bill Wins 71-18 Passage

WASHINGTON (AP) — The civil rights bill was back on the House's doorstep today after being passed by the Senate 71-18.

House leaders of both parties are expected to urge the House to accept the changes made by the Senate in the embattled measure, none of which substantially altered its basic provisions.

This would speed final action by avoiding the necessity of having to set up a Senate-House Conference Committee to compromise the differences.

But even if the House does concur in the Senate amendments, the outlook is that this will not be done until some time after Easter.

In all probability the measure will have to run the gauntlet of the House Rules Committee, headed by Rep. Howard W. Smith (D-Va.), a longtime foe of civil rights measures.

Passage of the bill by the Senate Friday night climaxes a battle that began Feb. 15 and included more than a week of sessions around the clock.

The House had passed its bill 311-109 on March 24.

The only senators who voted against passage were the 18 Southern Democrats who had fought it relentlessly week after week. Recorded for it were 42 Democrats and 29 Republicans.

Shortly before final passage, the Dixie forces made a last-ditch effort to send the bill back to the Senate Judiciary Committee for more hearings. The vote against the proposal was 70-19.

The measure embodies most, but not all, of President Eisenhower's civil rights proposals, although not exactly as he recommended them.

Eisenhower was described by Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois earlier in the week as "quite happy" with the bill.

South Africa Premier Shot After Race Speech

White Farmer Nabbed At Cattle Contest Fair

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) — Premier Hendrik F. Verwoerd was shot twice in the head at point-blank range today as he stood on a speaker's platform to defend South Africa's white supremacy policy. Emergency treatment failed to remove the bullets.

His assailant, a white farmer, shouted, "God help me!" as he pulled the trigger of his Belgian .32-caliber pistol.

Verwoerd's wife, Elizabeth, on the platform with him, collapsed when she saw him slump backward into a chair, blood streaming from his right ear and cheek. But she recovered and cradled his head in her arms while waiting for his removal to a hospital.

The 58-year-old premier was reported conscious and in "satisfactory" condition. His palate was pierced and his jaw broken by the slug that struck his cheek.

His assailant, David Pratt of Pietersburg, was overpowered by spectators at the annual trade fair in Milner Park and was hustled out to a police car.

Finance Minister T. E. Donge, next ranking man in the government, considered calling an emergency session of parliament.

There were no disorders. A driving rain cleared the streets of Johannesburg within 15 minutes of the shooting.

Verwoerd, a burly, 215-pound man standing 6 feet 1, was behind a waist-high podium at the fair, passing out cups to prizewinners in a cattle contest.

He had just spoken for 30 minutes on his controversial apartheid race segregation policies which he helped impose as a native affairs minister in the cabinet of late Premier Daniel F. Malan and which he carried forward in his own government despite protests abroad and African native demonstrations at home.

"We shall not be killed. We shall fight for our existence," he said. "We shall survive."

Minutes later, he sat slumped in a chair with blood pouring down his face. His bodyguard, Col. Carl Richter, fell beside him, apparently in a faint.

Emil Pohli, 63, Dies; Marin Civic Leader

Emil E. Pohli, 63, a retired U.S. Navy officer, Marin civic leader and real estate man for nearly 25 years, died in his sleep last night at his home, 29 Roosevelt avenue, Mill Valley.

His wife, Maude E. Pohli, found him dead at 9 a.m. today when she went to awaken him. He had not complained of feeling ill earlier, nor did he have a known heart condition.

Pohli lived in Mill Valley as a child. After his Naval retirement he returned to Marin, and formed a real estate partnership in 1936 with Assemblyman Richard H. McCollister. Two years later they decided to set up separate organizations.

In addition to his wife, Pohli is survived by two sons, Capt. Emil Pohli Jr., U.S. Air Force (Ret.), living in Dallas, Tex., and Lt. Richard R. Pohli, USN, in Japan, and two grandchildren.

Pohli was a native of San Francisco. His parents came to this country from Europe. His father at one time was principal of the Lytton Springs Military Academy in Sonoma County, and later became official shorthand reporter for Judge U.S. Webb in San Francisco, who encouraged him to become an attorney.

The elder Pohli moved his family to Marin just one day before the San Francisco earthquake in 1906.

Emil was graduated from Lowell High School in San Francisco, then shipped out to sea as a deck boy on a steam lumber schooner.

He enlisted in the Navy in 1917 and was commissioned an ensign. Later he was promoted to lieutenant (j.g.) while making five round trips to France on a troopship.

Directors Fill Vacancy On Hospital Board

Allan M. Chambliss of 15 Prospect avenue, San Anselmo, last night was appointed and sworn in as a new director of Marin County Hospital Board to replace William H. Thomas who resigned last month.

The term of office Chambliss will fill runs until 1962.

"I feel it is a great honor to be asked and am pleased to serve such a worthwhile community endeaver" Chambliss said.

Chambliss and his wife, the former Doris Newell, have resided in Marin County since 1944. They have three children, Mrs. William Bossart of Davis, Anne Chambliss of San Francisco and Lane Chambliss an eighth grade student at the Marin County Day School.

Chambliss a 1933 graduate of the U. S. Naval Academy took a master of science degree from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1939. Since 1955 he has been president of the Marshall-Newell Supply Co., San Francisco.

He is past president of the Marin County Schools Assn. and served as a member of the Board of Trustees of the San Anselmo School for seven years.

'White Paper' Says U.S. Might Outweighs Russ

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Defense Department contended today in a "white paper" that America's bombers give the United States overwhelming superiority in total military strength despite Russia's advantage in missiles.

The document, being circulated among 600 business leaders, was unusually frank in conceding the Soviets have been allowed to take the missile lead but in defense of this strategy, it added:

"This country could have turned out almost any number of missiles it wished.

Sound strategic reasoning led us to choose not to produce as many of the first-generation, fixed site, liquid-fueled missiles as we estimated the Soviets could produce."

The white paper apparently was designed to ward off political critiscism of the defense program. It was written in letter form by Oliver M. Gale, special assistant to defense Secretary Thomas S. Gates Jr.

Assertions in the 17-page document included these:

America's land and sea-based bombers represent "many thousands of megatons of nuclear potential." If the "many" in the statement were as many as 20, that would be the explosive equivalent of one million Hiroshima bombs.

The early Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile bases will be "soft (surface) targets" which could be knocked out by a nuclear near-miss. "Even the later Atlas bases will be in fixed positions well known to the Soviets, who can take whatever time they need to make sure their missiles are zeroed on these sites."

A B52 bomber "can deliver many times the explosive potential of the Atlas, with greater accuracy and selectivity . . . for us—at present and in the immediate future — the bomber is a far better delivery method."

America's 14 aircraft carriers, "several of which are deployed about the periphery of the Soviet Union," support aircraft which "alone outnumber the heavy bombers of the Soviet Union."

America is preparing to maintain bombers on an airborne alert "for limited periods when international storm signals indicate that such action would be prudent rather than merely provocative . . . even now we have a small number of planes in the air at all times —with weapons and assigned targets."

Schoonmaker Acquires Boat Firm

A. G. Schoonmaker Co. Inc. of Sausalito, manufacturers of diesel engines, has acquired a Sausalito boat building firm, Aeromarine Plastics Corp., president T. L. Schoonmaker announced today.

Aeromarine, manufacturers of the Bounty II sloop, Bountyawl and the Triton line of fiber glass boats, will continue to expand its present line, as well as other diversified industrial and defense items, Schoonmaker said.

Schoonmaker acquires the stock interest now held by Frederick M. Coleman, Aeromarine vice president, and Vincent S. Lazzara, mid-western distributor for the Aeromarine line.

I-J CONTEST

How Do You Count Noses? Here Are Population Tips

So you think you'd like to win $100 or more in the Independent-Journal's County Wide Census Contest, but you don't know where to start?

It's easy! All you do is guess the closest of any entry to the population of Marin County, as determined by the 1960 census now going on, and you win a $100 merchandise order.

Then you guess closest to the population of the town in which you live and you win a $25 merchandise order.

Then you guess the closest to the total circulation of the Independent-Journal on April 30, 1960, and you win another $25 merchandise order.

That's $150 worth of prizes you can win if you live in a city. If you don't, you can only win $125. But there'll be a $25 prize for some lucky winner in every one of the 10 incorporated cities of Marin.

How will you know about where to guess? Of course we don't know the final answers yet ourselves, but here are some statistics which might help you make your estimate:

The San Francisco Bay Area Council estimates that as of the first of this year, the population of Marin County was 150,700. But the California Taxpayers Association says it was only 142,600.

Just to confuse things further, Marin Industrial Development Foundation set the Jan. 1 population at 148,000, while the Bay Area Rapid Transit District says it will be 153,000 by July 1 this year.

In June last year, the reliable Marin County Planning Department estimated the 1960 county population in this range: low 150,100; medium 157,920; high 162,825.

Now do those figures help you?

But how about the cities?

All of the cities in the county except Sausalito have had recent special censuses. And we have two recent estimates on Sausalito's residents. The first was 6,200 in 1958 but the second, made just this year by the State Department of Finance, was only 5,700.

The other cities and their special census figures are:

In 1954, Ross 2,402 and Fairfax 4,628; in 1955 San Anselmo 10,466; in 1956 San Rafael 16,526; in 1957 Belvedere 1,767, Corte Madera 4,164, Mill Val-

SAUSALITO . . . CARL WOOLEY
Tells His Aims As Councilman

"I think it is high time we in Sausaliti get our feet on the ground and take a plain common sense approach to our problems, relying on Sausalitans to protect our people, their homes, investments, and businesses. We cannot dodge the issue by calling in so-called experts from outside, whose chief interest is in the fees we pay them. We cannot turn back the clock, nor conjure up the sleepy village of long ago, but we can help Sausalito grow up in a sane and orderly manner."

IN JUNE Linda Yates and Robert Lowry (above) will exchange marriage vows. The twenty-fifth day of the Month of Brides has been set as the date of the wedding. The ceremony will take place at the First Presbyterian Church in San Anselmo. (Photo by Carl Sandahl)

Linda Yates To Be Married To Robert Lowry June 25

Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds J. Yates of San Anselmo are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Linda, to Robert Lowry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy I. Lowry of San Rafael.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School and attended College of Marin. She is a member of Bethel 48, Job's Daughters and employed at the First National Bank of San Rafael. James Yates of San Rafael is her only brother.

Bob, a graduate of San Rafael High School and College of Marin, is employed by Michael Ryan of San Francisco, marine architect and engineer. The future benedict was a member of Niram at college and belongs to Marin Chapter 19 of DeMolay and Marin Lodge, F and A.M. He has two sisters, Mrs. Alfred Store of Glenwood, Minn. and Mrs. Russell Driskell of Lewiston, Calif.

The wedding will take place on June 25 at the First Presbyterian Church of San Anselmo with the Rev. Robert Clapham officiating. A reception at the church will follow the nuptials at which Susan Clow of Lodi will be maid of honor. Bridesmaids will be Christine Godfredsen of San Rafael and Nancy Lowe, a student at Lewis and Clark College in Portland, Ore. David Carbine of San Rafael will be best man and guests will be escorted to their pews by Bob's nephew, Fred Store of Glenwood, Minn. and Ray Dwelly Jr. of Novato.

MARIN'S SOCIAL WHIRL

Easter Breakfast Pleasant Tradition

By FLORENCE DONNELLY

It was 25 years ago when Dr. and Mrs. Edmund Mahon began the gracious custom of Easter breakfasts. That was when they lived in San Francisco and their daughter, Judy, was a year old. For the past eight years their home has been in Mill Valley and there they will entertain at the traditional event a week from tomorrow with Judy as an assistant hostess. The Mahons issued invitations to more than a hundred friends in poetic fashion. beginning "In Spring, a young man's fancy, In Spring, the Mahons get 'antsy' " and concluding with the wishful thought, "Oh, No it just couldn't, it wouldn't rain on Easter Day," If the weather is pleasant guests will enjoy their ham and eggs and hot cakes, in the garden near the swimming pool.

SEEKING warmer weather, Mrs. Norman B. Livermore flew south yesterday. In Santa Barbara she was joined by her sister, Mrs. Clifford Mallory, and they went on to Phoenix, Ariz., where they'll stay at Casa Blanca Inn for three weeks.

EASTER IN MEXICO will be enjoyed by Mr. and Mrs. John Lesoine and their son, Bob, cadet at San Rafael Military Academy who is now on vacation. They flew to Mexico yesterday and will divide their time between Mexico City and Acapulco and places of interest nearby.

Florence Lesoine has a busy month ahead as she is president of the Mothers Club of the academy which has its benefit on April 27 and she is Marin ticket chairman for the Black and White Ball on April 22. Before the Ball she and John are entertaining at a cocktail party and buffet dinner.

EUROPE IS THE destination of a number of Marin county couples, among these the Paul Marrins and Dr. and Mrs. Thurlow Jaegeling. The Marrins are flying the polar route, leaving on April 19, going to England, Ireland and all the countries on the continent except Russia. They will be home by mid-July. The exact date cannot be determined now as they may return by ship.

The end of July, the Jaegelings will be leaving for Europe. They'll be away about a month. Their principal objective is the Passion Play at Oberammergau.

FOR THE ORIENT Mrs. Stuart Rogers of Tiburon will leave on Friday by jet. She'll fly to Honolulu, Japan, Formosa, Hong Kong, Macao, the Philippines, Thailand, Cambodia and then back to Honolulu where Mr. Rogers will join her for an indefinite stay.

FAREWELLS are not in order for the Paul Nedermans who moved from Greenbrae to Hillsborough yesterday. They promise their many friends here they "shall return," just when, of course, they are not certain. In September Paul and Edie are leaving for Europe where he will attend to business matters for Regan Industries (he's chairman of the board). They'll be away several months but until then they will be in the home they have rented at 625 Darrell Road in Hillsborough and they hope their Marin friends will drop in to see them when on the Peninsula.

IN PALM SPRINGS for three or four weeks are Mr. and Mrs. William Schulz of San Rafael. Bill has just retired as supervising examiner in the Northern Division of Savings and Loan of the State of California. He had been with the department for 29 years and nine months. In his honor the office staff gave him a dinner at the Domino Club Among the dignitaries present was Frank J. Mackin, savings and loan commissioner. The Green Room of the Fairmont Hotel was the setting for a surprise dinner given for Bill by representatives of Savings and Loans Industries. In addition to a handsome plaque, he and Marie were given a 21" color television set.

A BON VOYAGE party was the luncheon at which Mrs. LeRoy Page of Ross was the hostess yesterday at the Meadow Club. Guests of honor were Mrs. John Olson of San Rafael, mother of Mrs. Rudy D. Lang, and Mrs. George Stocksleth of San Francisco. The two are sailing aboard the "Lurline" on May 1 for three weeks' vacation in the Hawaiian Islands.

AT THE BEACH house of Dr. and Mrs. Lorne Tanner of Paradise Cove a bridge luncheon was given yesterday by Mrs. Tanner and Mrs. Carl Hoppe. Guest of honor was Mrs. Edwin Hoppe who with her husband had come from Wauwatosa, Wis., to visit their son, Carl Hoppe of Belvedere and his wife, over Easter.

REMEMBER when will undoubtedly be an oft repeated phrase tomorrow when James L. Heynemann hosts a party for former classmates at the Pacific Heights Grammar School in San Francisco. Jim's father had a home on Washington street then, (the property was later sold to Adolph Sprecklels) the children of the Western Addition went either to the Pacific Heights School or the Grant School on Pacific Avenue. That was more than 50 years ago. Among those attending the party from Marin will be Lester Ferguson, Mrs. Elsa Cellarius Woolams, who became notable in the musical world and Mrs. Edna Halloran. Over from San Francisco will come a large group including Engracia Critcher Freyer, now a widow, who, Jim says, was the most beautiful debutante he had ever seen.

On Monday Mrs. Heynemann and son, Jim, who will be graduated this year from Lick-Wilmerding are leaving for the east to visit some of the Ivy League colleges and medical colleges so that Jim, whose ambition is to be a plastic surgeon, can decide where he would like to continue his education. Mr. Heynemann with daughter, Ruth, and several of her young friends, will go to the snow country to do some skiing during Easter week

COMPARING notes at a jam session today at Sam's in Tiburon are about 20 young women, who have been modeling in the top flight fashion shows in the Bay Area over a period of years. One of the models, Mrs. H. R. Davis (Alice O'Hara) of Sausalito thought it would be fun to get the gals together. She is back here after an absence of 10 years during which she lived in various parts of the United States and in Europe with her Army colonel husband. With two other models, Carolyn Lindstrom (Mrs. Edward) and Lorraine Murphy (Mrs. John) also of Marin she compiled the list of names inviting the girls to a luncheon in the Blue Room at Sam's. Also invited were Jeanne Romey, Dorothy Charles, Fay Bonbright of Marin. Nearly 20 models responded to the "call" and it looks like the affair will become an annual event.

Announcement was made Saturday at a family birthday party in the Greenbrae home of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Cummings of the engagement of their daughter, Nancy, a junior at Stanford University, to John Lawrence, son of the William B. Lawrences' of Amarillo, Texas. John is graduating in June from Stanford, and will be studying for his doctorate in philosophy at Princeton University in the fall. He has two brothers, David Lawrence of Boston, Mass. and Ben Lawrence of Amarillo.

Nancy is a graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School where she was its first representative abroad in the American Field Service program. She has a younger sister, Mary, a freshman at Stanford, and is the niece of the Douglas Cummings of Mill Valley and of Kenneth Adams of Berkeley.

No definite plans for the wedding have been made.

Marin Women

Miss Ronning Feted At Lunch-Shower

A sparkling spring day set the mood for the party given recently at the home of Mrs. Henry Picard in Kent Woodlands, honoring Joanne Ronning of Mill Valley, fiancee of Robert E. Long of Sausalito. Cohostesses at the luncheon and bridal shower were Mrs. Picard and Mrs. James G. Hamilton.

The guests assembled in the spacious living room for a champagne toast to the future bride. The focal point of the buffet luncheon was an exquisite floral arrangement in yellow tones and exotic leaves placed against an antique gold fan. Places were set at small tables which carried out yellow tones with baskets of yellow flowers and leaves as centerpieces.

Following lunch the guests chatted in the lovely gardens surrounding the pool. Later everyone returned to the living room to view a long table covered with a handsome pale yellow cloth on which Mrs. Picard and Mrs. Hamilton had placed a tank of yellow flowers and the gaily wrapped gifts for Joanne. Over it was a yellow parasol from which "floated" white doves.

Among those at the party were Mrs. Howard Ronning, mother of the bride-elect, Mrs. Edwin S. Long, mother of the future benedict; Mrs. Edward Spread, Miss Hilda Eggeling and Mrs. Glen Anderson of San Francisco; Mrs. Robert Bernheim (Linda Fromhagen) of Belvedere; Mrs. Paul Ciampi and Mrs. Charles Stoffer of San Rafael; and from Sausalito: Mesdames Walter Beatie, John Churchill, William Fromhagen, Hal B. Fletcher, John H. Pomeroy, Henry Barg, John Koenig Sr., Harry Mohler, Carl Urbutt, John Partridge, Knowles Hall, Frank B. Williams, Victor Wollman, Thomas Wiper and Miss Lillian Moses.

GRANDPAS PUT ON THE PARTY

When little Gigia Bjorn, daughter of the Robert Bjorns of Fairfax, celebrated her first birthday on Sunday at the San Rafael home of her paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Bjorn it was her two grandfathers who really put on the party. Her maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Vicent Giovannoni of Ross and it was he who baked the birthday cake. The senior Mr. Bjorn set and decorated the birthday table.

The beautiful Italian table cloth was from the home of the senior Mrs. Bjorn's mother at Briante Villa near Genoa in Italy. Also at the party were the baby's aunt, Barbara Giovannoni, the senior Mrs. Bjorn's sister, Mrs. Ray Buckman, who came from Santa Rosa for the celebration, and Mrs. William Reeder and son, Ronny, and Mrs. Charles Zericle and daughter Debby.

The regular gathering of the Couples Club of the San Rafael Presbyterian Church, will be held on Monday, April 11 at 6:30 p.m. in the Geneva room of the church. A pot-luck dinner will be served at 7:00. The meeting will feature "The Easter Bonnet." The club is open to all ages of the Christian faith. Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Robert Nelson. The last gathering was a success, with more than 50 couples attending. The speaker was Reverend W. C. Baker, with his pictures of Russia, which he had photographed.

At the meeting officers for the coming year were introduced. These are: Mr. and Mrs. Ken McKenzie, president and vice president; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bruster, secretary-treasurer; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Nelson, reservation chairmen; Mr. and Mrs. John Semorile, program chairmen; Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Rattenbury, host-hostess chairmen; Mr. and Mrs. Philip Parkinson, publicity chairmen.

Tea Party Cancelled

The Northgate Group's Silver Tea, previously announced for April 21 as the inaugural event in the newly redecorated Caroline S. Livermore room at the Marin Art and Garden Center, has been indefinitely postponed it was announced today by Mrs. Edward J. Ruff, president.

Secretaries Seminar Slated On April 30

The highlight of Secretaries Week (April 24-30) in San Francisco will be the fifth annual seminar for secretaries to be held at the Downtown Center, San Francisco State College, 540 Powell Street, Saturday, April 30.

The slogan for the all-day session, which starts at 8:30 a.m., and will run into late afternoon is "Your Job—An Opportunity For Service," according to Patricia O'Dea, president of the Golden Gate Chapter, National Secretaries Association, which is sponsoring the seminar.

"Typing ability and shorthand are not enough in today's business world," Miss O'Dea said. "The successful secretary must be alert to the changing requirements in secretarial training and to the need for constantly up-dating her knowledge of office procedures."

Secretaries from throughout Northern California are invited to participate in the Seminar, according to Miss O'Dea.

Castro Wrecking Ideals Of Revolution, Ike Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower says longtime friends of Cuba feel the ideals of its revolution are being betrayed by the government of Fidel Castro.

His frank appraisal was contained Friday in a long letter to Chilean students who had criticized U.S. policies toward Cuba during Eisenhower's visit to Chile.

(In Havana, the semi-official newspaper "Revolucion" said Eisenhower's "words reveal the aggression being prepared against Cuba." The newspaper referred to Eisenhower's letter, calling it a "bad-intentioned pronouncement" made in an "imperious, overbearing tone," according to United Press International.)

The Chilean students had written to Eisenhower that they thought the U.S. had coddled Latin-American dictators and had not done enough to promote democracy and provide economic aid.

Eisenhower briefly mentioned the criticism in a speech during his Chilean visit, and promised a detailed reply. The 14-page letter, transmitted through the American ambassador in Chile, was that reply. In it, the President sought to clear up what he felt were misconceptions about U.S. policies in Latin America.

"Unfortunately," the letter said, "recent incidents in Cuba make it quite clear that it is dangerous for anyone there to voice opinions which do not conform with the government policy."

He said the United States has a standing policy of not interfering in Cuban internal affairs and that no administration official has ever made public statements unfriendly toward Cuba or its people.

"It is regretted that the same cannot be said for the leaders of the Cuban government who seem to have intentionally made derogatory and most hostile statements regarding the U.S. government and people, designed to disrupt our traditionally amicable relations."

Rejected Suitor Shoot Self In Front Of Beverly

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — A rejected suitor of the late Errol Flynn's playmate Beverly Aadland shot and critically wounded himself after first raping her and forcing her to play Russian roulette while holding her captive, police said.

Detective Sgt. O. K. Walker said that the 17-year-old blonde told investigators during questioning that the 20-year-old bit part actor shot himself after he attacked her.

Police said the victim, William Stanciu, forced his way into Beverly's apartment early today. He first called her and said he had shot a mutual friend and needed money to get out of town. Police had no record of a shooting.

When she wrote a check Stanciu tore it up, Beverly told Walker. Then he raped her, she said, and forced her to play Russian roulette with him. She said he pulled the trigger of a .38 caliber revolver at her head once.

an Alaskan radio repair ship. Then he was assigned to a destroyer commanded by a young officer, Cmdr. "Bull" Halsey who was to become famous in World War II.

In 1922 he was sent to Manila to join another destroyer, the U.S.S. Borie, which was one of the first ships to reach Yokohama in the 1923 earthquake.

He met his future wife on a trip home from Shanghai on board the President Cleveland. They were married in 1925 in Mill Valley Episcopal Church.

In 1930, Pohli became recruiting officer for Northern California and Nevada, but suffered a stroke the following year and was hospitalized for nine months. He went back to duty as a morale officer of the 12th Naval District.

Pohli was a member of Colusa Lodge 356 of the Free and Accepted Masons, Mill Valley Rotary Club and San Rafael Lodge of the B.P.O.E. He also was active in chamber of commerce, Marvelous Marin, and other organizations.

He was particularly proud of helping to block the establishment of an ammunition base at Paradise Cove. He also sparked establishment of the Southern Marin Sanitary District, which was formed by the voters, but rejected again when they refused to pass a bond issue for construction of facilities.

Last Spring Pohli and his wife took a cruise to the Orient where they visited their younger son and his family in Japan.

Pohli loved the out-of-doors, hiking and fishing. He was an active member of Ducks Unlmited.

Strike Over

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The actor's strike is over and the back-to-work call is out to stars and about 6,000 members of the production crews. After several suspenseful periods when agreement had seemed near, Hollywood's first strike by actors ended Friday in its 33rd day.

Two Die As Fire Guts Apartment

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Two merchant seamen were killed last night when fire swept through a three-story mission district flat.

Twenty other residents of the building and a structure next door fled in night clothes.

The victims were Frank O. Waters, 48, and William Olney, 46. Walters was found unconscious near the door of the apartment and died a short while later.

THURSDAY IS DEADLINE ON VOTER SIGNUP

Marin County voters who are not yet registered have until 9 p.m. next Thursday to sign up for the June primary election.

County Clerk George S. Jones will keep his office in the county courthouse open until 9 o'clock each night next week through April 14 for the convenience of those who want to sign up.

Various city halls, firehouses, and some stores are also open for registration in the outlying areas of the county.

AFRICA

Richter was first reported wounded, but this later was denied.

Pratt, wearing a badge identifying himself as a member of a farm committee, pushed through a security cordon around Verwoerd, saying he had urgent information for the premier.

He was let through without question. Standing before Verwoerd, he suddenly whipped out his pistol.

"Verwoerd," he called. The premier turned toward the voice.

"God help me!" the man shouted as he leveled the pistol and fired.

Johannesburg Mayor Alec Gorschel said he and two other men on the platform leaped on the attacker, but the assailant squeezed off another shot.

Stunned by the sound of shots, others nearby stood transfixed for a moment and then surged angrily around the man.

As the attacker was being taken away, Gorschel reached down and picked up the pistol he had dropped. There were four shells still in it.

Cabinet ministers rushed to the bedside of the premier in the hospital where anxious physicians pondered ways of removing the two slugs.

"There is no brain injury," a hospital spokesman said.

"The prime minister has spoken to his doctors and understands every word being spoken to him. He has not lost consciousness for a moment."

It was the first outbreak of physical violence reported during the day in this tense country where rioting and street demonstrations have been virtually daily occurrences since March 21, when Negroes demonstrated and police at Sharpeville killed at least 72 of them.

Verwoerd, under fire by the United Nations for his segregation policies as well as by individual nations, had insisted that his way was right for South Africa, where the whites are a minority.

San Rafael Choir Slates Cantata

The cantata, The Seven Last Words of Christ by Theodore DuBois, will be presented by the chancel choir of the San Rafael Methodist Church at 5 p.m. tomorrow. Soloists will be Barbara Curtis, soprano; Jack Schneider, tenor, and Bert Bowes, bass.

Alan Villesvik is the organist and Sterling Rainey will conduct the program, to which the public is invited.

Professor's Son Takes Own Life

RICHMOND (UPI)—Steven W. Baughan, 21, son of a University of California department chairman, wrote a note saying "My life is without direction. I'm incurable" yesterday, then shot and killed himself, police said.

His father, Prof. H. Leland Baughan, chairman of the UC department of landscape architecture, found the body in the bathroom of the family home.

Services Held For Retired Marin Postmaster

Private funeral services were held yesterday for Mrs. Alice DeCamp Algar, Stinson Beach postmaster for 25 years. She died Thursday in a local hospital after a short illness.

A native of Ohio, she came to Marin County from Southern California. Her father, the late Lyman Beecher DeCamp was the first postmaster of Stinson Beach. She succeeded him in that position.

She has lived in Marin County for 40 years and was a member of the Progressive Club of Stinson Beach and a past president of the Business and Professional Women's Club of Marin County. She retired as postmaster in 1945 and moved to 116 Mission street, San Rafael, where she lived until her death.

She is survived by three sisters, Mrs. Louise Scofield of Napa, Mrs. Emma Lidell of Fresno and Mrs. Dorothy Cunningham of Stinson Beach.

The family requests that memorial contributions be tributes to the Marin County Heart Fund.

CARD OF THANKS

WORDS CANNOT ADEQUATELY EXPRESS our gratitude to those who expressed their sympathy and helpfulness to us so beautifully at the time of our recent sorrow. We especially wish to thank Keaton's Mortuary and the San Rafael Police department. Many, many thanks to all.

OBITUARIES

Former Quentin Officer Succumbs At China Camp

A 43-year-old San Rafael man collapsed and died of a heart attack early today as he was helping a friend launch a boat at China Camp, San Pedro Point, Coroner Frank J. Keaton reported.

The victim was Michael Sotak of 1348 Grand avenue, an employee of McNear's Brick Yard and a former guard at San Quentin Prison.

Sotak and James Bass of San Pedro road were attempting to launch a boat when Sotak keeled over, sheriff's deputies reported. Bass gave him artificial respiration and the San Rafael Fire Department sent a resuscitator, but he died immediately after the attack.

Sotak lived alone. According to friends, he had worked at San Quentin from 1948-51 and later was employed on the ferryboats.

Friends said his mother lives in Nesquehoning, Pa., and a sister, Mrs. John J. Ferko, lives in Phoenix, Pa. He had reportedly been planning a visit to them at the end of the month.

Emma Finnerty Dies In Hospital

Mrs. Emma I. Finnerty, 65, a registered private duty nurse for local hospitals for the past 10 years, died yesterday in a local hospital after a year's illness.

She was the wife of the late Dr. E. J. Finnerty, and moved to San Rafael from Sonoma after his death in 1950. From San Rafael she moved to 320 Via Hidalgo, Kentfield where she lived for eight years.

She is a native of Canada and is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Doris Wilhelm and Mrs. Margaret Zimmerman of Kentfield; a son Robert Finnerty of San Lorenzo, Alameda County; a sister, Mrs. Frank Young of Oakland and 10 grandchildren.

The funeral cortege will form at 9:10 a.m. Monday at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael, and then to St. Sebastian's Church, Greenbrae, where Requiem High Mass will be celebrated at 9:30 a.m. Rosary will be recited at Keaton's Chapel, 8 p.m., tomorrow. Burial will be at the Sonoma Catholic Cemtery.

The family requests that memorial contributions be tributes to the Hanna Boys Center, Sonoma and the American Cancer Society.

Funeral Held For Evelyn Maloney

Funeral services were held today for Mrs. Evelyn Maloney at the Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo. Mrs. Maloney, a resident of San Anselmo for 40 years, died yesterday in a local rest home after a long illness.

A native of San Francisco, she was the widow of George B. Maloney, a mechanical engineer.

Mrs. Maloney is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Muriel V. Riordan, with whom she lived at 24 Oak avenue, San Anselmo, after Mr. Maloney's death in 1948; a son, George S. Maloney of Sacramento and two grandchildren.

Burial was in Cypress Lawn Memorial Park, Colma.

We'd Like Miller's Opinions In Spirit He Asked Ours

(NOTE: Rep. Clement Miller this week circularized the residents of the seven counties of the First Congressional District with a one-sided questionaire. His biased questions, which could have been of real service to himself and the district had they been fair, has brought an outburst of resentment from the taxpayers who have to pay the postage for their distribution. Perhaps he should himself answer a questionaire like this:)

Occupant
135 House Office Building
Washington 25, D.C.

Dear Friend:

As our congressman, we would like to know your opinion on some of the issues confronting Congress this session in the same spirit as your recent questionaire to us. You will note too that this questionaire is not printed at public expense and that it is sent through the mails with postage paid.

.....1. Many people hold that federal taxation has become a crushing burden to the taxpayer. Do you favor Marin taxpayers increasing their withholding tax to pay for new schools and for teachers' salaries in states which refuse to fully tax themselves and with no regard as to whether the schools are integrated or not?

.....2. Would you favor legislation to increase availability of housing by assisting mass subdividers, jerry builders, and 10 per centers to increased activity?

.....3. Do you favor a health and hospital insurance program for elderly people which will reduce the quality of care given the oldsters?

.....4. Do you favor special legislation to guarantee farmers large profits and marketing agreements to maintain high prices of their products in the grocery store?

.....5. In terms taxpayers' dollars, the federal government and the state government are reaching new record highs in expenditure. Do you believe a still greater share of the American public's take-home pay should be devoted to public as distinct from their private purposes?

.....6. Do you favor the Democrats' use of filibusters to block civil rights legislation?

.....7. Last year 16 billion federal dollars were allocated for health, welfare and education services. Should a still larger sum be added to the tax bill for these services?

.....8. Do you feel the federal government should issue its own hunting, fishing and boat operators' licenses so as to be able to better control these outdoor recreation activities?

We are sorry we don't have as much space for questions as you did, but if you would care to comment on what you believe should be done about the problems mentioned above we'd be happy to file it.

THREE MINUTES A DAY

By JAMES KELLER

HONESTY BEGINS WITH YOU

"Attention, safecrackers! Only papers are kept in this safe. We keep our money in the bank. Thank you."

One morning, when she arrived at work, she was startled to find the safe open and $1,000 missing.

She also found that the burglars had used her own typewriter to add this short postscript to her note: "Can't read!"

Whether you are dealing with honest people or the very opposite make sure that you are honest yourself.

Do more than bemoan any dishonesty in public or private life. Become an apostle of truth.

No matter with whom you deal, remember to be scrupulously honest in all you think, say and do. You will fit yourself to be a more effective instrument in restoring divine integrity to the marketplace.

(Ephesians 4:25)

Deepen in me, O Lord, such a reverence for honesty that I may be a courageous champion of truth.

MARIN LOOKS AT POLITICS

Did Labor Split Result In Second Demo Candidate For Senate?

By CHAPIN A. DAY

Is the battle for Democratic nomination for state senator finally bringing into the open a split in Marin County labor ranks?

That's the story making the rounds following the filing by Max Miller, a San Rafael painting contractor, of his candidacy for Sen. John F. McCarthy's seat.

At first the story was that Miller was put in the race by McCarthy because of the similarity to Rep. Clement Miller's name. But that story is dying down in the face of a new one.

As this story goes, Max Miller has the backing of George R. Scott, business representative of the Painter's union and an old-time Marin labor leader.

Miller's opponent on the Democratic ticket is Charles Geller, electrician and long time secretary of the Building Trades Council, who had indicated his candidacy months ago and who has had apparent backing of both labor and his party.

Another Scott candidate, so we hear, is Walter Blair, aspirant for Mrs. Vera Schultz's seat on the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

Now labor may have no great love for Mrs. Schultz, even though she is a strong Democrat, but Blair's labor stand would hardly cause the unions to cheer.

Altogether there are some interesting stories going around.

IN SACRAMENTO last week, Senator McCarthy was sitting in a Transportation Committee meeting hearing debate on auto smog eliminators.

A Ph. D. took the stand to testify in favor of the bill to require such smog eliminators. He told of the harm smog is doing in Los Angeles. Then he turned to the Bay Area.

In San Mateo County, he reported, smog is causing millions of dollars damage in the flower industry. And across the Bay in Marin County, it is seriously harming the walnut crops. (McCarthy sat up straighter in his chair.)

Not only that, but smog is damaging Marin barley harvests and is seriously endangering its alfalfa crop.

McCarthy was practically speechless wondering why he not only had failed to learn of the great damage, but he didn't even realize Marin raised such crops.

It so happened lunch recess came just then. Instead of heading for the nearest cafe, McCarthy high tailed it over to the Agriculture Department.

When the session resumed McCarthy asked if the Ph. D. would return to the stand. The man came forward.

"Do you know that Marin County raised exactly 40 tons of walnuts last year? That there are only 10 acres of barley in the whole county? And that there isn't any alfalfa grown at all?" he asked the man. There was silence. "I just thought you'd like to know," McCarthy added.

Without saying a word, the Ph. D. got out of his chair and returned to the audience.

HAVING READ how Sen. John Kennedy is going to be favored by at least half of the California Democratic delegation after casting their ballot for favorite-son candidate Gov. Edmund G. Brown, we decided to ask the Marin delegates how they felt.

If you can believe what they say, not one of them has an idea in the world how he or she will vote when and if Brown releases them. Not only that, but they too wondered how the 50 per cent for Kennedy figure was arrived at. They said they hadn't been contacted.

Only one gave us a clue. She said she'd like to vote for Chester Bowles, but didn't think she'd get the chance. He may not be before them.

Matters Of City Must Be Public

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

I must take issue with James Lienkamper's statements in his letter to the editor of April 1.

The question that was posed to the various candidates, and I quote from the Independent-Journal of 3-29-60, was "If elected to the council will you support and work for an open minded rehearing of the case of John Raggio, with the objective of either rehiring him or finally disposing of the case?"

This question was asked by a citizen interested in bringing into the open an issue that appears most important to the city and citizens of Larkspur.

Mr. Lienkamper, among a welter of rhetoric, has lost sight of the basic issues that concern Larkspur.

Shall Larkspur have a rubber-stamp council or shall the councilmen take time to determine the facts and act as a group of intelligent, reasoning men? To ignore a problem and expect it to evaporate is a symbol of cowardice. To use the old cliche of "Opening and deepening old wounds" is the subterfuge of an uninformed person.

If Mr. Lienkamper is in possession of information that would affect John Raggio's capacity as fire chief, he should, as a public spirited citizen, make known that information. If he does not have such information he should not make insinuations and sly allegations for the purpose of making himself more attractive to the voting public.

The principal issue facing the people of Larkspur is: Do we want an open government devoted to the people or a closed, hostile group dominated by a tyro in management?

Mr. Lienkamper straddles the fence and achieves but confusion.

I do not subscribe to the philosophy: "Bury it, and if it continues to smell throw more dirt on it."

I welcome the opportunity to straightforwardly make known my feelings and position. I will not vacillate from my stated position that all matters pertaining to city government must be a matter of public record and open to the scrutiny of all.

Questions Should Not Be Loaded

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Below you will find a letter I have just mailed to Congressman Miller.

HON. CLEM MILLER
Washington, D.C.

When I received your questionnaire in the mail last night (April 4), my immediate reaction was to take pen in hand and answer your questions. I welcomed an opportunity to express my views to the congressmen from my district.

Unfortuniately, my elation and enthusiasm didn't last long. When I had read the very first question, I realized that I (and, presumably, all voters in the First District of California) were faced with the frustrating task of answering questions of the "Have you stopped beating your wife?" variety.

No thanks, Mr. Congressman. If you want to ask unloaded and straight forward questions, I will be happy to reply.

One query which I had hoped to find on your list was "Do you approve of my voting affirmatively on every appropriation bill to come before Congress." It wasn't there, but let me take the liberty of answering it anyway. My answer is NO. Our local governments are still capable of determining some of our needs, so let them share your great burden.

Incidentally, I do not recall receiving the questionnaire last year. Were you too busy then to consider our views, or are we consulted only in election years?

WISCONSIN VOTING

Religious Issue Cut Two Ways In Primary

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The political issue of a man's religion cut two ways in this week's presidential preference primary.

That issue induced substantial bloc voting by Roman Catholics in favor of their fellow religionist, Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.).

Kennedy won the pockets and larger areas in Wisconsin where Catholics are predominant among the voters. Some, perhaps most, of these Catholic pockets and areas also have been rated as predominantly Republican in this historically Republican state.

THERE WAS A CUT from from the reverse edge of the religious issue. The movement of Wisconsin Republican Catholics into the Democratic primary reduced the aggregate vote of Vice Pres. Richard M. Nixon, who was unopposed in the Republican primary. Nixon was low man on the popular vote totem pole in Wisconsin.

This fact may not—probably will not—hurt Nixon much but, as the old saying goes, it certainly did not do him any good. He ran second to Kennedy in four congressional districts and third to Kennedy and Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) in the remaining seven. This in a Republican state of Wisconsin's antecedents is not glamorous.

IT IS NOT so bad, however, as to lend much if any encouragement to those relatively few Republicans who cling to the idea that they may yet nominate for president Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York.

Nixon polled 342,851 of 1,186,316 votes cast here Tuesday. He will have to do much better than that, relatively, in the Indiana primary where he and Kennedy are entered unopposed.

For Kennery, a solid test is coming up in the May 10 West Virginia primary. He will be opposed again by Humphrey. There is no substantial Catholic vote in West Virginia.

If Kennedy merely matches or falls behind Humphrey in West Virginia, the political pros will have another reason to balk his nomination:

The fear that Kennedy's religion would be a serious handicap, that Protestants might decide to do some bloc voting in November.

Is Weissich's Career As D.A. Due To Be Ended Next August?

Latest report is that Dist. Atty. William Weissich may quit his prosecutor's job by August this year to go into private practice with his former boss Al Bagshaw.

But as usual, Weissich is keeping mum about his future plans other than to say he doesn't expect to make a lifetime career out of the district attorney's job.

After all these years of chasing and prosecuting law violators, can you imagine Weissich in court trying to "spring" a suspected criminal? That's what he'll probably be doing if and when he enters private practice.

IF YOU WANT to see a pretty sight, be at the Loch Lomond harbor tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. The Coast Guard is planning a full-scale inspection of the Marin Sheriff's Marine Patrol, as uniformed members of the patrol stand at attention along with some 20 boats of their snappy fleet.

The boats range from a 14-footers to a 42-foot cruiser, some capable of hitting 38 miles per hour.

GRANDMOTHERS PROBABLY don't know it yet, but a lot of them are due to be ill next Tuesday.

That's when the San Francisco Giants open their regular season in San Francisco.

THE AUTOMATIC CLOCK and temperature gauge moved from Fourth Street to Fifth Avenue, along with the Marin County Savings and Loan Co. Police are hailing the move as an aid to traffic law enforcement.

Fifth Avenue has no-left-turns between 7 to 9 a.m. and 4 to 6 p.m. With the clock staring them in the face, there will be no excuse now for motorists to make left turns between those hours, a patrolman pointed out.

PUBLIC WORKS boss of San Rafael, Norris Rawles, has finally made the big time in professional writing. He just got a $30 check for the article he wrote on San Rafael's new street lights in the last issue of Western City magazine.

His next goal: the Pulitzer prize.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE Manager Dick Shirley has a ready answer for people who want to know: "Did you turn on the hot weather?"

Says Shirley: "We have nothing to do with management of weather. We just do the selling."

THERE'S RUMOR that the big Ralph Roy ranch and a couple of others in San Geronimo are being sold in a million dollar deal.

There's no word yet on what kind of development is being cooked up in that area.

WE WONDERED why tickets are selling so fast for "The Drunkard" to be presented April 22 and 23 at the Hamilton NCO Club. This must be the answer:

They've got a blonde, two brunettes, and a redhead in a flashy can-can number that has everyone howling during rehearsal. The chorus line includes Jetaun Fisher, Norma Martus, Eleanor Guastad, and Evelyn Friend, all of Lucas Valley.

One of them has had professional modeling experience. But the way they're rehearsing, they all look like pros already.

South African Whites Want Both Rigid Segregation, Cheap Labor

WASHINGTON (AP) — The whites of South Africa want it both ways.

1. They suppress the nonwhites, who outnumber them at least three to one, by rigid segregation and other indignities.

2. But they depend so much on the cheap, non-white labor that they beat, shoot, whip or jail those who stay away from work or encourage others to do so.

Thus the pot under which the Afrikaners started a fire is boiling. The Afrikaners are the white descendants of the early Dutch settlers. The fire began in 1948.

IN THAT YEAR the Afrikaners' Nationalist party came to power and has remained in control of the government since.

Immediately and thereafter it invoked harsh restrictions on the Negroes — about 10 million — and those of mixed blood — perhaps two million. There are three million whites.

The basic measure is apartheid, or segregation.

A Negro cannot remain in a town more than 72 hours unless he was born there or has 15 years continuous residence or 10 years of unbroken employment there.

Negro servants never live in their employers' homes. White doors are locked and burglar alarms turned on each night.

The plants and gold mines use Negro labor at wages far below what white workers would accept. Negroes can't hold skilled jobs. It is illegal for them to strike.

MORE RECENTLY the Nationalist government of Prime Minister Hendrik F. Verwoerd required Negroes to carry passes which they would have to produce on demand if they wished to move around.

Eventually two Negro organizations began to stir in protest — the Pan Africanist Congress and the African National Congress.

Last month the former called on Negroes to demonstrate against the pass system by going without passes and letting themselves be arrested and thus, by being in jail, damage the whites' economy.

The first sensational result of the Negroes' action against passes came last week when between 70 and 80 of them were shot, and perhaps 200 wounded, by police while demonstrating outside a jail at Sharpeville where many Negroes were locked up for not having passes.

That word — Sharpeville — will probably become famous or infamous in African history.

Then the two Negro organizations, as a protest against the massacre, urged Negroes to stay away from their jobs. The South African economy, already hurt by the antipass demonstrations, was now truly crippled.

THE WHITE Nationalist government, armed with all the power it needed through special laws for handling emergencies, hit back by jailing several hundred Negro leaders and, reportedly, whites who were sympathetic to them.

While many Negroes finally returned to their jobs, many didn't. Police moved in with guns, clubs and whips to smash those who still stayed home and away from work or encouraged others to stay.

In this moment of crisis the South African white opposition party in the government joined up with Verwoerd's white Afrikaners by voting with them for swift Senate action to outlaw the two Negro organizations.

THE UNITED Nations Security Council passed a resolution last Friday calling on the South African fovernment to abandon its segregation policy. The United States was among the nations which voted for it.

But segregation of Negroes in this country is a sensitive problem when this government deals with other countries, particularly non-white ones.

South Africa's foreign minister promptly reacted to the Security Council vote by calling it hyprocrisy. He said:

Church Slates Services At Noon For Holy Week

St. Paul's Episcopal Church of San Rafael will hold special noon services of Holy Communion Monday through Thursday of next week. Each service, beginning at 12:10 and ending at 12:40, will be followed by the serving of coffee in the parish house for those downtown who have brought their lunch.

According to the rector, Rev. John D. Riley, the public is cordially invited to attend, especially those who take their lunch hour in San Rafael.

Hostesses in the parish house will be the following members of the Episcopal Churchwomen of St. Paul's: Mesdames Alfred C. Bach, W. F. Barck, C. W. Galley, Richard Henika, Laura Knight, L. L. Lovett, Paul E. Nielsen Jr., John C. Speh, Harold Stone, and Elmer Swanton.

DEADLINE FOR EASTER WEEK LISTINGS SET

The Independent-Journal will publish a list of Maundy Thursday and Good Friday services in Marin churches next Wednesday, and a list of special Easter services next Saturday.

For inclusion, notices of services must be received by the I-J before noon Tuesday for all such services.

Reception Of Members Scheduled

Palm Sunday services at Marin Lutheran Church tomorrow will include the reception of new members by adult baptism, confirmation and letters of transfer.

Rev. George O. Loftness, pastor of the church, will preach on the theme "Earth's Finest Hour." The carol choir, under direction of Miss Susan Moyer, will sing at the 11 a.m. worship service and the chancel choir, under direction of Mrs. Joyce O'Neill, will sing at the early service.

The reception of members will include Mrs. Carl Anderson of Larkspur; Mrs. Robert Bartram, Debra, Beverly and Bob Bartram of San Anselmo; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bowder of Lagunitas; Mr. and Mrs. Merrell Cagle of Corte Madera; Mrs. Elwood Johnson of Fairfax; Mr. and Mrs Lee Larson and daughter, Janine, of Corte Madera; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith and daughter, Sandra, of San Anselmo.

A coffee hour after the 11 a.m. service will be held in the social hall in honor of the new members and to give the church council and other members of the church an opportunity to greet the new members.

'1 Great Hour Of Sharing' To Be Program's Theme

One great hour of sharing will be featured at both the Sunday church school hour and morning worship tomorrow at the Presbyterian Church of Santa Venetia. There will be dedication of sacrificial offerings saved during Lent for the needy of the world.

At 11 o'clock Rev. Aaron Garnet Miller will speak on "The Real Christ" and there will be baptism of infants and reception of new members.

Holy Innocents' Services Listed

Holy Innocents' Episcopal Church in Corte Madera has set this schedule of services for tomorrow: morning prayer at 7:30 a.m.; blessing of the palms and Holy Communion at 8 a.m.; Palm Sunday procession and family worship at 9:45 a.m.; solemn Palm Sunday procession and Holy Communion at 11 a.m.; baptisms at 12:30 p.m.

On Tuesday, Holy Communion will be held at 6:30 a.m.

On Wednesday, prayer chapter is scheduled for 10:15 a.m., with Holy Communion at 11:15 a.m. and ministry of healing at noon.

LUTHERAN GROUP

Holy Week Radio Programs Slated

Holy Week devotions by local Lutheran ministers will be broadcast over radio station KTIM each evening from 6 to 6:15 o'clock beginning tomorrow. The programs are being sponsored by the Lutheran Men of Marin.

The organization's president, Carl Yeager, said, "We intend these devotions to be our contribution to the observance of Holy Week in our community."

The initial devotion will be led by Rev. Ole Winter of Good Shepherd Lutheran Church, Novato. Producer of the series is Rev. Fred C. Braunschweiger of Trinity Lutheran Church, San Rafael.

A special Good Friday broadcast entitled "Journey to Calvary" will also be heard over KTIM from 12:30 to 1 p.m. on April 15. The broadcast is a unique dramatization of the happening on the first Good Friday.

Peace Church Schedules Confirmation

Fifteen youngsters are to be confirmed from Peace Lutheran Church in Mill Valley tomorrow in connection with the traditional Palm Sunday ceremonies of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod, according to publicity director Ronald Melen.

Fourteen of the youngsters will renew their baptismal vows and receive full membership in the church at Peace Church at the 11 a.m. service with Rev. Harold G. Johnson officiating.

They are:

Gary Artoux, Larry Bathgate, Lynette Busch, Paul Campomenosi, James Dehnert, Loretta Guth, Dennis Hegg, Linda Kruse, Loryne Samuelson, Cathy Smith, Deborah Tauer, Cheryl Berreman, Ronald Ringen and Wayne Tauer. They will receive their first communion on Good Friday.

John Troup, a member of the Peace Sunday School, will be confirmed at Zion Lutheran Church in San Francisco, where he attends school.

Publicity Unit Of Churches Holds Meeting

The Northern California Chapter of the National Religious Publicity Council installed officers at their annual banquet held recently at the San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo. Twenty members and guests were present.

Rev. Harry R. Koontz, retiring president, installed new officers, including Canon Richard Byfield of Mill Valley, public relations department, Episcopal Diocese of California and assistant to Bishop Pike, Grace Cathedral in San Francisco, as vice president; Mrs. Leslie Luergan, San Anselmo, public relations department, Presbyterian Seminary, San Anselmo, as secretary; W. H. Taylor, Mill Valley, public relations and information, San Francisco, to serve another term as treasurer.

Speaker was John Little, provost, Presbyterian Seminary, San Anselmo, who spoke on: "A Layman Looks at the Ministry."

St. Raphael's Sets Special Services

St. Raphael's Catholic Church will hold the blessing of the palms service at 6:45 a.m. tomorrow in the mission chapel, followed by a procession to the main church for a high mass, starting at 7.

The palms will be distributed at all masses and at a holy hour at 4 p.m.

Next Wednesday, masses will be held at 6:30, 7:30 and 8:15 a.m., with confessions from 3:30 to 6 p.m. and at 7:30 p.m. Rosary, instruction and benediction will be held at 7:45 p.m.

Walter Mails To Talk To Church Group

Walter Mails, one of the all-time greats of baseball and now publicity director for the San Francisco Giants, will be guest speaker at the Annual Lenten Communion Breakfast to be held by the Holy Name Society of St. Anselm's parish, San Anselmo, tomorrow.

The men and high school boys of the society will receive Holy Communion in a body at the 8 o'clock mass. The breakfast will follow at the Mission Inn, San Rafael.

The group's new officers will be officiating. They are: Joseph Murray, president; Matt Carroll, vice president; Lawrence Fallon, secretary, and Frank Sousa, treasurer.

Church Slates Mission Rally Tomorrow

Rev. Calvin Hibbard and wife, members of the Calvary Baptist Church, Larkspur, will be at the church for all day missionary rally tomorrow.

They have been working as missionaries in Peru with the Wycliffe Bible Translators, and are on furlough. The Hibbards will be speaking at the various Sunday services, 9:45 and 11 a.m. and 6:30 and 7:30 p.m.

There will be a fellowship dinner following the morning service.

Novato Minister Sets Sunday Sermon Topic

Rev. Lawrence H. Doyle of the Community Methodist Church, Novato, will take as his sermon topic tomorrow, "Happy are those who have suffered persecution for the cause of goodness, for the kingdom of heaven is theirs."

A concert by the choir, directed by Don Stensrud, will feature the 8 p.m. vesper service.

Easter Week Chimes

Northwestern Savings and Loan Company's chimes will ring out from Monday to Friday of Holy Week between the hours of 1 p.m. to 1:45 p.m. in a program of sacred music over radio station KTIM. There will also be a short Lenten meditation each day by a different pastor of the central Marin area.

ALMANAC

Today is Saturday, April 9th, the 100th day of the year, with 266 more to follow in 1960.

The moon is approaching its full phase.

The morning stars are Mercury, Mars, Jupiter and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1865, General Robert E. Lee surrendered the Army of Northern Virginia to General Ulysses S. Grant at Appomattox, Va.

In 1928, New Yorkers were shocked by the debut of a raucous actress named Mae West in a risque new play entitled "Diamond Lil."

In 1942, American and Filipino forces on Bataan in the Philippine Islands were overwhelmed by the Japanese Army.

A thought for today: British Prime Minister Winston Churchill said: "In war, resolution; in defeat, defiance; in victory, magnanimity; in peace, good will."

Scribes Pick Giants, Mays, Jones To Dominate League

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The San Francisco Giants, heavy favorites to win the National League pennant, also will have the league's most valuable player in Willie Mays and the winningest pitcher in Sam Jones, according to the nation's baseball writers.

In an annual pre-season poll, compiled by The Associated Press today, 169 members of the Baseball Writers Assn. of America also selected Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees as the American League's probable MVP and Bob Shaw of the pennant-favored Chicago White Sox as the winningest pitcher.

The writers, who picked San Francisco, Milwaukee and the world champion Los Angeles Dodgers 1-2-3 in the 1960 N.L. pennant race, selected Mays over Hank Aaron of the Braves by approximately a 3-2 margin in the MVP balloting. Ernie Banks of the Chicago Cubs, who won an unprecedented second consecutive MVP award in the official N.L. writers' vote last year, was ranked third in the poll.

Mays led with 60 votes. Aaron collected 42 and Banks 11 as the writers nominated 15 players in the AP poll.

Mantle, already a two-time American League MVP winner, drew 32 votes, compared to 29 by the White Sox' Nellie Fox, last year's official winner. Rocky Colavito of the Cleveland Indians polled 23 votes.

The writers picked Jones as the big winner of the N.L. season by a decided margin over Don Drysdale of Los Angeles, Warren Spahn of Milwaukee and Sad Sam's teammate, Johnny Antonelli. Jones drew 35 votes, Drysdale 22, Spahn 21 and Antonelli 20.

Among pitchers in the American League, where the writers predicted another Chicago, Cleveland, New York finish, Shaw had a 34-20 vote edge over teammate Early Wynn.

The N.L. pennant poll showed 1—San Francisco, 2—Milwaukee, 3—Los Angeles, 4—Pittsburgh, 5—Cincinnati, 6—St. Louis, 7—Chicago, 8—Philadelphia. In the A.L. it was: 1—Chicago, 2—Cleveland, 3—New York, 4—Detroit, 5—Baltimore, 6—Kansas City, 7—Boston, 8—Washington.

Willie McCovey's three-run homer was the big blast of a five-run eighth inning that demolished the Giants' California rivals.

Don Drysdale, who will pitch the National League opener in Los Angeles Tuesday night against the Chicago Cubs, held the Giants to three scattered singles the first four innings. He walked none and struck out six, including Mays, Willie Kirkland, Jim Davenport and McCovey.

But the Giants nicked Clem Labine for one run and then hammered Johnny Klippstein for five more in a big eighth inning, and before young Ed Rakow bailed him out Don Blasingame had singled, Jim Davenport doubled, there was a walk and McCovey blasted the ball over the centerfield fence. When Orlando Cepeda doubled, Rakow was called in. Kirkland's bounder took a bad hop and Cepeda scored. Singles by Mays and Kirkland and a wild pitch gave the Giants still another run in the ninth.

The Dodgers teed off on Giant starter Johnny Antonelli in the first inning as Charlie Neal singled and rookie Frank Howard poled a homer far over Mays' head in center. The ball cleared the fence with lots to spare, carrying more than 425 feet on the fly. Tom Davis and Jim Gilliam singled in the third inning and with the aid of an infield out the Dodgers had their third run. That was all their scoring, however, for Ramon Monzant and Billy O'Dell kept them in check the rest of the way.

Hogan's Hot, Looks Ready To Take Lead In Masters

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—The rules-dizzy Masters Golf Tournament went into the third round today with a familiar and unnerving shadow hovering over the field — that of the Texas hawk, Ben Hogan.

"The little man is on the move again," they said around the Augusta National Course after the 47-year-old Hogan fired a brilliant four-under-par 68 to move into contention. Hogan has been in semi-retirement for five years.

Pre-tournament favorite Arnold Palmer still leads the pack with a 140—thanks to a series of weird legalistic procedures—but Ben was right behind with three others at 141.

One of these was Dow Finsterwald, who would have had first place all to himself except for a bizarre retroactive two-stroke penalty slapped on by the rules committee. The others were Claude Harmon, a portly club professional from Mamaroneck, N.Y., and Walter Burkemo, pug-faced former PGA champion.

CLOSE RACE

The field was so closely packed that the top 17 were bunched within 4 shots of each other and only 10 shots separated Palmer from the last-place man of the 45 survivors.

Behind Finsterwald, Hogan, Harmon and Burkemo at 142 came Ken Venturi, who finally managed to shoot the back nine of the Augusta National Course under par. Don January and Casper, Billy Maxwell, Gary Player, Julius Boros and amateur Deane Beman were grouped at 143 while at 144, even par for the two rounds, were Stan Leonard, Lionel Hebert, Jackie Burke, Doug Sanders and amateur Bud Taylor.

But it seemed that everybody had an uneasy eye cast in the direction of the great Hogan, winner of four U.S. Open championships, two Masters and the British Open and still perhaps as good as any golfer in the world from tee to green.

"My putting was much better today than yesterday," Hogan said, "but still it is not as good as it should be. I am not playing as well as I did at the Open last year at Winged Foot."

Some observers questioned this. Hogan looked like the precision machine of old as he meticulously fashioned his pars and birdies over the 6,850-yard, par 36-36—72 course.

Hogan hasn't won a major championship since 1953 when he swept the Masters, U.S. and British opens in a single year.

Palmer, however, may be hard to overtake. At 30, he is strong as an ox, imperturbable and riding the crest of money-winning success. He also is getting favorable breaks in the rules decisions.

So far in the tournament he has had free-lifts on two imbedded balls and was not penalized for a practice swing he took on the 15th yesterday. He wound up with a 73 to go with his earlier 67.

Finsterwald, a slender executive-type from Tequesta, Fla., was not so fortunate. He came in with a 70 following a first round 69, only to blow the whistle on himself in an unusual incident.

The former Athens, Ohio, player admitted that he had taken a practice putt on the fifth green of his first round Thursday, not realizing it violated local rules.

The rules say such a violation requires a two-stroke penalty. That gave Finsterwald a six on the hole instead of a four. But if Finsterwald got a six, then he signed a wrong score card. That normally calls for disqualification.

The rules committee debated and finally found a loop-hole to let Dow off the hook.

BELVEDERE TENNIS CLUB OFFICERS

Four M.V. Winners In North Bay Tournament

They were Mrs Lynn Sumpter, 93-21—72; Mrs. Clay Lilleston, 98-22—76; Mrs. Howard Kemper, 103-25—78; and Mrs. Arthur Schallock, 104-29—75.

In the "Optional Nine" tournament at Mill Valley Mrs. D. P. Norton placed first with a 39-9½—29½. Mrs. Greg Hobson was second with 43-9½—33½ and there was a tie for third between Mrs. Fred Greenland and Mrs. Hugh Richardson each with 51-16½—34½.

Go-Cart Races At Cotati Tomorrow

First of a series of Go-Cart Races will be held tomorrow at the Cotati Raceway.

Driver entries are expected from the Go-Cart Clubs from as far afield as the Monterey Peninsula, along with participants from the Petaluma-Santa Rosa area.

The full day program, beginning with technical inspection at 8 a.m., includes racing for all classes at 11:30 a.m.

TAMITES, S.R. UNBEATEN IN LEAGUE TRACK

Tamalpais and San Rafael remained the only undefeated track and field powers in the Marin County Athletic League dual meet season yesterday.

Tam, paced by double winner Russ Cook, smashed Marin Catholic, 93-18 and San Rafael defeated Novato, 68⅔ to 47⅓.

Winners and times will be published in the Independent-Journal next week.

S.R. Man Wins Ducats To Candlestick Games

Orlando Conti of San Rafael and A. Pohl of San Mateo will have free tickets to Sunday and holiday baseball games at Candlestick Park this season.

Each won a pair of Plan F season tickets to Giants games last night as winners of top prizes in the San Rafael American Little League parents rally.

Other prize winners were Paul Ware and Chuck Rada, both of San Rafael. Each received a transistor radio.

Senors Sign Five More

OAKLAND (UP)—Coach Eddie Erdelatz said yesterday that the Oakland Senors will add 40 players to their present 45 under contract before the team goes into training in July.

Among the last five players signed, he said, was Tony Teresa, former San Jose State star and last year in the Canadian League. Teresa is expected to get about $10,000.

Erdelatz appeared most pleased over the signing of Buddy Allen, 195-pound, six-foot halfback from Utah State. Allen is a product of the Oakland school system.

"This boy has speed and is an exceptional pass receiver," Erdelatz said.

Three other new Senors were Ramon Armstrong, 225-pound guard from Texas Christian obtained from the New York Titans; Allen Goldstein, 200-pound end from Youngstown (O.) University, obtained from the Buffalo Bills; and Jerry Flynn, 235-pound, six-foot-one inch defensive end from Humboldt State and "a little All-Coast star" in 1959.

Pony League Meeting Slated Monday Night

Managers, coaches and parents of players are invited to a meeting of the Southern Marin Pony League Monday night, it was announced yesterday.

The meeting is scheduled in Room 11 of Redwood High School starting at 8 o'clock.

Elliott Runs 1:49.4

The BULLPEN

With JOHN J. CONNOLLY

Jones, Antoneli Lead Staff That Could Power Giants To Pennant

CONNOLLY

The average baseball writer, in the spring, usually locks himself in a room crowded with record books, guides, batting and pitching averages. He goes over them all and while he does a lot of thinking and searching of his soul in his locked den, he never quite gets the courage to speak up and say:

"There is too much horse play and joking in baseball for a serious minded person like I.

"I am tired of playing Hughie Fullerton and I am just about ready to call it quits. But before I do I'd like to remind you that whether I'm right or wrong I think the S.F. Giants have a swell chance to win the 1960 National League pennant. I know they were helped on the bench and might need a little aid in backstopping but they can do it."

And there you have it.

LEANING heavily on pitcher Sam Jones, the Giants almost have to have Sam do a repeat performance. He completed 16 games last year; he pitched 271 innings; he struck out 209 batters and he won the championship for the earned run class, allowing only 2.82 per game.

Sam, since 1955 when he returned to the Chicago Cubs in the National League, has pitched in not less than 28 games a year. Most of the time he was in the 35 to 50 games class. He has it and knows it. If he can do it again, the job of Bill Rigney is soft as silk.

Like Jones, the real test of pitching in 1960 will fall on the shoulders of southpaw Johnny Antonelli, a 19-game winner last season.

McCormick pitched in 226 innings, completed 7 games, won 12 and lost 16 and wound up with a 3.98 earned run average.

I saw Mike blow the duke at least five times when it appeared criminal for him to lose. But his teammates simply couldn't get any runs for him.

JACK SANFORD could become the workhorse of 1960. He thrives on activity. In 1959 he pitched in 222 innings, won 15 and lost 12 and had a 3.16 earned run count.

If you remember, Sanford's injury cost him one full month of activity and ruined his team's chances for the pennant.

With Stu Miller, O'Dell, Loes, Monzant and a guy named Georges Maranda from Louisville around, there is no telling what could happen.

So if I've thrown box cars to lose the pennant pot, just remember, I'm talking with spring fever in my brain.

Tam, Marin, Redwood Win In Prep Baseball Tournament

Tamalpais Indians shaded San Rafael's Bulldogs, 3-2 last night in the semi-finals of the Marin County Athletic League Baseball Tournament in San Rafael and will battle either Marin Catholic or Redwood at 8 o'clock tonight for the championship.

Marin Catholic downed Novato 7-2 and Redwood smashed defending champion Drake in last night's other first round games and will meet at 4 o'clock today for the chance to face Tam in the finals.

Novato will tackle Drake at 6 o'clock tonight for consolation honors.

All action will take place at Albert Field.

THREE HITTER

Tam parlayed the three-hit pitching of junior southpaw Russ Adams, a couple of defensive gems by outfielders Dennis Coleman and Ed Collins and a pair of Bulldog errors into their narrow victory.

Adams helped his own cause by singling in the fifth, going to third on an error and scoring on a perfect squeeze bunt by Dan Mayer. Two errors gave the Indians a 3-0 lead in the top of the sixth, but they had to hang on to stave off a late Bulldog rally.

A triple by Mike Cicero followed by an error gave San Rafael a run in the sixth and an error followed by Rich Curry's double accounted for the Bulldogs' second run in the seventh. Curry died on second, however, as Adams fired three straight strikes past the next Bulldog batter to end the game.

DEFENSIVE GEMS

Earlier Adams was saved from damage by two great defensive plays. Coleman threw a perfect one-hop strike from left field to home plate to erase one Bulldog run and Osborne made a diving catch in deep right center to cut off another S.R. run.

Rich Brear's 12-strikeout, five-hit pitching, a triple by Mike Walsh and a two-run single by Eddie Vigno featured Redwood's victory in the game limited to five innings by a time limit. The Giants got off to a 7-0 first inning lead due to Drake pitching wildness, an error and key hits by Vigno and Bob Ostaggi.

CLARK COUNTED OUT

Wild Confusion Marks Finish Of Video Bout

OGDEN, Utah (AP)—Did Lamar Clark get knocked out or did he get robbed in his rousing brawl with young Bartolo Soni of the Dominican Republic?

Ringside fans, managers, and probably a lot of TV viewers are wondering about that after the confused ending of the televised bout here last night.

Officially, the 181½-pound Soni was credited with a knockout in 2:02 of the ninth round. The loss ended Clark's record knockout streak at 44 straight and was his first ring defeat in 46 pro bouts.

It was even harder for Clark to take because he was ahead on all the judges' cards and could have taken the decision by merely finishing. However, the bull-shouldered Soni lashed out with a flurry of hooking uppercuts which nailed Clark. When the strong boy from Cedar City, Utah, hit the canvas his head bounced.

To some fans, it seemed Clark, 182, was up before Referee Ken Shulsen finished the count. But Shulsen took Clark by the hand, waved Soni off and led Clark to a corner. Later Shulsen said he had finished the count and besides, he said Clark appeared to be out on his feet.

Clark's manager, Marv Jenson, hotly disputed this. "I won't permit Shulsen to referee another fight for one of my boys," fumed Jenson, who also handles NBA champ Gene Fullmer.

That was the ringside confusion that TV viewers saw. However, the Utah State Athletic Commission met after the bout and upheld Shulsen's version of the end. USAC rules make no provision for technical knockouts.

Clark claimed he could have continued. "I was only pooped," he said. But he praised Soni as a rugged fighter.

Jenson and Clark both demanded a rematch. But Bobby Lopez, who handles Soni, wouldn't talk of one. "We'll just wait and see what happens."

Shulsen had Clark ahead on points at the end of the eighth round, 79-74; Judge Del Markham had it 79-73; Judge Bob Yocum scored it 80-72 and The Associated Press had Clark ahead, 79-73.

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

2 Larkspur Candidates Join Forces

Two Larkspur City Council candidates, James Lienkaemper of 89 Diane lane and Lesly A. Daveler of 219 Hawthorne avenue, have joined forces to campaign for office in next Tuesday's municipal election.

Lienkaemper, a 37-year-old accountant, and Daveler, a 46-year-old administrative assistant, announced they both want to make the city manager form of government work—"not throw it out." They agree that its successful use requires greater leadership from the council, the candidates said.

A 22-member citizens committee has been formed to support the joint candidacies of the two men. Robert J. Smith and Chester Lonkey of the committee said, "The efforts of the citizens' group is to find constructive middle ground between the incumbents and the anti-incumbents."

Marin Man Adopts Vietnamese Girl

Howard A. Collins of 25 Patencio, San Rafael, has financially "adopted" Vo Thi Dong Tam, a 7-year-old Vietnamese girl through Foster Parents' Plan, Inc. The plan has promised to contribute $15 a month toward the child's support for at least a year.

The girl lives with her widowed mother, a brother and two sisters. In recent years when the father was living he earned $30.25 as a clerk which provided a simple living.

After he died the family became almost penniless. The mother earns only about $55 a year.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Desi Admits Charges

SANTA MONICA (AP) — Desi Arnaz has paved the way for a default divorce April 28 by Lucille Ball.

He filed an answer yesterday to her complaint of March 3 and admitted her charges that he caused her grevious mental suffering. His attorneys said the maneuver will facilitate the divorce that both Arnaz and the red-haired comedienne say is strictly friendly.

Sinatra Fires Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Swinging Frank Sinatra, swayed by the angry wind of protest, has fired Albert Maltz as screenwriter of the film, "The Execution of Private Slovik."

Sinatra's announcement last night that Maltz, one of Hollywood's "unfriendly ten," won't write the script, caught the movie capital by surprise.

Birth Control Stand

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon has taken a stand on birth control information policy that differs from the views of President Eisenhower.

If foreign countries ask for such information, Nixon said last night, the United States would supply it.

Last Dec. 2, Eisenhower told a news conference that if other countries "want to go to someone for help, they should go to professional groups, not governments."

Gluckman Takes Off

TOKYO (UPI) — San Francisco's "flying watchmaker," Peter Gluckmann, took off for Hong Kong today in the Bonanza monoplane he will use in an attempt to set a non-stop distance record for light planes.

The 34-year-old pilot will attempt a non-stop solo flight from Hong Kong to the U.S. mainland later this month.

Death Penalty Stands

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The state Supreme Court, splitting 4-3, has affirmed the death sentence for Robert S. Harmon of Monterey, originally sentenced to from five years to life from San Diego County for robbery.

Harmon was serving his term at Soledad State Prison when a fellow prisoner was stabbed eight times. He recovered, but Harmon was convicted of assault under a law which provided a mandatory death sentence for life termers.

Shortly after this, on Sept. 18, 1959, the law was amended to make the death penalty optional with the jury or trial judge.

Tony's Best Man

LONDON (AP) — A young doctor was named today as best man at the May 6 wedding of Princess Margaret and Antony Armstrong-Jones.

He is Roger William Gilliatt, the only son of the late Sir William Gilliatt, former gynecologist to Queen Elizabeth II.

Rate Hike Opposed

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Pacific Gas and Electric Co. has filed a protest against a proposed 21 million dollar increase in natural gas rates of the El Paso Natural Gas Co., it was announced yesterday.

The protest was filed with the Federal Power Commission, which has postponed the effective date of the boost until August pending hearings.

PG&E said the wholesale price hike would cost it an extra nine million dollars a year. This additional cost would likely be passed on to consumers, a spokesman said.

Vote Shakes Italy

ROME (AP) — Premier Fernando Tambroni's two-week-old Christian Democrat government won its first parliamentary vote of confidence, but only with Fascist backing that could prove a kiss of death.

In a midnight vote yesterday, the Chamber of Deputies endorsed Tambroni's stop-gap regime 200-293. The margin of victory was provided by 24 Fascist ballots.

Within an hour two cabinet ministers quite rather than serve in a government dependent on Fascist backing.

Cabaret Taxes Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower has signed into law a bill to reduce night club and cabaret taxes from 20 to 10 per cent, effective May 1.

The Treasury has estimated a tax loss of about 20 million dollars a year under the reduced rate.

Flood Peril Ebbs

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Flood threats ebbed on the Mississippi and Missouri rivers today, but the rising Flint River periled a tiny Georgia town.

The Mississippi and Missouri were still well above flood stage, but crests were contained by giant levees protecting river towns. Little further damage was expected except to low-lying farm lands.

More than a third of Newton, Ga., was submerged by the Flint River, which was expected to crest at 11 feet above flood stage today.

Titan Test Success

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) —The Air Force's Titan intercontinental ballistic missile scored its eighth test success yesterday—even though the performance was marred by a second-stage malfunction.

The rocket's upper section separated and ignited on schedule, but it cut off too quickly and dropped the nose cone slightly short of its scheduled target area.

However, range was not a prime objective. An informed source said "it hit about 3,000 miles away, just a little short of where it was expected to go."

Subscriptions For Summer Concerts To Be Solicited

Subscriptions to the Marin Music Chest summer concert series will be solicited tomorrow, Mrs. William Rattray, county fund drive chairman, said today.

"This is the first time we have attempted a concentrated one-day type of solicitation," Mrs. Rattray said. "The current subscription drive will run through this month, but it is hoped that most of the subscriptions will be obtained tomorrow.

"We are not asking you for anything. We are giving you an opportunity to hear the greatest artists before the public today for the lowest possible admission price."

Headquarters in the current fund drive is located at 1133 Fourth street, San Rafael, and is open Monday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Woman Injured In Hub Auto Mishap

A driver made too wide a turn from Sir Francis Drake boulevard onto Bolinas avenue in San Anselmo early yesterday and his car hit a street sign and injured one person.

Clarence D. Upton of 430 Redwood avenue, Corte Madera, told Police Sgt. John Orr that as he turned the corner his passenger, Janet Philips, 21, of 195 Melville road, San Anselmo, slipped from her seat, and when he tried to hold her he lost control of the car.

Miss Philips was driven to Marin General Hospital after she collapsed while waiting for a tow-truck. Sergeant Orr reported she collapsed six times en route.

She was treated for chest bruises but refused to remain in the hospital.

Widow Gets $71,500 In Death Suit

A Marin jury yesterday awarded $71,500 damages to a San Francisco widow, whose husband was killed in a car accident near the Greenbrae Bridge in 1958.

The jurors heard the case for four days before Judge Jordan L. Martinelli, and brought in their verdict for Mrs. Priscilla Stoudt and daughter Linda, 7. Harvey A. Stoudt, 53, owner of a firm which was developing a microwave electronic cooker, died in a dead-on crash on the morning of April 28, 1958.

The widow sued John Louis Boitano, who operates a truck sales firm in Petaluma. A witness at the time said Boitano's truck swerved in front of Stuodt's car, causing Stoudt to swing over the center line and crash with an oncoming car. Boitano was later identified from a license number taken by a witness who was driving behind Stoudt.

The judge granted a stay of execution to Boitano so that his attorney, Leroy Lounibos of Petaluma, can decide whether or not to seek a new trial.

Fire District Hires Architect

The Tiburon Fire Protection District Commission last night hired the architectural firm of White, Hermann and Steinau of San Francisco to develop plans for the Trestle Glen substation according to Kelly J. Wheeler, secretary.

The first unit will probably include a truck base and workshop at an estimated cost of $10,000 Wheeler said.

Fire Chief Frank J. Buscher Jr., was authorized to purchase a pickup truck for his use. Bills totaling $170 covering partial election costs were paid.

Film Showing Set

The San Geronimo Valley Assn. will show "An Island in Time," a film on the Pt. Reyes peninsula, at 8 p.m. Monday at Lagunitas School. The showing is open to the public.

FROG JUMPING CONTEST SET FOR TIBURON

The Tiburon Peninsula's "first annual" frog jumping contest was held today, starting at 1 p.m. on the basketball court at the Southern Marin Recreation Center during opening day ceremonies.

Chief judge for the event was Lowell Airola, who was born and reared in Calaveras County, where the famous frog jumping contests inspired by Mark Twain's immortal yarn are held each year.

Frogs were given three chances to jump and the frog's jumps were measured.

Police Arrest 7 In San Francisco Phony Check Ring

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Seven persons were arrested here last night in what police called the biggest counterfeit check operation in recent history.

Dist. Atty. Thomas C. Lynch said the group had been operating since the first of the year and that phony checks worth thousands of dollars had been cashed throughout the state.

The suspects had set up a printing shop in what appeared to be an empty store in the city's Richmond district, Lynch said.

The shop assertedly was equipped to make copies of legitimate checks belonging to a San Francisco machinery company.

Arrested at the print shop and booked on charges of conspiracy to issue fictitious checks were James W. Schock, 27, publisher of an FM radio schedule guide; Daniel R. Willis, 49, a printer; Richard W. Myers, 30, a bartender; and Jacqueline A. Ranum, 27, a housewife.

Taken into custody later in the evening and booked on the same charges were Jack Lorraine, 43, a bartender; Harry Hunter, 53, also a bartender, and Toni Hunter, 36, identified as his common-law wife.

Ex-Carnival Worker Held In Exec's Death

WASHINGTON (AP) — Police say a husky young ex-carnival worker who admitted beating and strangling a former university president in a cheap-rate hotel seems "totally unconcerned about the whole thing."

Owen, former president of Bradley University, Peoria, Ill., was manager of the Santa Cruz, Calif., Chamber of Commerce at the time of his death. He had come here to testify before a congressional committee in support of a small craft harbor at Santa Cruz.

Owen's nude body was found Thursday in a third-floor walkup room of a downtown hotel 10 blocks from the Capitol. He was registered at a better hotel. The body was identified through FBI fingerprint files.

Owen resigned as president of Bradley eight years ago after a basketball fix scandal involving members of the university team. He was married and had no children.

Van Over, 6 feet 4, was arrested Friday through a tip. Police said the informant told them Van Over showed his battered fists and said "Boy, did I work that guy over."

Van Over was held without bail on a first-degree murder charge.

Van Over said he and his 18-year-old wife, Lois, had come here from Tampa, Fla., about three weeks ago.

Police said he told them this story:

He said he met Owen in a restaurant. Owen told him he had a hangover and wanted a companion to drink with. Owen gave him money to pay for a hotel room and a bottle. Van Over registered, went up to the room and Owen went up a back way.

They drank for awhile. Then, Van Over said, Owen undressed. Police said it was unclear how the fight started. Van Over first said it began when he tried to take $14 from Owen, then changed his story several times. Van Over said he took the money and left after Owen lay unconscious on the floor.

Twin Who Gave Kidney Killed

OKEECHOBEE, Fla. (AP) — A twin who gave up a kidney so his brother might live has been killed in an industrial accident.

Ronald McDuffie, 28, died Friday at a concrete plant when his hand was caught in a conveyor belt and he was pulled into the machinery.

The belt had jammed as it was transporting gravel. McDuffie reached in to free an obstruction but failed to jerk away as the belt began moving again. He died instantly.

Mill Valley Census Total Estimated

The population of Mill Valley as of Feb. 1 is estimated at 10,350, according to Carl Friesen, senior research technician for, population studies of the California Department of Finance.

The population estimate was based on an assumed 2.84 persons per occupied dwelling unit. In the 1957 special census, Mill Valley's population was 9,436.

Hope Fading For Breaking Disarm Lock

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials have about given up hope of breaking the new deadlock in disarmament negotiations with the Soviet Union prior to next month's summit conference.

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter thinks that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev may be planning to come up with "some kind of idea" at the Paris summit meeting to get negotiations moving again. But he finds the present situation "puzzling."

Herter appears to be trying to build up Western pressure to prevent the Soviet Union from stirring up a new Berlin crisis at the summit by linking the Berlin issue with the possibility of successful disarmament negotiations.

He told a news conference Friday a big East-West clash at the summit over Berlin might very materially prejudice further progress on disarmament, specifically the nuclear test ban problem.

That was the second time he had issued such a warning. In a Chicago speech last Monday he said the Western powers "can hardly move forward confidently in negotiating new arms control agreements with the Soviet Union if our existing agreements with them about Berlin meanwhile are being violated or threatened with violation."

IN NEXT WEEK'S MAGAZINE—

THERE'S NO teacher like experience. And more and more, our schools are putting experience to work in preparing our young people for the future. An example is a unique program at Sir Francis Drake High School in San Anselmo where a second year bookkeeping and accounting class actually engages in merchandising and banking operations. The pupils operate the student book store, and handle student body funds. Your Marin Magazine will take a look at this unusual educational program next week.

MARIN ET CETERA

By Harry Craft

There's No Cure For Laziness, Except To Get A Lot Of Rest

WHEN A FELLOW reaches my age he has to take care of himself.

I mean a lot of guys I know get heart attacks and have to roll nitro-glycerin pills under their tongues and watch what they eat and drink. They quit smoking and other things they say they don't miss but always look kind of envious when you light a cigarette and then you feel like a heel for showing off how healthy you are.

Up to now I've sort of figured it couldn't happen to me but I notice I've been getting tired lately, especially when there's any work to be done, and maybe I should take it easy and not press my luck.

You see, my stomach has been bothering me, mostly because it doesn't fit inside my clothes the way it used to. You can notice it more when I stand up, so that's why I sit down so much.

My wife suggested that maybe if I would stoop over and touch my toes 10 times every day it would tighten up the muscles. She also prescribed lying on the floor and coming to a sitting position without moving my legs, then lifting my legs without coming to a sitting position.

I TRIED IT a few times but I'm not very much sold on it. All it does is make the muscles sore. However, I did discover that when I lay down on the floor you couldn't notice my stomach at all — it seemed to disappear someplace in the back of my lap. So now I've taken to stretching out on the couch right after dinner.

This is not only very relaxing on the muscles but it saves helping with the dishes. Also, by lying in bed 10 or 15 minutes longer in the morning I am able to miss the big traffic stampede which tires me out before I even get to the office.

Another thing I've been careful about is my breathing —not to do too much of it. Heavy inhaling and exhaling fills up your lungs with about 80 per cent nitrogen and everyone says there is something in the atmosphere these days which causes all this sickness. Little short breaths do not bother me at all if I do not move around too much.

IN SPITE OF all these precautions I still haven't felt quite the way I should and I wasn't sure if it was my heart or what.

"You do look kind of peaked," some of my friends have been saying, though how anyone who weighs 187 in his stocking feet can look peaked I can't imagine.

I've just been going over some helpful hints on health, hunting for symptoms like mine, and it seems that with what I've got I'm likely to be a customer for Frank Keaton or Harry Williams or Monte and Banfield any day now.

No, apparently there is nothing seriously wrong with my heart, according to this report:

"The coronary victim commonly possesses an ambitious, driving nature and exhibits a consistent tendency toward compulsive striving, self-discipline and hard work. He frequently sets herculean tasks for himself, exceeding his normal capacity and tempo. . . ."

THAT'S NOT my trouble.

Mine is a combination of two things. Separately they can be cured in the early stages, but together they grow progressively worse and there's not much hope.

Laziness and overeating.

All I can do is live with it, I guess.

Unless some doc invents a miracle pill or something.

MARIN PROFILE

She's Guardian Of The Public Health

By PATRICIA ZINN

"Challenging, hard, little understood, often misunderstood but never dull" is Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht's summation of her work as Marin County health officer.

The attractive young woman who is Marin's third health officer and one of two women health officers in the State of California at the present time has "never for one minute regretted being in public health" and has since New Orleans high school days wanted to pursue that field as her life work.

Born in New Orleans, the daughter of lumber exporter Ernst Heinrich Albrecht of German birth and Lylian Urban Albrecht, a third-generation New Orleanian, Carolyn Albrecht got her first spark of interest in the biological sciences when as a high school senior she read Paul DeKruif's "Microbe Hunters."

However, even at the age of 6, she had a "handwashing compulsion" and was "conscious of germs." This continues today, and her job of "health officering" carries over into her home life in Kentfield where she is the "sanitation officer" in the household. It is her duty to empty the wastebaskets, wash the dishes, and defrost the refrigerator. Her only medical ancestor was a nephew of her grandmother's by marriage who was professor of surgery at Louisiana State University.

Carolyn Albrecht first became acquainted with Marin County in 1929, when her mother came with the three children to reside with their grandmother, Mrs. John A. Sansom, in San Francisco while their father was on an extended business trip in Europe. She recalls very well many happy visits to in-laws of her grandmother's in Marin during her childhood.

THE ALBRECHT family includes a twin sister, Ruth (Mrs. Martin S. Baer of Berkeley), who is also a doctor, not of medicine but of philosophy. She has a Ph. D. degree in psychology from the University of California and taught phychology at Chico State College prior to her marriage.

A younger brother, Philip Ernst Albrecht, lives in Westfield, N.J., and is a steel specialist with Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith in New York City.

After graduation from high school in the Creole City, Marin's health officer enrolled as a biology major at Newcomb College, the women's college of Tulane University in New Orleans.

At this time, she confesses, her interests lay in both physiology, a study of the functions of living organs, and in public health. After graduation from Newcomb, she entered Tulane as a graduate student in physiology, and, in her second year, was a graduate assistant in biology at Newcomb, her alma mater.

During that period of the early 1940's, public health did not occupy the position that it does today in the field of medicine. It was looked upon by many, as "not particularly inspiring, respectable or worthwhile." Dr. Albrecht admits that when she first entered public health in 1951 even her parents rather looked down their noses at it. However, with the passage of time, they have come to realize that public health is as respectable and as important a specialty as any other field of medicine.

AT THE COMPLETION of two years in the Tulane Graduate School, she decided to enter the Yale University Graduate School to study physiology under the renowned neurophysiologist, Dr. John Farquhar Fulton.

At Yale the future health officer was in for a surprise. Students of physiology were requested to take all of the courses in the first two years of the medical curriculum. This was the last thing she had planned to do.

Two years later she had completed the first two years of medical courses at the New Haven school, fulfilled the necessary requirements in French and German, and passed a comprehensive examination in physiology and biochemistry. She was then ready to start work towards her dissertation for a Ph.D. degree in physiology.

But the complexion had changed. Carolyn Albrecht now wanted to become a public health physician. The dormant desire to work in public health had once again come to life. She forsook physiology for completion of the medical curriculum.

She entered the School of Medicine and Dentistry of the University of Rochester in Rochester, N.Y., in 1946. This school, she is quick to point out, not only promised a good atmosphere for a woman medical student but also did not require that she repeat the first two years of the medical school curriculum that she had just completed at Yale. Her first two years at Rochester were spent in research in physiology under Professor Edward F. Adolph.

DR. ALBRECHT laughingly refers to this period as one of "washing cages and mixing formulas for rats." At this time she took courses in psychiatry and repeated pathology in order to study under Noble Prize winner Dr. George Hoyt Whipple, dean of the medical school at Rochester.

One summer during medical school years was spent at the Mount Desert Island Biological Laboratory off the coast of Maine, attempting to ascertain through experiments on seals whether flyers down at sea could survive on sea water. This interlude was her summer with seals, "Piggy," Patches," "Lumpy," and "Gus."

Carolyn Albrecht was graduated from the University of Rochester School of Medicine and Dentistry in 1950 with the degree, Doctor of Medicine with Honor. Marin's health officer has the distinction of being one of only two women who received the honor degree from Rochester from the institution of the degree in 1934 up to 1950.

After graduation, Dr. Albrecht returned to San Francisco for her internship at Children's Hospital. She was appointed assistant health officer for Marin County in August, 1951 and held that position until she took a year's leave of absence to get her Master's Degree in public health at the School of Public Health in Berkeley. She became Marin County health officer in 1954. In 1958 Dr. Albrecht was certified as a specialist in public health by the American Board of Preventive Medicine.

WHEN NOT BUSY trying to keep the general public, the medical profession, the board of supervisors, grand jury, taxpayers' association, the press, and her own staff happy, Carolyn Albrecht likes to swim and to "do for myself at home." The latter applies especially to plumbing, which she particularly enjoys. Another indulgence is her miniature gray French poodle, "Penny," who is "spoiled but very bright."

Directing and coordinating the work of the seven divisions in carrying out the programs of the health department along with a host of other duties leaves no time for membership in social or service organiations, but Dr. Albrecht does belong to a number of other organiations.

They include the Marin County Medical Society; the California Medicial Assn.; the American Medical Assn.; the American Public Health Assn.; the American College of Preventive Medicine; the California Academy of Preventive Medicine; the U. C. Public Health Alumni Assn., of which she is now president; Phi Beta Kappa; and Delta Omega (national honorary health society."

Carolyn B. Albrecht, M.D., is dedicated to the practice of public health as defined by the American Medical Assn., "the art and science of maintaining, protecting and improving the health of the people through organized community efforts."

A SUNNY SMILE is a trademark of Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, Marin County health officer. She is one of but two women public health officers in the entire state. And she says she has never regretted going into public health work.

FROM HER OFFICE Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, Marin County public health officer, is charged with the responsibility of directing the activities of seven different divisions of her department. It's a challenging administrative task. But one she meets with vigor and ability.

THE HANDICAPPERS

They're A Special Kind Of Babysitter

By ED NEUMEIER

For the first time in 18 years the parents of a muscular dystrophy boy were able to get away for a weekend to themselves. The youth had been treated to a stay at Holiday House in Arequipa by the Crippled Children's Society.

In another section of Marin County a widow, now alone, was having to consider institutionalizing her daughter. The mother had been away from her dependent mentally retarded patient for only three days in 32 years.

Robert E. Foster of Mill Valley, teacher of the cerebral palsied at Sonoma State Hospital, active in United Cerebral Palsy of Marin, Inc., pondered these hardships on parents of the handicapped. He knew of many such instances.

Foster also knew that teenagers were capable of far better things than most people gave them credit for. He further knew, from experience that, given the chance, their willingness and competence for service to others was a vast resource infrequently drawn upon.

The problem:

How to help parents of handicapped children get away occasionally with assurance that their charges were left in good hands.

SO HE WENT to the untapped source of teen-agers. Call them babysitters if you like, he thought, but they could be much more than that.

Through high schools he solicited teen-agers who might be interested in this special kind of babysitting, who would be willing to spend some time learning the special problems involved in caring for the handicapped.

At Tamalpais High School he found a crusader-type who thought the project was tremendous. Mrs. Lois L. Polanshek, physical education teacher, pushed the idea. Announcements were also made at Sir Francis Drake, Redwood and San Rafael high schools.

Because of Mrs. Polanshek's efforts, the greatest response came from Tam High. The series of instructional meetings was set there.

When Foster came early to the appointed place, he had no idea what kind or what size audience he would have. He was not sure there would even be one. The night had turned rainy and foul.

More than 70 students, all girls but five, turned out. Their enthusiasm for the project pervaded the meeting room. Their comments at the end of the initial meeting were encouraging.

The series of instructional meetings continued, gained momentum. Foster brought in guest speakers—professional people, parents, volunteer workers.

"THE ONE AREA in which most of the teenagers had reservations about caring for invalids was epilepsy. I brought in a friend, mother of twin epileptic boys. She talked to them. I then asked if any of the students would be interested in caring for these boys. Every one raised his hand. It was just another case of overcoming pre-conceived notions. An example of what education can do."

Five meetings were held. The final one was a visit to the residential school for cerebral palsied in San Francisco.

But that wasn't the end. If an organization as such did not evolve, at least a name did.

The Handicappers.

It was only a paper organization, but it had a name. There was only one man doing the organizing, but he had some enthusiasts like Mrs. Polanshek. And more than 70 teen-agers were interested.

The San Rafael Kiwanis Club printed a pamphlet for parents of handicapped, listing the names, addresses and phone numbers of the interested teen-agers.

They lived in Marin City, in San Anselmo, in Corte Madera, Belvedere, Fairfax, Lagunitas, Larkspur, Sausalito, San Rafael and Woodacre. Almost half of them lived in Mill Valley and were Tam High students.

All this was last year. Some of the "qualified helpers," as the sitters were called, have now gone away to college, have married, have moved away. Many of them are still being called upon, having solidified contacts with those who were in need.

BUT FOSTER is not one to leave it at that. The potential, the resources, are still barely tapped. He envisions a chap-

LEARNING COORDINATION takes hours of practice on the part of the handicapped child — plus much patience from those who assist. Here Craig, multiple handicapped son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sideroff of Novato, receives some help from Maureen Brady of Fairfax, Drake High senior and one of the Marin teen-agers who has undergone special training in care of the handicapped.

Tips on Purchase and Home Care of Your Wardrobe

By BERT BROWN, Marin Cleaners of San Rafael and Bel Air

"What Should Be Done About Fruit Stains?"

Everything depends upon the fabric on which the stain appears. This is why it is easier and safer to let your professional drycleaner handle the garment. If the fabric is washable, fruit and berry juices can often be removed with ordinary household washing compounds, soap or liquid. Then apply white vinegar and rinse thoroughly. White vinegar is inexpensive and contains ascetic acid which is often needed to neutralize alkaline conditions or cause a necessary reaction with the stain. White vinegar will not harm any fabric that can withstand water. If, after this treatment, the fruit or berry stain persists, you may use peroxide bleach (ordinary medicinal 3%, 10-volume hydrogen peroxide).

If the fabric affected is dry cleanable, you may use a liquid synthetic detergent on the affected areas and rinse it out of those areas. Then apply the white vinegar and rinse again.

If you are not certain about the fabric you are treating, apply the stain removal process to an inner seam or to a swatch of the material to gauge its reaction to your treatment. Stain removal can be tricky with so many different fabrics and colors and weaves that a special skill has been developed to treat stains. A variety of removal agents and special tools are used by the expert drycleaner. Most thrifty home-makers prefer to mark the stain, identify its cause and employ a professional drycleaner to remove it. They feel that the small charge for his skill often saves an entire garment.

Marin's Teen-Agers Serve Handicapped

ter of sitters for the handicapped, qualified help, in every Marin County high school. Already the American Legion of San Anselmo is enthusiastic about helping; the state Legion organization is interested; commendation for the work has been noted by the national Legion.

As far as is known, such a project is unique to Marin County. But the need is not unique. It's the kind of idea that may well catch on elsewhere in the nation.

Therefore another instructional program has been organized. A committee of four adults and four teen-agers has been formed to coordinate the work. From sitting service by qualified helpers, new purposes have come up. So many of the teen-agers indicated permanent interest in various phases of working with handicapped people.

"I am interested in becoming a physical therapist," said Claudi Maisac of Mill Valley, Tam High student.

"I want a better understanding of my fellow men," Yvonne Thompson of Mill Valley told Foster.

"I have always been interested in becoming a nurse and I think I would like to care for disabled persons," wrote Lyn Hertzberg of Mill Valley.

"I have a handicap myself and am interested in being a physical therapist," said a Redwood High student from Belvedere.

"I INTEND TO be a physiotherapist or occupational-therapist," Shirley Simpson, Drake High student from Woodacre, responded. "I have worked as an aide at Marindale and I want to broaden my field of knowledge."

"I want to understand more about handicapped children and to help them," was the reason given by Edward Reis, Redwood student of Corte Madera.

"I heard about this at school and I want to help myself understand the problems of these people," Anita Fox of Fairfax, Marin Catholic student, said.

"I'm interested in helping children," stated Susan Bradley, San Rafael High student.

These are good reasons, Foster thought, for broadening the Handicappers into something more than a sitting service.

Purposes, then, for the second series of instructional programs, which began March 24, are:

To educate high school people on problems presented to our society by the physically and mentally handicapped;

To provide pre-vocational information and experience to encourage the young people to enter one of the professions allied with care for the handicapped;

TO ENCOURAGE boys and girls to aid through experiences with handicapped people and to participate in community services that are concerned with helping the mentally and physically handicapped;

To provide pre-college information and help of a financial nature and to help provide possible scholarships.

Provisions for a proposed organization cover many facets: Co-sponsorship from government or private agencies, scholarship contributions, chapter units at each high school, planning committee, a governing board and a professional advisory committee.

As was said, it's still all on paper. But Foster believes in the vast resources of teen-agers. He thinks he's found his well-spring to reality in them.

1235 FOURTH, SAN RAFAEL, GL 3-2190, OPEN TOMORROW (SUNDAY) 2—5 P.M.

IT'S NICE OF YOU to be interested, but he's not crossing in the middle of the street. A Guide Dog is taught to walk to the curb after leaving a building. This is done so that the blind person can orient himself, before beginning his walk.

WHEN ASKED FOR directions by a blind person, be sure to check the signs so that you give correct information. Then say, for example: "You're on Fourth and D streets, facing west on Fourth. If you continue straight ahead for two blocks, then turn right . . ."

THEN IF CONFUSION still exists, ask the blind person: "May I show you." Then take his hand in your hand and indicate the direction that you mean for him to take. This will eliminate the possibility of any misunderstanding in the directions.

Do You Help Or Hinder When You Direct The Blind?

An every day occurrence at Guide Dogs for the Blind, Inc., has been satirized by a group of professional musicians who were part of class 123 which graduated last fall.

Harmonized on tape are the words written by Richard Holmgren, who trained with Karen, a German shepherd:

Eight new students, eight new students,
See how they goof, see how they goof;
Made one wrong turn on B street,
Got wrong directions on C street,
So never did reach D street;
Eight new students.

A student who makes an incorrect turn and is lost must of necessity ask the way, and that's where the trouble starts. People sometimes forget they are facing the man-dog team and when talking about "left" actually mean the blind man's right.

Just last week Gilbert Nino, a Korean War veteran, and Tulsa, his German shepherd, were so completely misdirected it took them almost two hours to complete the day's assignment: 10 blocks.

But let the song tell what happened:

Poor tired trainer, poor tired trainer,
See how he runs, see how he runs;
He looks for us on B street,
He can't find us on C street,
Now where the heck is D street?
Poor tired trainer.

On these occasions both the trainer and the errant pupil come in for a good deal of teasing. Recently a student became lost. He was on California street when he stopped a pedestrian to ask, "Am I near Sacramento?"

The woman replied, "Oh no, my dear. The state capi-

HERE ARE SOME more tips on assisting the blind. At left, you don't have to pull over and get out of their way. The student and his dog have been taught to circle around you. In center photo, never talk to or touch a Guide Dog while the animal is on duty. The dog is performing an important job that requires concentration. And at right, have you ever noticed a blind man and dog standing on the corner? All dogs are color blind. And, since the man cannot see, they must listen to the flow of traffic before leaving the curb. If he stands through several changes, yon should ask him if he needs assistance. But before telling him to go, be sure there is plenty of time for him to safely cross the street before the light changes.

Here's Right Way To Assist Blind

Actually the rules for directing the blind are simple:

1. Ask if your help is needed. Until you speak a sightless person is unaware of your presence, and your touch can be frightening.

2. Offer your arm. Never, under any circumstances, take his arm and propel him by the elbow. Always mention the fact that you are approaching a curb or any irregularity in the terrain.

3. When guiding a blind person walk about a half step ahead of him. If the passages are narrow or dangerous, walk a full step ahead, describing the scenery as you go.

By following these simple instructions you can help make the happy ending in the song by class 123 come true:

Eight good dogs, eight good dogs,
See how they guide, see how they guide;
They put us straight on B street,
Then take us up to C street,
Now here, you fools, is D street;
Eight good dogs.

Another way to make the ending happy is by sending a contribution to the current Guide Dogs for the Blind Drive. William Murray of the First National Bank in San Rafael is the treasurer.

WHILE FRANK WULZEN of San Rafael filmed Olympic competition, Mrs. Ann Becker of Sausalito, working with him, remained in contact with other members of the movie photography team with the aid of a walkie-talkie unit. Mrs. Becker is the wife of the games official photographer.

Marin Movie Makers Prepare A Big One

Serving as the eyes for the entire world, Marvin Becker, 515 Pine street, Sausalito, is planning production of a feature length motion picture of the recent Winter Olympic games at Squaw Valley.

Becker, a pioneer in the Bay Area movie industry, served as official movie photographer during the Olympics. He headed a crew of over 25 cameramen who shot more than 80,000 feet of film which highlighted every aspect of all athletic events as well as including the back ground and color of the games.

The footage, which run over 40 hours in length, is currently being edited at Becker's San Francisco movie studio while plans are simultaneously completed for the films release. Becker plans distribution of the film in art theaters throughout the United States while versions in French, German and Russian are prepared for European release.

In addition to the feature film, Becker must complete the official movie for the International Olympic Committee by late May, plus several motion pictures which are being purchased by various companies in the United States for advertising and public relations purposes.

"Some of the footage is spectacular," Becker reported after viewing some of the recently processed scenes. "The weather just played into our hands and the color is excellent."

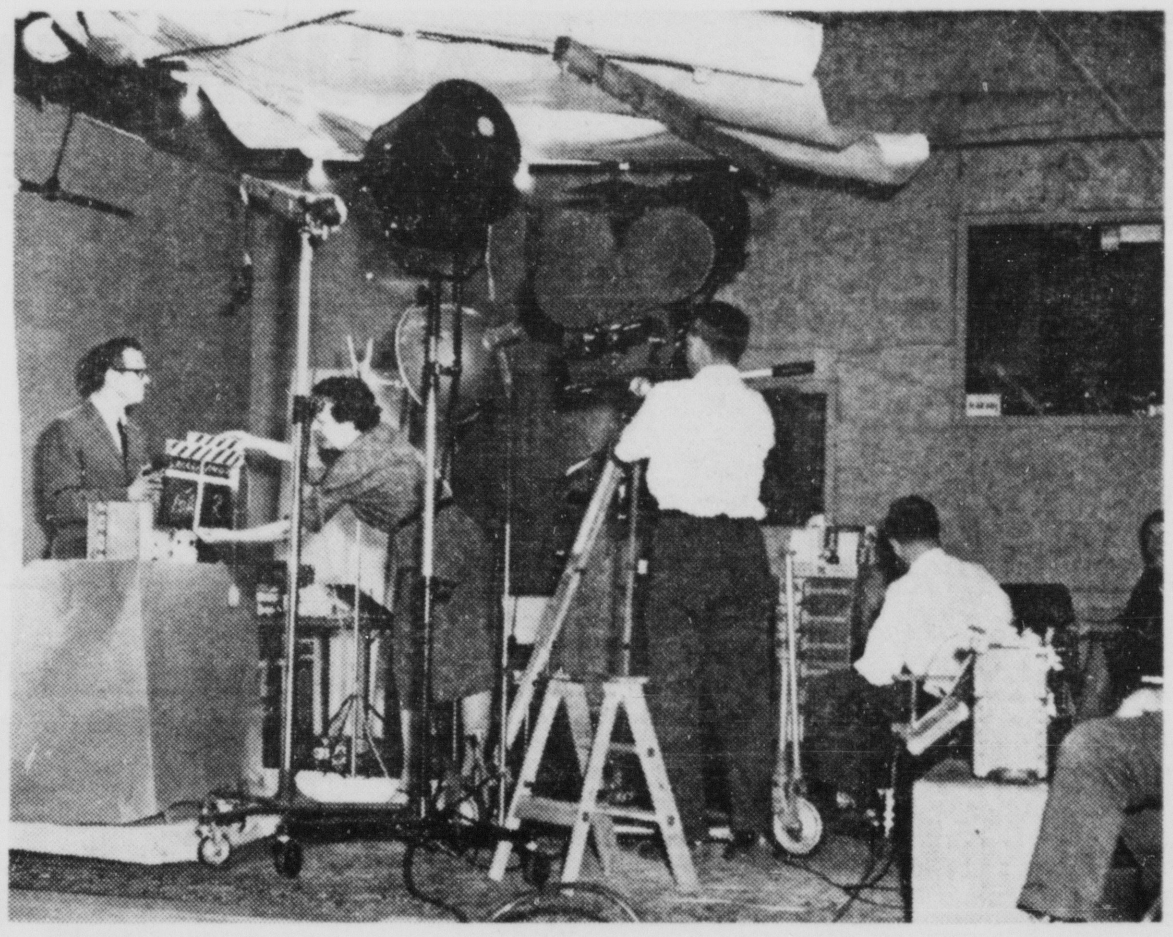
Other Marin County residents who worked with Becker during the filming include his wife, Ann; Frank Wulzen, 230 Bretano way, San Rafael; Dr. Frank Howard, his wife and youngsters, 55 Montecito road, San Rafael; and Sali Liberman, Lone Tree Road, Mill Valley.

Becker's studio, located at 915 Howard street, San Francisco, looks much like its famed Hollywood counterparts but in miniature. It boasts one of the largest sound stages in Northern California, features the only full-sized magnetic recording Auricon camera in San Francisco, and offers such facilities as editing rooms, animation equipment and sound recording devices. Motion pictures are produced for television, business, industry and educational purposes.

Although West Coast companies "are becoming more enlightened," Becker said, "this is still virgin territory for the film business." He feels that this is due partly to the relative youth of local industry (the East Coast passed this stage of development long ago) and to "local conservatism."

Becker started his commercial photography in high school where he sold photos to his classmates, continued during a Marine Corps stint, and finally, in 1952, opened his own studio. He has produced motion pictures for the Army Engineer's Bay Model at Sausalito, and for such Bay companies as Columbia-Geneva Steel, the Vacu-Dry Co. and Victor Equipment Co.

"Winter Olympic Playground 1960," a 28-minute film showing the Squaw Valley preparations, was shot, narrated, processed, edited and given sound at the Becker Studio. At last report, over 10 million television viewers across the United States had seen the Becker film.



BAY AREA NIGHTCLUB entertainer Ronnie Schell gets some last-minute instructions from Mrs. Ann Becker before the cameras start to grind for a motion picture scene. The place: Becker Studios in San Francisco.

Coast Guard Cutter Always Ready To Aid Distressed

By DOROTHY SLATTERY

From the beach, the scrubbed, sleek boat looks like a luxury yacht. Only the 22 millimeter gun mounted on the foredeck and the Coast Guard flag hoisted on the mast name her for what she is: A 95 foot patrol cutter moored at the Sausalito dock at the U.S. Army Engineers site.

A cutter five feet too short to be called "ship" and five feet away from earning a christening name when the bottle of champagne was broken across her bow in Baltimore, Md., in 1958.

But Cutter CG95327, her captain, Lt. (j.g.) Paul D. Henneberry and her 14 man crew are well known for the countless small boats they have towed to shore, the persons they have snatched from the Bay waters and the services they have performed along the Sausalito waterfront since arriving at the Richardson Bay base in January, 1959.

Perhaps one of the most exciting assignments the crew and cutter have experienced in the past 15 months can best be summed up in the words of a crewman:

"It was the longest roller coaster ride I've ever had . . ."

On the morning of Feb. 9, a distress signal broke the silence of the wheel house at 11:05 o'clock. The 21,800 Angelo Petri, her engines killed by a 40 foot wave pouring into the engine room through the ventilator stacks was floundering in less than 40 feet of water three and half miles off the San Francisco coast.

NINE MINUTES later the trim white prow of the cutter was slicing the waters of Richardson Bay as Lt. Henneberry ordered "Condition Zebra" (where everything movable is lashed down).

By 11:30 a.m. the small cutter met the first barrage of severe weather outside the Gate as long, high swells eight to 10 feet high broke across her bow as she clipped through the grey waters at 13 knots.

Lt. Henneberry ordered engine speed cut back as the steel-plated boat began rolling in the turbulent ocean waters. Crew members were ordered below deck. Only three men remained on the bridge with the captain: First Class Quartermaster Stanley Grabinski watching charts and radio; Chief engineman Thomas Mulcahy standing lookout; and Seaman Wells Combs at the wheel.

Two men were standing by in the engine room and the remaining members of the crew were being tossed back and forth below decks, as one man recalled, "Frightened and sick."

At 11:45 the cutter broke into international waters as she nosed by Mile Rock. The swells gained in momentum growing from 12 to 20 feet high as they smashed down on the hull. Winds from 30 to 35 miles an hour lashed across the stripped decks.

At 12:10 the cutter nosed into the back wave or breaker line and was hit hard by three successive waves. She shuddered, rolled back and forth under the pressure of the sea, but kept on going.

A Coast Guard helicopter arrived on the scene and began lifting men off the Petri. The cutter stood by, her men watching and waiting to step in if the copter should run into difficulty.

TWO HOURS later cutter 95311 from Alameda followed by the 327 foot cutter Taney and two commercial tugs pulled up to the helpless wine tanker.

The two 95 foot cutters set up a communications link between the tugboats and the cutter Taney. The Taney's captain had assumed command but the big cutter's radio frequency would not reach the commercial tugs.

Rains and winds continued to lash the pilothouse and the rolling and tossing became so severe that the galley reefer aboard cutter CG95327 flew open spilling cartons of milk across the lower deck.

At 5:40 p.m. the cutter was released from duty and less than two hours later she was back in the waters of Richardson Bay secured to her home dock.

Lt. Henneberry, a tall, quiet spoken 1952 graduate of the Coast Guard Academy, took command of the cutter when she was commissioned in Baltimore Nov. 21, 1958. And with a new crew (50 per cent of the originals are still aboard) brought the compact, white boat through the Panama Canal arriving in Sausalito Jan. 24, 1959.

Since that time crew and cutter have been busy freeing grounded yachts, righting capsized boats, recovering drowning victims, assisting in air-sea rescues, towing in cruisers and just standing by "in case."

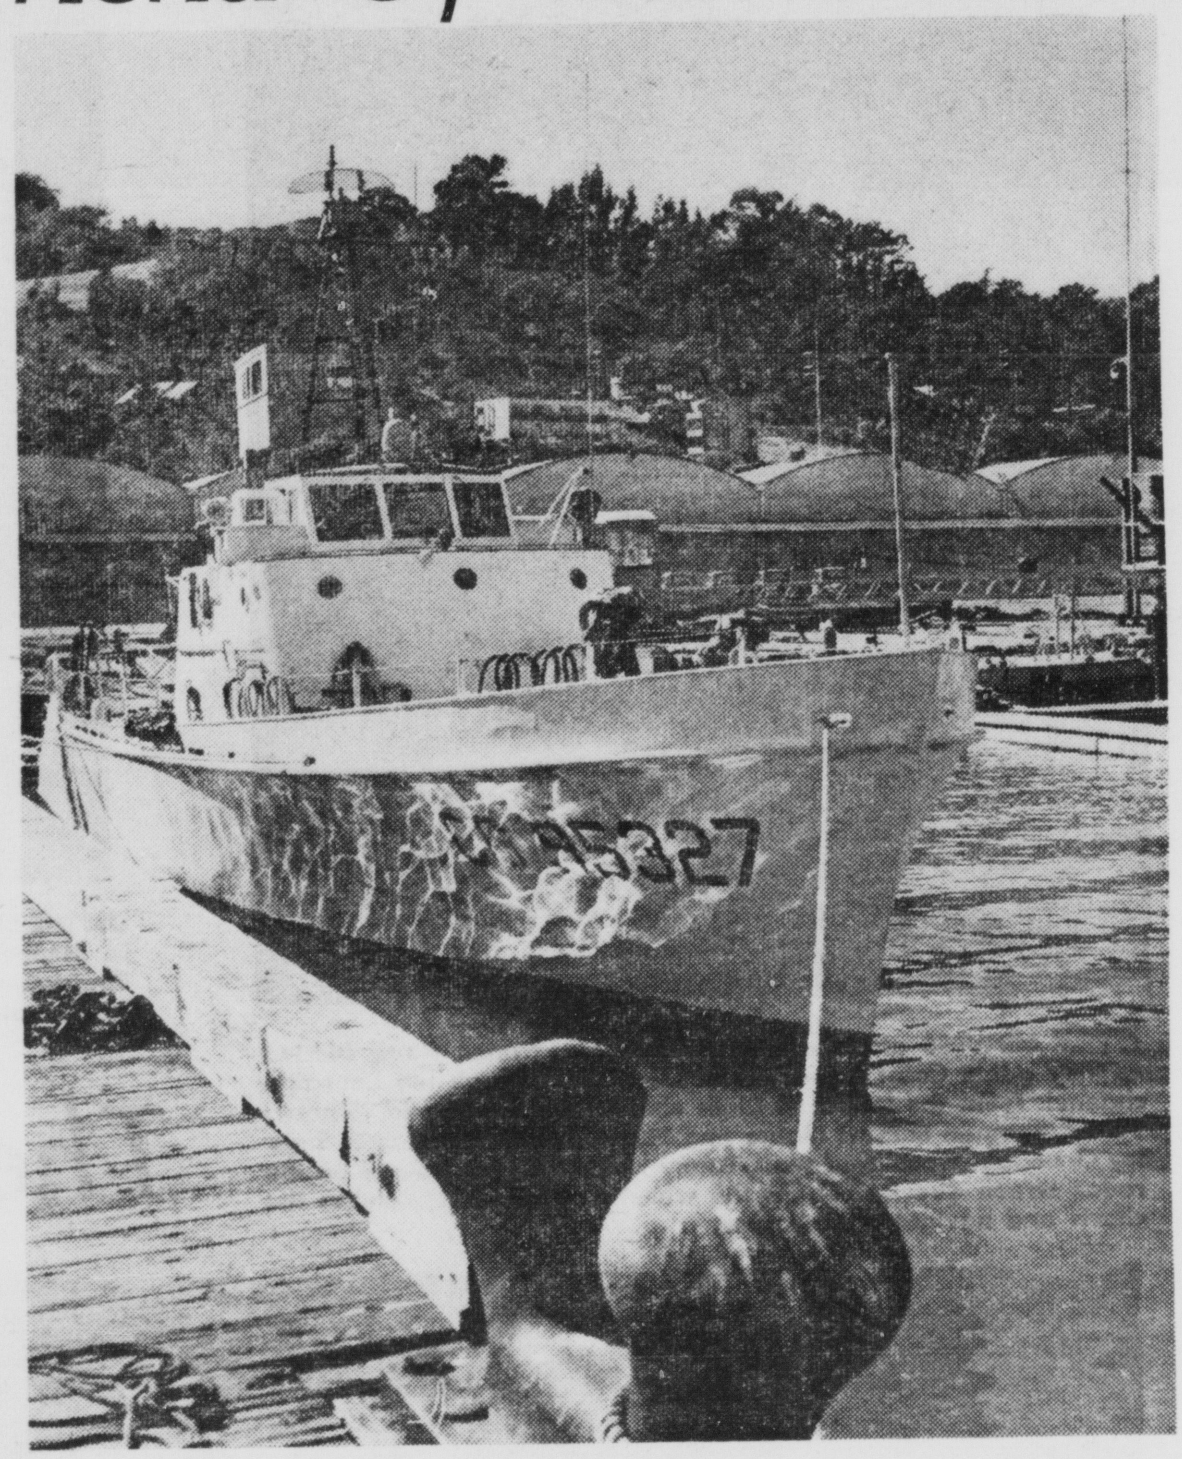
On the night of the Madden and Lewis Boat Works fire on the Sausalito waterfront, a lookout aboard the cutter spotted smoke and flame shortly after 6 o'clock. Within 12 minutes the cutter was in the channel moving down the face of the waterfront and the 15 foot outboard runabout that is used in the shallows of Richardson Bay was on its way to the boat works.

CHIEF MATE Arthur Christman, a member of the original crew, set up a portable telephone on the Madden and Lewis pier at 6:25 p.m., and sent the runabout back to the cutter for portable pumping equipment. Low tides forced the cutter to rest at anchor 600 feet offshore. (The boat draws six feet of water at the dock and eight feet underway.)

After towing a boat off the Madden and Lewis ways the four man crew had a fireline set up across the back end of the pier by 6:40. Less than half an hour later the fire on the pier had been contained, but in a little over an hour's time a quarter million dollars property had been destroyed.

The 14 men aboard cutter 95327 know what to do in time of emergency instinctively. They move quickly and are highly trained to cope with all types of maritime and coastal emergency. They are proud of their service and might mention as a passing comment that the Coast Guard is the oldest maritime service in the United States.

There is a close bond between captain and men. After the Petri assignment Lt. Henneberry said of his crew: "They did the job without hesitating once . . . they must have been scared but it didn't show."



CUTTER CG95327 WAS snug in her berth in Sausalito when this photograph was taken. But she and her crew of Coast Guardsmen never know just when the call will come that will cause them to leave the safety of the shore and brave the elements to aid those in trouble at sea. On pages M10 and M11 you can see CG-95327 and her crew in action.

The Men Of The Coast Guard In Action

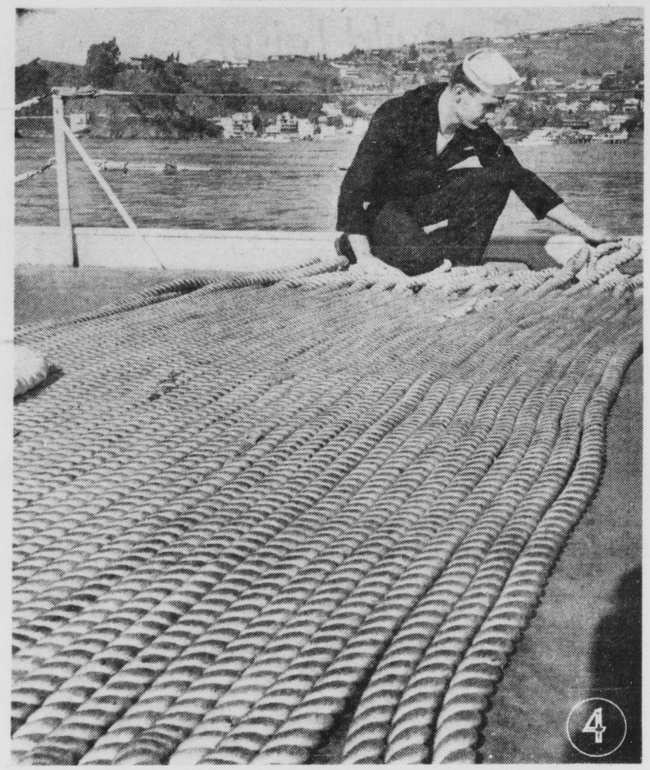
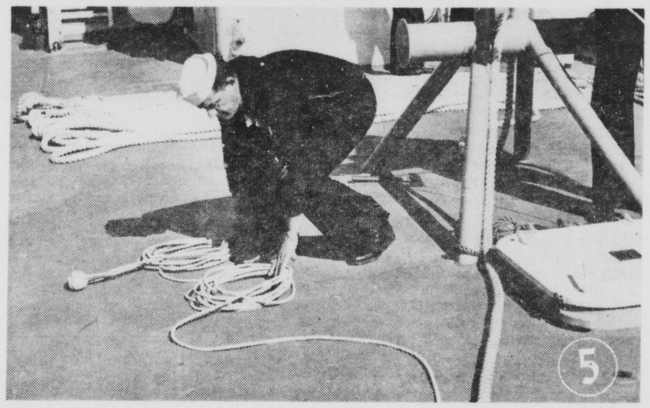
OPERATION TOW begins as soon as the bridge is notified by the San Francisco Rescue Coordination Center that someone is in trouble and needs help to get home. Second Class Boatswain Mate Joseph Belisle and Second Class Electrician Mate Richard White remove the flag staff so the tow lines can be cast over the stern.

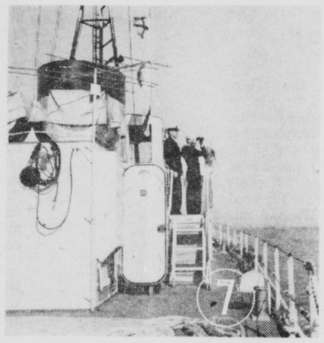


FAKING DOWN THE LINES, Seaman William Morgan stretches the cutter's four-inch nylon towing line in the second step of Operation Tow. The line is arranged so that it can be reeled out over the stern of the boat without fouling.



THE MESSENGER LINE is coiled into "monkeyfists" by Boatswain mate Joseph Belisle. The four inch hauser is passed over to the distressed vessel by means of this smaller line that is tied to the hauser's ends. After the tow has been secured the cutter pulls the distressed vessel to the nearest available mooring.

THE CHIEF scans the skies looking for a glimpse of the Coast Guard helicopter that has been called to assist in the rescue of persons the cutter is unable to reach. The cutter draws six feet of water at the dock and eight feet under way. When the boat can't get in "close enough" a whirlybird drops a rig and hoists the victim to safety.



MONEY PENNY JOINS Chief Christman in searching the skies for the 'copter. The hull of the cutter is galvanized steel. The boat has a radio range of 70 miles and radar range of 20 miles. Four 600 horsepower diesel engines propel the cutter through the waters. Traveling at a speed of 10 knots the cutter can travel 2,400 miles. As her speed is increased, however, the distance she can cover diminishes.

OPERATION MEDAVAC begins as soon as the bright yellow Coast Guard helicopter arrives at the scene. This combined cutter-helicopter maneuver has saved countless lives. The 'copter carries a rig that lowers a stretcher-basket to injured parties. The cutter stands by to give emergency treatment or to act if an accident occurs.

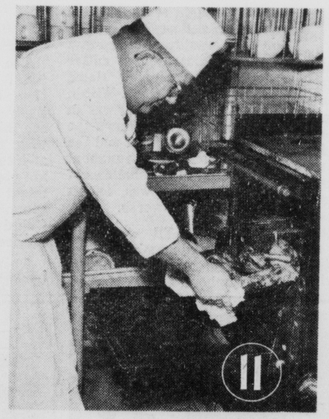
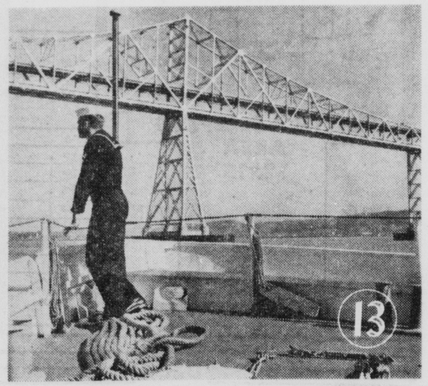
LEANING AGAINST THE towing yoke, boatswain Mate Joe Belisle relaxes a moment after Operation Tow has successfully terminated. The tow lines are anchored to this yoke. Joe is a member of the original crew who brought the cutter to her first base in January, 1959.

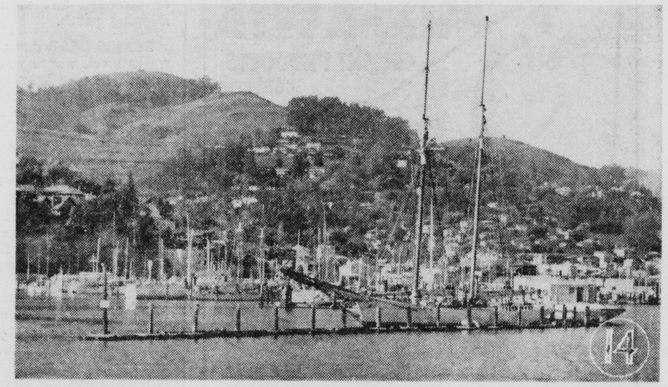


WHEN ITS time for chow Cook Second Class James Turner knows what to feed the Captain and the 13-man crew of the cutter. It's roast duck cooked on the small electric range in the galley. Cook Turner also bakes cakes, pies in this tiny oven.

A GOOD APPETITE HAS BEEN worked up by the Captain and men when they finally relax over 1200 chow. The menu included roast duck, green beans, mashed potatoes, stuffed celery, olives and a "boat-made" chocolate cake. The usual working day for the men begins at 6:30 a.m. and ends at 4 p.m. barring any emergency calls.



AFTER CHOW First Class Electrician Mate (Money) Penny inspects the foredeck as the cutter, now on patrol, noses under the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge. The cutter is practically unsinkable: Any two adjacent compartments can be flooded without causing sinking. But an impaired stability caused by water sloshing around below decks might cause the cutter to roll over. If the pilot house windows had been smashed on the Petri call and water had flooded the lower decks, the cutter could have rolled over.



THE SAUSALITO HARBOR is full time home for the cutter moored at the U. S. Army Engineers dock and part-time home for her skipper and men. The men usually spend three full days aboard on "Bravo Zero," followed by three days at home on "Bravo Six" where the men have six hours to get back to the boat and be under way after receiving orders. The mess hall was decorated with a Christmas tree last year because the men spent both holidays on Bravo Zero.

Marin Living

Easy To Build Leisure Homes Are Popular

The new trend to compact cars is fairly obvious. All you have to do is stand on the corner and watch the traffic.

But you have to get off the beaten path a little to see what's happening to the leisure home movement. Waterside and mountain sites are blossoming with attractive, low-cost homes.

This new building market is an important one, economically, and it fits into the same budget range as the new compact cars. Many of the new cabins cost less than a compact car, but still deliver plenty of space and comfort for the vacationing family.

COMPLETE kitchens and bath rooms are required by nearly every family looking for a vacation hideaway. The woman of the house can't see why she should work harder on vacation than she does at home.

Probably the biggest factor behind the growing number of vacation cabins is the ease with which they can be built with modern materials. An influential building magazine predicts that 75,000 such cabins will be built in 1960.

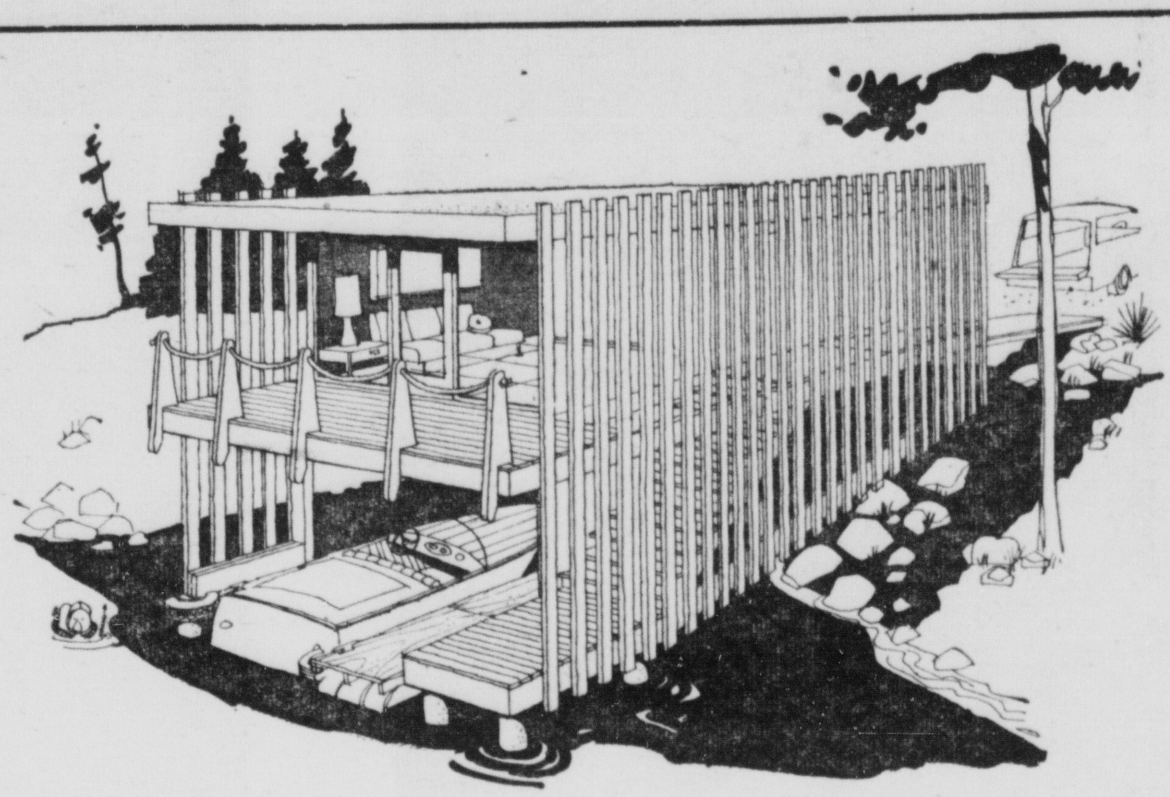
The wide use of fir plywood in full four x eight foot sheets makes it possible for the amateur carpenter to greatly reduce the amount of framing lumber required. And there's less intricate cutting and fitting required when buildings are made with a few pieces rather than a lot of little ones.

There are a number of grades of plywood within the two basic types, too, giving the home-owner lots of latitude in how he wants his cabin to look.

THE TWO TYPES differ in the glue used to bond the veneers together. The first, and most widely known, is interior type, made with moisture-resistant glue. This material is used indoors only. Interior type plywood should never be used in places where it will be exposed to moisture.

The other, exterior type, is made with a completely water-proof glue—the same glue used in marine grade plywood.

Other grades include striated plywood, with a patterned face; Texture One-Eleven, with vertical grooves either two or four inches apart; brushed plywood, another textured panel, and overlaid plywood, a special grade with its faces covered with resin impregnated paper. This last grade makes an especially fine surface for paint.



HERE'S ONE OF THE FEW cabins you'll find that is really adapted to a steep waterside lot. It's ideal for use beside water, but it can also be adapted to hillside sites with the car kept below where the boat is shown here. It is fast and easy for the owner to build. And its called the Beachead.

THE BEACHEAD

This Vacation Cabin Ideal For Steep Site Along Water

Most beach cabins require a level lot to keep their costs from skyrocketing. But here is a small, comfortable cabin that is specifically designed for a steep, economical lot. It's adaptable to salt or fresh water, and would fit in well along running water. It's also can be adapted for a hillside site.

Architect Milton Schwartz designed a lot of careful planning into its 275 square feet of interior, which includes a kitchen and complete bath.

Bunk beds fold down in the forward part of the cabin, which is convertible to a cozy living room in the daytime. The kitchen and bath occupy the rear.

The living room overlooks an 80-square-foot deck that is ideal for sun bathing or for watching activity on the water. It also may be covered or screened and used as a sleeping porch.

STAIRS LEAD down to the water level, where your boat is secured to a long, narrow, floating dock. The cabin and sun deck combine to form a roof over the boat.

The cabin rests on concrete piers and is capable of being expanded in several ways, as your budget or family grows.

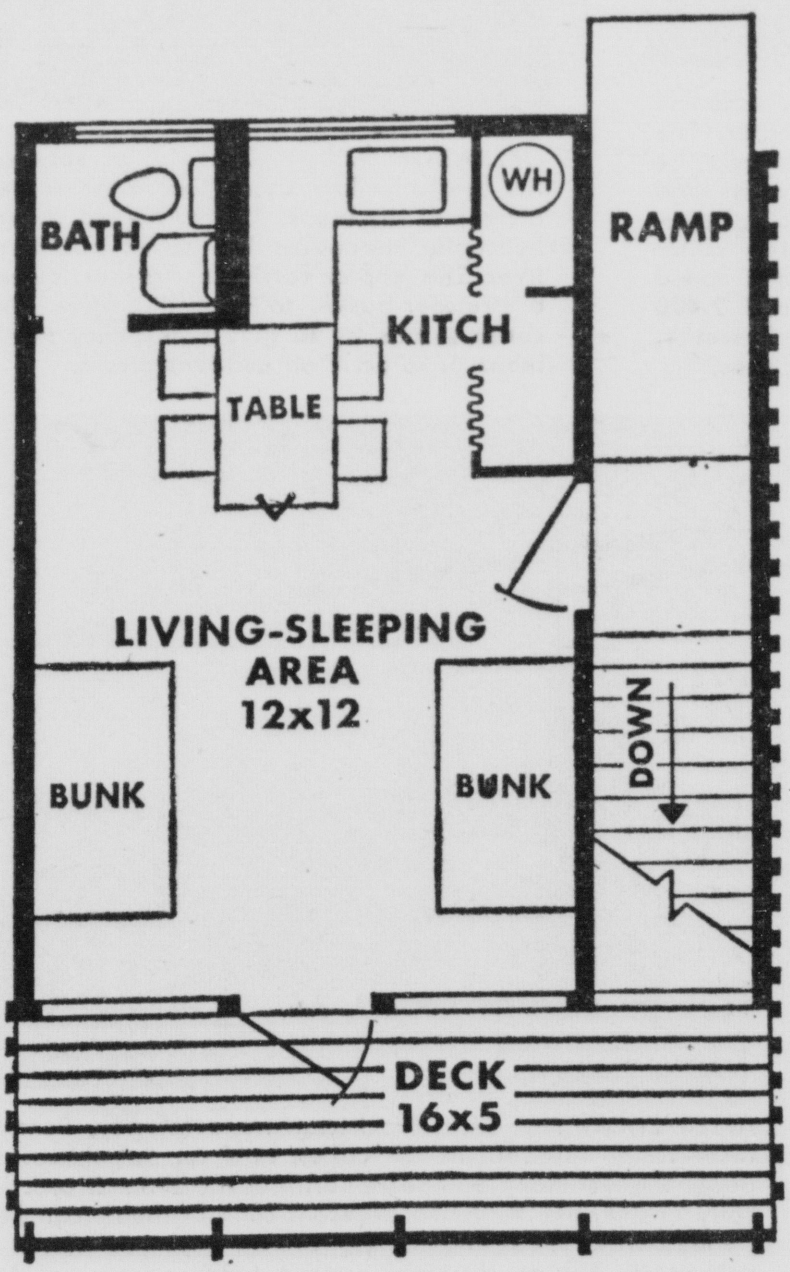
Construction is extremely simple and is based on versatile, quickly-erected fir plywood. The panels are used full-size in nearly all applications, keeping intricate cutting and fitting to a minimum.

The big four x eight-foot panels are used for the floor and roof decks and as a combination sheathing and siding. This type of construction helps keep costs down by eliminating much of the studding and bracing required in conventional construction and makes it possible to build the cabin in a minimum of spare time.

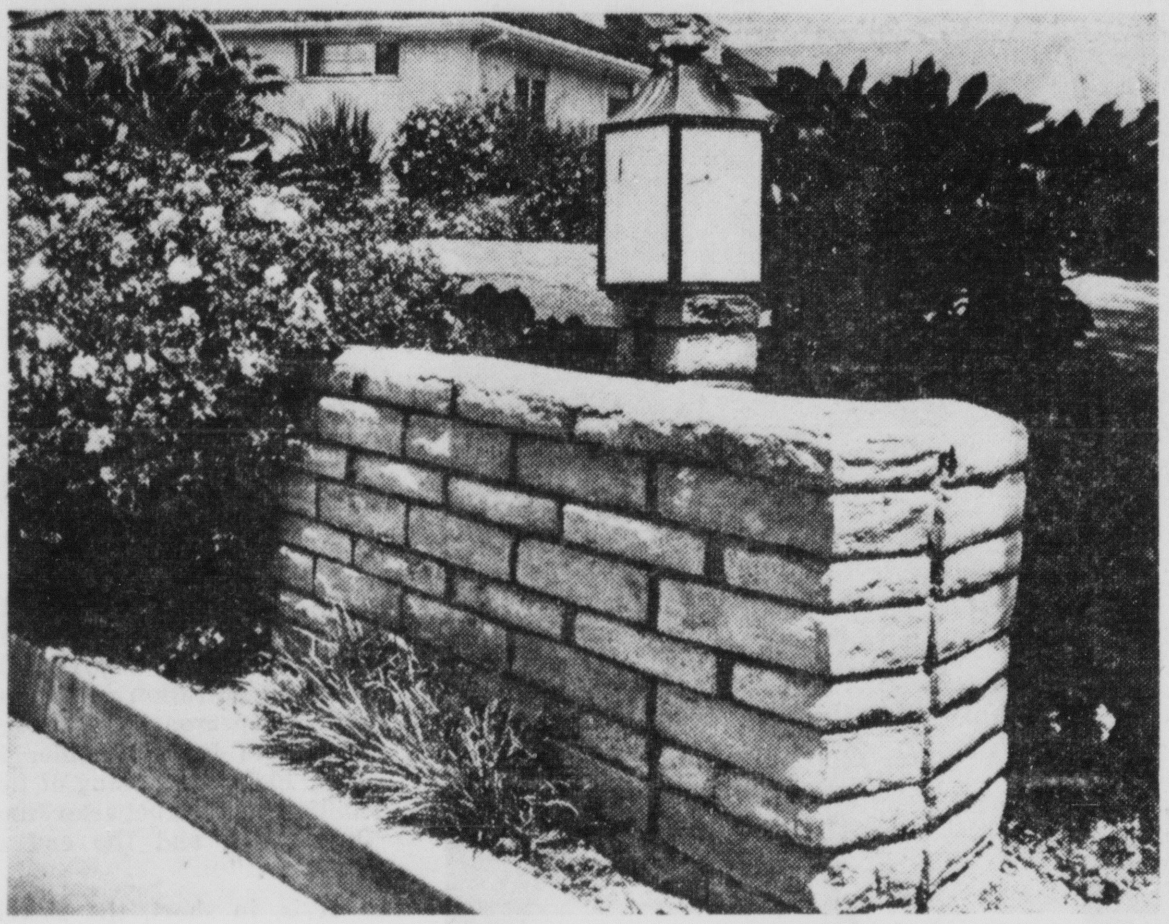
MATERIALS FOR the cabin shell cost approximately $1,400. This figure does not include labor costs or wiring, plumbing and kitchen fixtures. The lot also would be extra, but this design makes it possible to build on a low-cost site.

Some of the building can be prefabricated in the cabin-owner's basement or garage in town and hauled to the site.

Complete construction plans, giving step-by-step details for building the cabin, are available for 25 cents from the Douglas Fir Plywood Assn., Tacoma 2, Wash. A materials list, down to the last nail, is included. Ask for "the Beachhead."



ARCHITECT Milton Schwartz has designed the Beachead cabin as economically as the interior of a ship. Every square inch is useful.



A WALL OF slump block along the edges of your yard can add a touch of rustic charm, no matter where your property is located. And the wall is durable, long-lasting and maintenance free. The new type of masonry has a hand-crafted, adobe appearance.

New Concrete Masonry Product Can Add Rustic Charm To Yard

It doesn't matter if you live in town or in the country, you can add a touch of rustic charm to your yard by enclosing it with a slump block wall.

Slump block, a variety of new-type concrete masonry, has a hand-crafted adobe appearance. Its desert-like qualities and color form a simple but striking background for all types of plantings.

Besides framing a house and separating your property from your neighbor's yard, a wall of medium height provides a degree of privacy. A wall guards against intrusion by children on bicycles or people seeking a "shortcut" route.

Building a wall of slump block is easy and economical. It will last longer and require less maintenance than a wall constructed with almost any other material.

Alternate courses of two- and four-inch slump block were used in building this wall for a decorative effect and offset rows at regular intervals add both lateral strength and beauty.

By constructing a lamppost of slump block at the corner of the wall, you can fashionably mark the driveway or entranceway to your house as well as provide a practical outdoor lighting fixture.

Those Acid-Loving Plants Present Special Problems

It seems worth noting for California gardeners that most of our acid-loving plants are also moisture - loving plants. And, further, that the moisture itself may be the acid plant's undoing.

This seeming paradox is explained by the fact that most irrigation water bears a good amount of alkaline salts and, if soil drainage is poor, these salts will not leech out. They stay at the roots and do their ultimate damage.

The first rule of proper care for acid-loving plants, therefore, is providing proper drainage. And this we happily do with a variety of materials such as peat moss and leaf mold which also provide an acid reaction in the soil.

Nurserymen will urge you to use copious amounts of these two materials when planting such acid lovers as camellias, azaleas, rhododendrons, magnolias, begonias, daphne and a host of others.

If the planting spot is lower than surrounding areas, and apt to collect runoff, raise it artificially by surrounding it with redwood or brick headers before adding peat or leaf mold.

Soil sulphur, available at all nurseries, is a time-tested way of maintaining acidity around established plants. It will not do its duty, however, if the soil is not loose enough to let it penetrate.

With plants such as fuchsias, azaleas and camellias that need frequent feeding, the simplest way, since it kills two birds with one stone, is to use an acid-type fertilizer. Start feeding camellias and azaleas with this now and follow the directions on the package for future feedings.

As to water, most of these plants like moisture on the foliage as well as on the roots. Overhead sprinkling should be a regular part of your watering schedule, especially during summer and especially with your fuchsias, azaleas, rhododendrons, and begonias. Add a peat moss mulch around all these but begonias and you'll earn a gold star for your effort. Also better blooms.

With Fuchsias You Just Can't Miss

Fuchsias have a happy way of producing offspring about as fast as you can count them. Each year sees exciting new members of the family. And who's to complain?

Looking at the new fuchsias which nurserymen are offering this year, we are amazed at the number which show good tolerance for heat. The time when gardeners considered the fuchsias strictly for coastside gardens is fast becoming history.

Among the good new ones is a number called Belvedere. Its blooms are large and double, in a lovely shade of blue, mottled with pink. It received one of the highest awards at the California National Fuchsia Society Show in Los Angeles last year. It is a strong, upright grower.

Capri is another fine double with violet-blue and white markings. Its growth is arching in habit and probably best adapted to basket culture. Two other hangers of note are Rosie O'Grady, a large double of soft, rosy pink; and Tiffany, which is double white with lovely pink sepals. Tiffany is a top performer in warm climates.

The gardener will be struck by the high percentage of good hanging or trailing varieties introduced this year. In addition to the above, he will find Blue Butterfly and Dusky Rose. The former is a single, open saucer type which shows good resistance to heat. Dusky Rose, named for its color, is a large double.

We also have two that will serve either as small shrubs or as trailers. The first is Papoose, one of the small-flowered fuchsias that seem to be gaining popularity once again. Outstanding in heat, it bears a profusion of dark purple and red blooms. The second is Red Jacket, a large red and white double which is sure to catch your eye in nurseries.

GARDENERS CHECKLIST

- A sharp mower is the best insurance against ragged lawns. Once a year is not too often to have mowers sharpened.
- Pot up or transplant begonia tubers that have two or three inches of top growth. Wait a week or two to feed them.
- Start hanging baskets of fuchsias for summer color. Use two or three small plants to a container.

A Couple For Those Who Like Action

The tragic account of the assault on Mount Haramosh in the Himalayas in 1957 by five men, only three of whom came back.

More than a record of cold, hunger and privation suffered by the climbers, the book is a testament to man's ability to fight against incredible odds to win an intangible, moral victory.

Unfortunately, Ralph Barker, a weekend author who works at the job of flight lieutenant in the Royal Air Force, utilizes an awkward style of writing which at times leaves the reader as lost as the men who tried to climb the mountain.

Recommended for Wild West afficianados.

BOOKS

A Tale Of Nazi Terror

This is the autobiography of Rudolf Hoess, the commandant of the huge Auschwitz concentration camp who says, "I personally arranged on orders from Himmler in May, 1941, the gassing of two million persons between June-July, 1941, and the end of 1943. . ."

It is, in short, the sickening and terrible story of one of the monsters of our time. And yet it is important that it be a much read book if we are truly to understand the enormity of the crimes of Nazism against humanity. Less than two decades after they were perpetrated, too many of us have already forgotten them or downgraded them.

But they were truly monstrous, as revealed in Hoess' own words, self serving although he may try to make them at times.

Something of the Nazi thinking can be gleaned from his righteous anger and shock at the fact that guards at the concentration camp stole from the loot which had been conciscated for the state from prisoners before they were herded into gas chambers and stripped from their bodies (gold teeth, etc.) after they were burned. This, to him, was a truly dastardly crime. The wholesale murder of millions of innocent people, including helpless women and children, was to him, in retrospect, perhaps somewhat regrettable and unwise, but fully justified on his part as "in the line of duty."

The book shows why some of our more thoughtful people are so aroused and alarmed when neo-Nazism raises its ugly head today, even in isolated and seemingly miniscule incidents.

The book opens when Nazism was just such a minor fester in Germany—and follows through the wave of almost unbelievable butchery and brutality that resulted when public indifference and even indulgence permitted it to spread instead of nipping it at the bud.

Even those of us opposed to capital punishment cannot help but feel some inner satisfaction from the knowledge that Hoess and many of his cohorts did pay the supreme penalty for their crimes. It is less satisfying to know that others not only survived, but in a number of cases have even regained places of influence in their homeland and in other countries.

The translation is by Constantine FitzGibbon. There is an excellent introduction by Lord Russell of Liverpool. Several pages of photos are included, but tell less starkly than Hoess' words the terrors inflicted on the persecuted by the "master race."

IT'S A BIG JOKE to their offspring when mother and father, played by Kathy Frillson and Scott Holmes, are touched by a magic music box and forced to dance and dance. Giggling son and daughter in foreground are Christian Doughty and Linda Trieber. The youngsters are rehearsing at the Southern Marin Recreation Center for tonight's presentation of "The Musical Box."

TWO DRAMA CLASSES have been meeting at the center since January. The older group will present "Shady Shadows" tonight. Here Nip and Tuck, played by Linda McClure and Carolyn Talbott, have succeeded in tricking their shadows (portrayed by Eileen Fordyce and Elizabeth Green), and are about to run off, leaving the luckless shadows behind to do the chores.

PAUL KRAUS, who plays the role of a policeman in "The Musical Box," gets some last-minute costume adjustments by director Mrs. Irene Pritzker of Mill Valley in preparation for tonights double feature children's theater program. The curtain will go up at the recreation center at 7:30 p. m. Children's dramatics marks still another new activity at the always busy rec center.

It's Something New At The Rec Center

By CORENA GREEN

Not content with such varied classes as jujitsu, swimming, fencing, bridge, tennis and ancient Polynesian dancing, the Southern Marin Recreation Center has plunged into the field of cihldren's dramatics.

At a result two plays have been readied and are being presented at the center tonight as part of the opening day's festivities.

Directed by Mrs. Irene Pritzker of Mill Valley, the classes have been meeting weekly since January. Two groups have been organized, one for first through third graders, and another for fourth through eighth. Each group will present a play.

Between the plays an olio number, A. A. Milne's classic, "The King's Breakfast," will be presented by Bruce and Allen Bitter, twin sons of the George Bitters.

"The Musical Box" is the play chosen by the younger group. It is the story of a group of woodsprites, led by Mickety Midge who are locked in a chest for 300 years. When released by a small boy, they are so grateful they give him a wonderful music box which makes everyone it touches dance.

George Berticevich plays the role of Mickety Midge and his fellow woodsprites are Corinne Del Mar, Michele Gerdine, Bruce and Allan Bitter, Judy Ellman, Cindy and Manny Osborn and Christy Wise.

The older group will present "Shady Shadows" which is about the mischievous antics of two shadows who are forced into doing the household chores and homework of their human counterparts.

Nip and Tuck, the boy and girl, are played by Linda McClure and Carolyn Talbot. The shadows are Eileen Fordyce and Elizabeth Green.

Mrs. Pritzker has a varied background of drama activities in Marin County. She has worked with the Junior Theater of Marin since its inception 12 years ago including the Sausalito, Mill Valley, Ross-Kentfield, and Belvedere-Tiburon units. In December she directed "The Emperor's New Clothes" produced by the Belvedere-Tiburon unit.

For the first year of Music for Minors she created "Symphony Gilda in Orchestra Land." By means of puppets projected in a screen she illustrated the various instruments in the orchestra.

She has performed with most of the Little Theater groups in the county including Ross Valley, Masquers, Sausalito Little Theater, Mill Valley Light Opera and the Cove Players. She specializes in character roles such as Mrs. Feely in "Suds in your Eyes" which the Cove Players produced.

Tonight's performance will start at 7:30 p.m. and members and guests are welcome to attend to watch the junior thespians.

Senate Sends Rights Measure Back To House

Basic Provisions Unaltered As Bill Wins 71-18 Passage

WASHINGTON (AP) — The civil rights bill was back on the House's doorstep today after being passed by the Senate 71-18.

House leaders of both parties are expected to urge the House to accept the changes made by the Senate in the embattled measure, none of which substantially altered its basic provisions.

This would speed final action by avoiding the necessity of having to set up a Senate-House Conference Committee to compromise the differences.

But even if the House does concur in the Senate amendments, the outlook is that this will not be done until some time after Easter.

In ali probability the measure will have to run the gauntlet of the House Rules Committee, headed by Rep. Howard W. Smith (D-Va.), a longtime foe of civil rights measures.

Passage of the bill by the Senate Friday night climaxes a battle that began Feb. 15 and included more than a week of sessions around the clock.

The only senators who voted against passage were the 18 Southern Democrats who had fought it relentlessly week after week. Recorded for it were 42 Democrats and 29 Republicans.

Shortly before final passage, the Dixie forces made a last-ditch effort to send the bill back to the Senate Judiciary Committee for more hearings. The vote against the proposal was 70-19.

The measure embodies most, but not all, of President Eisenhower's civil rights proposals, although not exactly as he recommended them.

Eisenhower was described by Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois earlier in the week as "quite happy" with the bill.

South Africa Premier Shot After Race Speech

White Farmer Nabbed At Cattle Contest Fair

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) — Premier Hendrik F. Verwoerd was shot twice in the head at point-blank range today as he stood on a speaker's platform to defend South Africa's white supremacy policy. Emergency treatment failed to remove the bullets.

His assailant, a white farmer, shouted, "God help me!" as he pulled the trigger of his Belgian .32-caliber pistol.

Verwoerd's wife, Elizabeth, on the platform with him, collapsed when she saw him slump backward into a chair, blood streaming from his right ear and cheek. But she recovered and cradled his head in her arms while waiting for his removal to a hospital.

The 58-year-old premier was reported conscious and in "satisfactory" condition. His palate was pierced and his jaw broken by the slug that struck his cheek.

His assailant, David Pratt of Pietersburg, was overpowered by spectators at the annual trade fair in Milner Park and was hustled out to a police car.

Finance Minister T. E. Donge, next ranking man in the government, considered calling an emergency session of parliament.

There were no disorders. A driving rain cleared the streets of Johannesburg within 15 minutes of the shooting.

Verwoerd, a burly, 215-pound man standing 6 feet 1, was behind a waist-high podium at the fair, passing out cups to prizewinners in a cattle contest.

He had just spoken for 30 minutes on his controversial apartheid race segregation policies which he helped impose as a native affairs minister in the cabinet of late Premier Daniel F. Malan and which he carried forward in his own government despite protests abroad and African native demonstrations at home.

"We shall not be killed. We shall fight for our existence," he said. "We shall survive."

Emil Pohli, 63, Dies; Marin Civic Leader

Emil E. Pohli, 63, a retired U.S. Navy officer, Marin civic leader and real estate man for nearly 25 years, died in his sleep last night at his home, 29 Roosevelt avenue, Mill Valley.

His wife, Maude E. Pohli, found him dead at 9 a.m. today when she went to awaken him. He had not complained of feeling ill earlier, nor did he have a known heart condition.

Pohli lived in Mill Valley as a child. After his Naval retirement he returned to Marin, and formed a real estate partnership in 1936 with Assemblyman Richard H. McCollister. Two years later they decided to set up separate organizations.

In addition to his wife, Pohli is survived by two sons, Capt. Emil Pohli Jr., U.S. Air Force (Ret.), living in Dallas, Tex., and Lt. Richard R. Pohli, USN, in Japan, and two grandchildren.

Pohli was a native of San Francisco. His parents came to this country from Europe. His father at one time was principal of the Lytton Springs Military Academy in Sonoma County, and later became official shorthand reporter for Judge U.S. Webb in San Francisco, who encouraged him to become an attorney.

The elder Pohli moved his family to Marin just one day before the San Francisco earthquake in 1906.

Emil was graduated from Lowell High School in San Francisco, then shipped out to sea as a deck boy on a steam lumber schooner.

He enlisted in the Navy in 1917 and was commissioned an ensign. Later he was promoted to lieutenant (j.g.) while making five round trips to France on a troopship.

After the war he served on

New director

Directors Fill Vacancy On Hospital Board

Allan M. Chambliss of 15 Prospect avenue, San Anselmo, last night was appointed and sworn in as a new director of Marin County Hospital Board to replace William H. Thomas who resigned last month.

The term of office Chambliss will fill runs until 1962.

"I feel it is a great honor to be asked and am pleased to serve such a worthwhile community endeaver" Chambliss said.

Chambliss and his wife, the former Doris Newell, have resided in Marin County since 1944. They have three children, Mrs. William Bossart of Davis, Anne Chambliss of San Francisco and Lane Chambliss an eighth grade student at the Marin County Day School.

Chambliss a 1933 graduate of the U. S. Naval Academy took a master of science degree from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1939. Since 1955 he has been president of the Marshall-Newell Supply Co., San Francisco.

He is past president of the Marin County Schools Assn. and served as a member of the Board of Trustees of the San Anselmo School for seven years.

'White Paper' Says U.S. Might Outweighs Russ

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Defense Department contended today in a "white paper" that America's bombers give the United States overwhelming superiority in total military strength despite Russia's advantage in missiles.

The document, being circulated among 600 business leaders, was unusually frank in conceding the Soviets have been allowed to take the missile lead but in defense of this strategy, it added:

"This country could have turned out almost any number of missiles it wished.

Sound strategic reasoning led us to choose not to produce as many of the first-generation, fixed site, liquid-fueled missiles as we estimated the Soviets could produce."

The white paper apparently was designed to ward off political critiscism of the defense program. It was written in letter form by Oliver M. Gale, special assistant to defense Secretary Thomas S. Gates Jr.

Assertions in the 17-page document included these:

America's land and sea-based bombers represent "many thousands of megatons of nuclear potential." If the "many" in the statement were as many as 20, that would be the explosive equivalent of one million Hiroshima bombs.

The early Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile bases will be "soft (surface) targets" which could be knocked out by a nuclear near-miss. "Even the later Atlas bases will be in fixed positions well known to the Soviets, who can take whatever time they need to make sure their missiles are zeroed on these sites."

A B52 bomber "can deliver many times the explosive potential of the Atlas, with greater accuracy and selectivity . . . for us—at present and in the immediate future — the bomber is a far better delivery method."

America's 14 aircraft carriers, "several of which are deployed about the periphery of the Soviet Union," support aircraft which "alone outnumber the heavy bombers of the Soviet Union."

America is preparing to maintain bombers on an airborne alert "for limited periods when international storm signals indicate that such action would be prudent rather than merely provocative . . . even now we have a small number of planes in the air at all times —with weapons and assigned targets."

Schoonmaker Acquires Boat Firm

A. G. Schoonmaker Co. Inc. of Sausalito, manufacturers of diesel engines, has acquired a Sausalito boat building firm, Aeromarine Plastics Corp., president T. L. Schoonmaker announced today.

Aeromarine, manufacturers of the Bounty II sloop, Bountyawl and the Triton line of fiber glass boats, will continue to expand its present line, as well as other diversified industrial and defense items, Schoonmaker said.

Schoonmaker acquires the stock interest now held by Frederick M. Coleman, Aeromarine vice president, and Vincent S. Lazzara, mid-western distributor for the Aeromarine line.

I-J CONTEST

How Do You Count Noses? Here Are Population Tips

So you think you'd like to win $100 or more in the Independent-Journal's County Wide Census Contest, but you don't know where to start?

It's easy! All you do is guess the closest of any entry to the population of Marin County, as determined by the 1960 census now going on, and you win a $100 merchandise order.

Then you guess closest to the population of the town in which you live and you win a $25 merchandise order.

Then you guess the closest to the total circulation of the Independent-Journal on April 30, 1960, and you win another $25 merchandise order.

That's $150 worth of prizes you can win if you live in a city. If you don't, you can only win $125. But there'll be a $25 prize for some lucky winner in every one of the 10 incorporated cities of Marin.

How will you know about where to guess? Of course we don't know the final answers yet ourselves, but here are some statistics which might help you make your estimate:

The San Francisco Bay Area Council estimates that as of the first of this year, the population of Marin County was 150,700. But the California Taxpayers Association says it was only 142,600.

Just to confuse things further, Marin Industrial Development Foundation set the Jan. 1 population at 148,000, while the Bay Area Rapid Transit District says it will be 153,000 by July 1 this year.

In June last year, the reliable Marin County Planning Department estimated the 1960 county population in this range: low 150,100; medium 157,920; high 162,825.

Now do those figures help you?

But how about the cities?

All of the cities in the county except Sausalito have had recent special censuses. And we have two recent estimates on Sausalito's residents. The first was 6,200 in 1958 but the second, made just this year by the State Department of Finance, was only 5,700.

The other cities and their special census figures are:

In 1954, Ross 2,402 and Fairfax 4,628; in 1955 San Anselmo 10,466; in 1956 San Rafael 16,526; in 1957 Belvedere 1,767, Corte Madera 4,164, Mill Val-

SAUSALITO . . . CARL WOOLEY
Tells His Aims As Councilman

"I think it is high time we in Sausaliti get our feet on the ground and take a plain common sense approach to our problems, relying on Sausalitans to protect our people, their homes, investments, and businesses. We cannot dodge the issue by calling in so-called experts from outside, whose chief interest is in the fees we pay them. We cannot turn back the clock, nor conjure up the sleepy village of long ago, but we can help Sausalito grow up in a sane and orderly manner."

IN JUNE Linda Yates and Robert Lowry (above) will exchange marriage vows. The twenty-fifth day of the Month of Brides has been set as the date of the wedding. The ceremony will take place at the First Presbyterian Church in San Anselmo. (Photo by Carl Sandahl)

Linda Yates To Be Married To Robert Lowry June 25

Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds J. Yates of San Anselmo are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Linda, to Robert Lowry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy I. Lowry of San Rafael.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School and attended College of Marin. She is a member of Bethel 48, Job's Daughters and employed at the First National Bank of San Rafael. James Yates of San Rafael is her only brother.

Bob, a graduate of San Rafael High School and College of Marin, is employed by Michael Ryan of San Francisco, marine architect and engineer. The future benedict was a member of Niram at college and belongs to Marin Chapter 19 of DeMolay and Marin Lodge, F and A.M. He has two sisters, Mrs. Alfred Store of Glenwood, Minn. and Mrs. Russell Driskell of Lewiston, Calif.

The wedding will take place on June 25 at the First Presbyterian Church of San Anselmo with the Rev. Robert Clapham officiating. A reception at the church will follow the nuptials at which Susan Clow of Lodi will be maid of honor. Bridesmaids will be Christine Godfredsen of San Rafael and Nancy Lowe, a student at Lewis and Clark College in Portland, Ore. David Carbine of San Rafael will be best man and guests will be escorted to their pews by Bob's nephew, Fred Store of Glenwood, Minn. and Ray Dwelly Jr. of Novato.

Calenders Announce Daughter's Birth

Mr. and Mrs. Richard S. Calender of Belvedere announce the birth of a daughter April 6 at Marin General Hospital. The baby has been named Leslie Jane. She has a two-year-old sister Kimberly and a six-year-old brother Steven.

Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Lester Calender of Mill Valley. Dr. and Mrs. Fred Schlichter of Santa Paula, Calif., are the maternal grandparents.

MARIN'S SOCIAL WHIRL

Easter Breakfast Pleasant Tradition

By FLORENCE DONNELLY

It was 25 years ago when Dr. and Mrs. Edmund Mahon began the gracious custom of Easter breakfasts. That was when they lived in San Francisco and their daughter, Judy, was a year old. For the past eight years their home has been in Mill Valley and there they will entertain at the traditional event a week from tomorrow with Judy as an assistant hostess. The Mahons issued invitations to more than a hundred friends in poetic fashion, beginning "In Spring, a young man's fancy, In Spring, the Mahons get 'antsy'" and concluding with the wishful thought, "Oh, No it just couldn't, it wouldn't rain on Easter Day," If the weather is pleasant guests will enjoy their ham and eggs and hot cakes, in the garden near the swimming pool.

SEEKING warmer weather, Mrs. Norman B. Livermore flew south yesterday. In Santa Barbara she was joined by her sister, Mrs. Clifford Mallory, and they went on to Phoenix, Ariz., where they'll stay at Casa Blanca Inn for three weeks.

EASTER IN MEXICO will be enjoyed by Mr. and Mrs. John Lesoine and their son, Bob, cadet at San Rafael Military Academy who is now on vacation. They flew to Mexico yesterday and will divide their time between Mexico City and Acapulco and places of interest nearby.

Florence Lesoine has a busy month ahead as she is president of the Mothers Club of the academy which has its benefit on April 27 and she is Marin ticket chairman for the Black and White Ball on April 22. Before the Ball she and John are entertaining at a cocktail party and buffet dinner.

EUROPE IS THE destination of a number of Marin county couples, among these the Paul Marrins and Dr. and Mrs. Thurlow Jaegeling. The Marrins are flying the polar route, leaving on April 19, going to England, Ireland and all the countries on the continent except Russia. They will be home by mid-July. The exact date cannot be determined now as they may return by ship.

The end of July, the Jaegelings will be leaving for Europe. They'll be away about a month. Their principal objective is the Passion Play at Oberammergau.

FOR THE ORIENT Mrs. Stuart Rogers of Tiburon will leave on Friday by jet. She'll fly to Honolulu, Japan, Formosa, Hong Kong, Macao, the Philippines, Thailand, Cambodia and then back to Honolulu where Mr. Rogers will join her for an indefinite stay.

FAREWELLS are not in order for the Paul Nedermans who moved from Greenbrae to Hillsborough yesterday. They promise their many friends here they "shall return," just when, of course, they are not certain. In September Paul and Edie are leaving for Europe where he will attend to business matters for Regan Industries (he's chairman of the board). They'll be away several months but until then they will be in the home they have rented at 625 Darrell Road in Hillsborough and they hope their Marin friends will drop in to see them when on the Peninsula.

IN PALM SPRINGS for three or four weeks are Mr. and Mrs. William Schulz of San Rafael. Bill has just retired as supervising examiner in the Northern Division of Savings and Loan of the State of California. He had been with the department for 29 years and nine months. In his honor the office staff gave him a dinner at the Domino Club Among the dignitaries present was Frank J. Mackin, savings and loan commissioner. The Green Room of the Fairmont Hotel was the setting for a surprise dinner given for Bill by representatives of Savings and Loans Industries. In addition to a handsome plaque, he and Marie were given a 21" color television set.

A BON VOYAGE party was the luncheon at which Mrs. LeRoy Page of Ross was the hostess yesterday at the Meadow Club. Guests of honor were Mrs. John Olson of San Rafael, mother of Mrs. Rudy D. Lang, and Mrs. George Stocksleth of San Francisco. The two are sailing aboard the "Lurline" on May 1 for three weeks' vacation in the Hawaiian Islands.

AT THE BEACH house of Dr. and Mrs. Lorne Tanner of Paradise Cove a bridge luncheon was given yesterday by Mrs. Tanner and Mrs. Carl Hoppe. Guest of honor was Mrs. Edwin Hoppe who with her husband had come from Wauwatosa, Wis., to visit their son, Carl Hoppe of Belvedere and his wife, over Easter.

REMEMBER when will undoubtedly be an oft repeated phrase tomorrow when James L. Heynemann hosts a party for former classmates at the Pacific Heights Grammar School in San Francisco. Jim's father had a home on Washington street then, (the property was later sold to Adolph Sprecklels) the children of the Western Addition went either to the Pacific Heights School or the Grant School on Pacific Avenue. That was more than 50 years ago. Among those attending the party from Marin will be Lester Ferguson, Mrs. Elsa Cellarius Woolams, who became notable in the musical world and Mrs. Edna Halloran. Over from San Francisco will come a large group including Engracia Critcher Freyer, now a widow, who, Jim says, was the most beautiful debutante he had ever seen.

On Monday Mrs. Heynemann and son, Jim, who will be graduated this year from Lick-Wilmerding are leaving for the east to visit some of the Ivy League colleges and medical colleges so that Jim, whose ambition is to be a plastic surgeon, can decide where he would like to continue his education. Mr. Heynemann with daughter, Ruth, and several of her young friends, will go to the snow country to do some skiing during Easter week

COMPARING notes at a jam session today at Sam's in Tiburon are about 20 young women, who have been modeling in the top flight fashion shows in the Bay Area over a period of years. One of the models, Mrs. H. R. Davis (Alice O'Hara) of Sausalito thought it would be fun to get the gals together. She is back here after an absence of 10 years during which she lived in various parts of the United States and in Europe with her Army colonel husband. With two other models, Carolyn Lindstrom (Mrs. Edward) and Lorraine Murphy (Mrs. John) also of Marin she compiled the list of names inviting the girls to a luncheon in the Blue Room at Sam's. Also invited were Jeanne Romey, Dorothy Charles, Fay Bonbright of Marin. Nearly 20 models responded to the "call" and it looks like the affair will become an annual event.

Announcement was made Saturday at a family birthday party in the Greenbrae home of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Cummings of the engagement of their daughter, Nancy, a junior at Stanford University, to John Lawrence, son of the William B. Lawrences' of Amarillo, Texas. John is graduating in June from Stanford, and will be studying for his doctorate in philosophy at Princeton University in the fall. He has two brothers, David Lawrence of Boston, Mass. and Ben Lawrence of Amarillo.

Nancy is a graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School where she was its first representative abroad in the American Field Service program. She has a younger sister, Mary, a freshman at Stanford, and is the niece of the Douglas Cummings of Mill Valley and of Kenneth Adams of Berkeley.

No definite plans for the wedding have been made.

Miss Ronning Feted At Lunch-Shower

A sparkling spring day set the mood for the party given recently at the home of Mrs. Henry Picard in Kent Woodlands, honoring Joanne Ronning of Mill Valley, fiancee of Robert E. Long of Sausalito. Cohostesses at the luncheon and bridal shower were Mrs. Picard and Mrs. James G. Hamilton.

The guests assembled in the spacious living room for a champagne toast to the future bride. The focal point of the buffet luncheon was an exquisite floral arrangement in yellow tones and exotic leaves placed against an antique gold fan. Places were set at small tables which carried out yellow tones with baskets of yellow flowers and leaves as centerpieces.

Following lunch the guests chatted in the lovely gardens surrounding the pool. Later everyone returned to the living room to view a long table covered with a handsome pale yellow cloth on which Mrs. Picard and Mrs. Hamilton had placed a tank of yellow flowers and the gaily wrapped gifts for Joanne. Over it was a yellow parasol from which "floated" white doves.

Among those at the party were Mrs. Howard Ronning, mother of the bride-elect, Mrs. Edwin S. Long, mother of the future benedict; Mrs. Edward Spread, Miss Hilda Eggeling and Mrs. Glen Anderson of San Francisco; Mrs. Robert Bernheim (Linda Fromhagen) of Belvedere; Mrs. Paul Ciampi and Mrs. Charles Stoffer of San Rafael; and from Sausalito: Mesdames Walter Beatie, John Churchill, William Fromhagen, Hal B. Fletcher, John H. Pomeroy, Henry Barg, John Koenig Sr., Harry Mohler, Carl Urbutt, John Partridge, Knowles Hall, Frank B. Williams, Victor Wollman, Thomas Wiper and Miss Lillian Moses.

GRANDPAS PUT ON THE PARTY

When little Gigia Bjorn, daughter of the Robert Bjorns of Fairfax, celebrated her first birthday on Sunday at the San Rafael home of her paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Bjorn it was her two grandfathers who really put on the party. Her maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Vicent Giovannoni of Ross and it was he who baked the birthday cake. The senior Mr. Bjorn set and decorated the birthday table.

The beautiful Italian table cloth was from the home of the senior Mrs. Bjorn's mother at Briante Villa near Genoa in Italy. Also at the party were the baby's aunt, Barbara Giovannoni, the senior Mrs. Bjorn's sister, Mrs. Ray Buckman, who came from Santa Rosa for the celebration, and Mrs. William Reeder and son, Ronny, and Mrs. Charles Zericle and daughter Debby.

Back From South

Couples Club To Meet On April 11

The regular gathering of the Couples Club of the San Rafael Presbyterian Church, will be held on Monday, April 11 at 6:30 p.m. in the Geneva room of the church. A pot-luck dinner will be served at 7:00. The meeting will feature "The Easter Bonnet." The club is open to all ages of the Christian faith. Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Robert Nelson. The last gathering was a success, with more than 50 couples attending. The speaker was Reverend W. C. Baker, with his pictures of Russia, which he had photographed.

At the meeting officers for the coming year were introduced. These are: Mr. and Mrs. Ken McKenzie, president and vice president; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bruster, secretary-treasurer; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Nelson, reservation chairmen; Mr. and Mrs. John Semorile, program chairmen; Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Rattenbury, host-hostess chairmen; Mr. and Mrs. Philip Parkinson, publicity chairmen.

Tea Party Cancelled

The Northgate Group's Silver Tea, previously announced for April 21 as the inaugural event in the newly redecorated Caroline S. Livermore room at the Marin Art and Garden Center, has been indefinitely postponed it was announced today by Mrs. Edward J. Ruff, president.

Secretaries Seminar Slated On April 30

The highlight of Secretaries Week (April 24-30) in San Francisco will be the fifth annual seminar for secretaries to be held at the Downtown Center, San Francisco State College, 540 Powell Street, Saturday, April 30.

The slogan for the all-day session, which starts at 8:30 a.m., and will run into late afternoon is "Your Job—An Opportunity For Service," according to Patricia O'Dea, president of the Golden Gate Chapter, National Secretaries Association, which is sponsoring the seminar.

"Typing ability and shorthand are not enough in today's business world," Miss O'Dea said. "The successful secretary must be alert to the changing requirements in secretarial training and to the need for constantly up-dating her knowledge of office procedures."

Secretaries from throughout Northern California are invited to participate in the Seminar, according to Miss O'Dea.

Castro Wrecking Ideals Of Revolution, Ike Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower says longtime friends of Cuba feel the ideals of its revolution are being betrayed by the government of Fidel Castro.

His frank appraisal was contained Friday in a long letter to Chilean students who had criticized U.S. policies toward Cuba during Eisenhower's visit to Chile.

(In Havana, the semi-official newspaper "Revolucion" said Eisenhower's "words reveal the aggression being prepared against Cuba." The newspaper referred to Eisenhower's letter, calling it a "bad-intentioned pronouncement" made in an "imperious, overbearing tone," according to United Press International.)

The Chilean students had written to Eisenhower that they thought the U.S. had coddled Latin-American dictators and had not done enough to promote democracy and provide economic aid.

Eisenhower briefly mentioned the criticism in a speech during his Chilean visit, and promised a detailed reply. The 14-page letter, transmitted through the American ambassador in Chile, was that reply. In it, the President sought to clear up what he felt were misconceptions about U.S. policies in Latin America.

"Unfortunately," the letter said, "recent incidents in Cuba make it quite clear that it is dangerous for anyone there to voice opinions which do not conform with the government policy."

He said the United States has a standing policy of not interfering in Cuban internal affairs and that no administration official has ever made public statements unfriendly toward Cuba or its people.

"It is regretted that the same cannot be said for the leaders of the Cuban government who seem to have intentionally made derogatory and most hostile statements regarding the U.S. government and people, designed to disrupt our traditionally amicable relations."

Rejected Suitor Shoot Self In Front Of Beverly

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — A rejected suitor of the late Errol Flynn's playmate Beverly Aadland shot and critically wounded himself after first raping her and forcing her to play Russian roulette while holding her captive, police said.

Detective Sgt. O. K. Walker said that the 17-year-old blonde told investigators during questioning that the 20-year-old bit part actor shot himself after he attacked her.

Police said the victim, William Stanciu, forced his way into Beverly's apartment early today. He first called her and said he had shot a mutual friend and needed money to get out of town. Police had no record of a shooting.

When she wrote a check Stanciu tore it up, Beverly told Walker. Then he raped her, she said, and forced her to play Russian roulette with him. She said he pulled the trigger of a .38 caliber revolver at her head once.

Strike Over

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The actor's strike is over and the back-to-work call is out to stars and about 6,000 members of the production crews. After several suspenseful periods when agreement had seemed near, Hollywood's first strike by actors ended Friday in its 33rd day.

In 1922 he was sent to Manila to join another destroyer, the U.S.S. Borie, which was one of the first ships to reach Yokohama in the 1923 earthquake.

He met his future wife on a trip home from Shanghai on board the President Cleveland. They were married in 1925 in Mill Valley Episcopal Church.

In 1930, Pohli became recruiting officer for Northern California and Nevada, but suffered a stroke the following year and was hospitalized for nine months. He went back to duty as a morale officer of the 12th Naval District.

Pohli was a member of Colusa Lodge 356 of the Free and Accepted Masons, Mill Valley Rotary Club and San Rafael Lodge of the B.P.O.E. He also was active in chamber of commerce, Marvelous Marin, and other organizations.

He was particularly proud of helping to block the establishment of an ammunition base at Paradise Cove. He also sparked establishment of the Southern Marin Sanitary District, which was formed by the voters, but rejected again when they refused to pass a bond issue for construction of facilities.

Last Spring Pohli and his wife took a cruise to the Orient where they visited their younger son and his family in Japan.

Pohli loved the out-of-doors, hiking and fishing. He was an active member of Ducks Unlimited.

FRANK LLOYD WRIGHT CREATION IN TEXAS

Novato's special census which was completed less than a month ago, had an official population count of 17,942.

So there you have a bunch of clues as to how big Marin's 10 cities are now.

Two Die As Fire Guts Apartment

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Two merchant seamen were killed last night when fire swept through a three-story mission district flat.

Twenty other residents of the building and a structure next door fled in night clothes.

The victims were Frank O. Waters, 48, and William Olney, 46. Walters was found unconscious near the door of the apartment and died a short while later.

THURSDAY IS DEADLINE ON VOTER SIGNUP

Marin County voters who are not yet registered have until 9 p.m. next Thursday to sign up for the June primary election.

County Clerk George S. Jones will keep his office in the county courthouse open until 9 o'clock each night next week through April 14 for the convenience of those who want to sign up.

Various city halls, firehouses, and some stores are also open for registration in the outlying areas of the county.

AFRICA

Richter was first reported wounded, but this later was denied.

Pratt, wearing a badge identifying himself as a member of a farm committee, pushed through a security cordon around Verwoerd, saying he had urgent information for the premier.

He was let through without question. Standing before Verwoerd, he suddenly whipped out his pistol.

"God help me!" the man shouted as he leveled the pistol and fired.

Johannesburg Mayor Alec Gorschel said he and two other men on the platform leaped on the attacker, but the assailant squeezed off another shot.

Stunned by the sound of shots, others nearby stood transfixed for a moment and then surged angrily around the man.

As the attacker was being taken away, Gorschel reached down and picked up the pistol he had dropped. There were four shells still in it.

Cabinet ministers rushed to the bedside of the premier in the hospital where anxious physicians pondered ways of removing the two slugs.

"There is no brain injury," a hospital spokesman said.

"The prime minister has spoken to his doctors and understands every word being spoken to him. He has not lost consciousness for a moment."

It was the first outbreak of physical violence reported during the day in this tense country where rioting and street demonstrations have been virtually daily occurrences since March 21, when Negroes demonstrated and police at Sharpeville killed at least 72 of them.

Verwoerd, under fire by the United Nations for his segregation policies as well as by individual nations, had insisted that his way was right for South Africa, where the whites are a minority.

San Rafael Choir Slates Cantata

The cantata, The Seven Last Words of Christ by Theodore DuBois, will be presented by the chancel choir of the San Rafael Methodist Church at 5 p.m. tomorrow. Soloists will be Barbara Curtis, soprano; Jack Schneider, tenor, and Bert Bowes, bass.

Alan Villesvik is the organist and Sterling Rainey will conduct the program, to which the public is invited.

Professor's Son Takes Own Life

RICHMOND (UPI)—Steven W. Baughan, 21, son of a University of California department chairman, wrote a note saying "My life is without direction. I'm incurable" yesterday, then shot and killed himself, police said.

His father, Prof. H. Leland Baughan, chairman of the UC department of landscape architecture, found the body in the bathroom of the family home.

Services Held For Retired Marin Postmaster

Private funeral services were held yesterday for Mrs. Alice DeCamp Algar, Stinson Beach postmaster for 25 years. She died Thursday in a local hospital after a short illness.

A native of Ohio, she came to Marin County from Southern California. Her father, the late Lyman Beecher DeCamp was the first postmaster of Stinson Beach. She succeeded him in that position.

She has lived in Marin County for 40 years and was a member of the Progressive Club of Stinson Beach and a past president of the Business and Professional Women's Club of Marin County. She retired as postmaster in 1945 and moved to 116 Mission street, San Rafael, where she lived until her death.

She is survived by three sisters, Mrs. Louise Scofield of Napa, Mrs. Emma Lidell of Fresno and Mrs. Dorothy Cunningham of Stinson Beach.

The family requests that memorial contributions be tributes to the Marin County Heart Fund.

CARD OF THANKS

WORDS CANNOT ADEQUATELY EXPRESS our gratitude to those who expressed their sympathy and helpfulness to us so beautifully at the time of our recent sorrow. We especially wish to thank Keaton's Mortuary and the San Rafael Police department. Many, many thanks to all.

Former Quentin Officer Succumbs At China Camp

A 43-year-old San Rafael man collapsed and died of a heart attack early today as he was helping a friend launch a boat at China Camp, San Pedro Point, Coroner Frank J. Keaton reported.

The victim was Michael Sotak of 1348 Grand avenue, an employee of McNear's Brick Yard and a former guard at San Quentin Prison.

Sotak and James Bass of San Pedro road were attempting to launch a boat when Sotak keeled over, sheriff's deputies reported. Bass gave him artificial respiration and the San Rafael Fire Department sent a resuscitator, but he died immediately after the attack.

Sotak lived alone. According to friends, he had worked at San Quentin from 1948-51 and later was employed on the ferryboats.

Friends said his mother lives in Nesquehoning, Pa., and a sister, Mrs. John J. Ferko, lives in Phoenix, Pa. He had reportedly been planning a visit to them at the end of the month.

Emma Finnerty Dies In Hospital

Mrs. Emma I. Finnerty, 65, a registered private duty nurse for local hospitals for the past 10 years, died yesterday in a local hospital after a year's illness.

She was the wife of the late Dr. E. J. Finnerty, and moved to San Rafael from Sonoma after his death in 1950. From San Rafael she moved to 320 Via Hidalgo, Kentfield where she lived for eight years.

She is a native of Canada and is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Doris Wilhelm and Mrs. Margaret Zimmerman of Kentfield; a son Robert Finnerty of San Lorenzo, Alameda County; a sister, Mrs. Frank Young of Oakland and 10 grandchildren.

The funeral cortege will form at 9:10 a.m. Monday at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael, and then to St. Sebastian's Church, Greenbrae, where Requiem High Mass will be celebrated at 9:30 a.m. Rosary will be recited at Keaton's Chapel, 8 p.m., tomorrow. Burial will be at the Sonoma Catholic Cemtery.

The family requests that memorial contributions be tributes to the Hanna Boys Center, Sonoma and the American Cancer Society.

Funeral Held For Evelyn Maloney

Funeral services were held today for Mrs. Evelyn Maloney at the Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo. Mrs. Maloney, a resident of San Anselmo for 40 years, died yesterday in a local rest home after a long illness.

Mrs. Maloney is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Muriel V. Riordan, with whom she lived at 24 Oak avenue, San Anselmo, after Mr. Maloney's death in 1948; a son, George S. Maloney of Sacramento and two grandchildren.

We'd Like Miller's Opinions In Spirit He Asked Ours

(NOTE: Rep. Clement Miller this week circularized the residents of the seven counties of the First Congressional District with a one-sided questionaire. His biased questions, which could have been of real service to himself and the district had they been fair, has brought an outburst of resentment from the taxpayers who have to pay the postage for their distribution. Perhaps he should himself answer a questionaire like this:)

Occupant
135 House Office Building
Washington 25, D.C.

Dear Friend:

As our congressman, we would like to know your opinion on some of the issues confronting Congress this session in the same spirit as your recent questionaire to us. You will note too that this questionaire is not printed at public expense and that it is sent through the mails with postage paid.

.....1. Many people hold that federal taxation has become a crushing burden to the taxpayer. Do you favor Marin taxpayers increasing their withholding tax to pay for new schools and for teachers' salaries in states which refuse to fully tax themselves and with no regard as to whether the schools are integrated or not?

.....2. Would you favor legislation to increase availability of housing by assisting mass subdividers, jerry builders, and 10 per centers to increased activity?

.....3. Do you favor a health and hospital insurance program for elderly people which will reduce the quality of care given the oldsters?

.....4. Do you favor special legislation to guarantee farmers large profits and marketing agreements to maintain high prices of their products in the grocery store?

.....5. In terms taxpayers' dollars, the federal government and the state government are reaching new record highs in expenditure. Do you believe a still greater share of the American public's take-home pay should be devoted to public as distinct from their private purposes?

.....6. Do you favor the Democrats' use of filibusters to block civil rights legislation?

.....7. Last year 16 billion federal dollars were allocated for health, welfare and education services. Should a still larger sum be added to the tax bill for these services?

.....8. Do you feel the federal government should issue its own hunting, fishing and boat operators' licenses so as to be able to better control these outdoor recreation activities?

We are sorry we don't have as much space for questions as you did, but if you would care to comment on what you believe should be done about the problems mentioned above we'd be happy to file it.

THREE MINUTES A DAY

By JAMES KELLER

HONESTY BEGINS WITH YOU

"Attention, safecrackers! Only papers are kept in this safe. We keep our money in the bank. Thank you."

One morning, when she arrived at work, she was startled to find the safe open and $1,000 missing.

She also found that the burglars had used her own typewriter to add this short postscript to her note: "Can't read!"

Whether you are dealing with honest people or the very opposite make sure that you are honest yourself.

Do more than bemoan any dishonesty in public or private life. Become an apostle of truth.

No matter with whom you deal, remember to be scrupulously honest in all you think, say and do. You will fit yourself to be a more effective instrument in restoring divine integrity to the marketplace.

(Ephesians 4:25)

Deepen in me, O Lord, such a reverence for honesty that I may be a courageous champion of truth.

MARIN LOOKS AT POLITICS

Did Labor Split Result In Second Demo Candidate For Senate?

By CHAPIN A. DAY

Is the battle for Democratic nomination for state senator finally bringing into the open a split in Marin County labor ranks?

That's the story making the rounds following the filing by Max Miller, a San Rafael painting contractor, of his candidacy for Sen. John F. McCarthy's seat.

At first the story was that Miller was put in the race by McCarthy because of the similarity to Rep. Clement Miller's name. But that story is dying down in the face of a new one.

As this story goes, Max Miller has the backing of George R. Scott, business representative of the Painter's union and an old-time Marin labor leader.

Miller's opponent on the Democratic ticket is Charles Geller, electrician and long time secretary of the Building Trades Council, who had indicated his candidacy months ago and who has had apparent backing of both labor and his party.

Another Scott candidate, so we hear, is Walter Blair, aspirant for Mrs. Vera Schultz's seat on the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

Now labor may have no great love for Mrs. Schultz, even though she is a strong Democrat, but Blair's labor stand would hardly cause the unions to cheer.

Altogether there are some interesting stories going around.

IN SACRAMENTO last week, Senator McCarthy was sitting in a Transportation Committee meeting hearing debate on auto smog eliminators.

A Ph. D. took the stand to testify in favor of the bill to require such smog eliminators. He told of the harm smog is doing in Los Angeles. Then he turned to the Bay Area.

In San Mateo County, he reported, smog is causing millions of dollars damage in the flower industry. And across the Bay in Marin County, it is seriously harming the walnut crops. (McCarthy sat up straighter in his chair.)

Not only that, but smog is damaging Marin barley harvests and is seriously endangering its alfalfa crop.

McCarthy was practically speechless wondering why he not only had failed to learn of the great damage, but he didn't even realize Marin raised such crops.

It so happened lunch recess came just then. Instead of heading for the nearest cafe, McCarthy high tailed it over to the Agriculture Department.

When the session resumed McCarthy asked if the Ph. D. would return to the stand. The man came forward.

"Do you know that Marin County raised exactly 40 tons of walnuts last year? That there are only 10 acres of barley in the whole county? And that there isn't any alfalfa grown at all?" he asked the man. There was silence. "I just thought you'd like to know," McCarthy added.

Without saying a word, the Ph. D. got out of his chair and returned to the audience.

HAVING READ how Sen. John Kennedy is going to be favored by at least half of the California Democratic delegation after casting their ballot for favorite-son candidate Gov. Edmund G. Brown, we decided to ask the Marin delegates how they felt.

If you can believe what they say, not one of them has an idea in the world how he or she will vote when and if Brown releases them. Not only that, but they too wondered how the 50 per cent for Kennedy figure was arrived at. They said they hadn't been contacted.

Only one gave us a clue. She said she'd like to vote for Chester Bowles, but didn't think she'd get the chance. He may not be before them.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Matters Of City Must Be Public

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

I must take issue with James Lienkamper's statements in his letter to the editor of April 1.

The question that was posed to the various candidates, and I quote from the Independent-Journal of 3-29-60, was "If elected to the council will you support and work for an open minded rehearing of the case of John Raggio, with the objective of either rehiring him or finally disposing of the case?"

This question was asked by a citizen interested in bringing into the open an issue that appears most important to the city and citizens of Larkspur.

Mr. Lienkamper, among a welter of rhetoric, has lost sight of the basic issues that concern Larkspur.

Shall Larkspur have a rubber-stamp council or shall the councilmen take time to determine the facts and act as a group of intelligent, reasoning men? To ignore a problem and expect it to evaporate is a symbol of cowardice. To use the old cliche of "Opening and deepening old wounds" is the subterfuge of an uninformed person.

If Mr. Lienkamper is in possession of information that would affect John Raggio's capacity as fire chief, he should, as a public spirited citizen, make known that information. If he does not have such information he should not make insinuations and sly allegations for the purpose of making himself more attractive to the voting public.

The principal issue facing the people of Larkspur is: Do we want an open government devoted to the people or a closed, hostile group dominated by a tyro in management?

Mr. Lienkamper straddles the fence and achieves but confusion.

I do not subscribe to the philosophy: "Bury it, and if it continues to smell throw more dirt on it."

I welcome the opportunity to straightforwardly make known my feelings and position. I will not vacillate from my stated position that all matters pertaining to city government must be a matter of public record and open to the scrutiny of all.

Questions Should Not Be Loaded

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Below you will find a letter I have just mailed to Congressman Miller.

HON. CLEM MILLER
Washington, D.C.

When I received your questionnaire in the mail last night (April 4), my immediate reaction was to take pen in hand and answer your questions. I welcomed an opportunity to express my views to the congressmen from my district.

Unfortunately, my elation and enthusiasm didn't last long. When I had read the very first question, I realized that I (and, presumably, all voters in the First District of California) were faced with the frustrating task of answering questions of the "Have you stopped beating your wife?" variety.

No thanks, Mr. Congressman. If you want to ask unloaded and straight forward questions, I will be happy to reply.

One query which I had hoped to find on your list was "Do you approve of my voting affirmatively on every appropriation bill to come before Congress." It wasn't there, but let me take the liberty of answering it anyway. My answer is NO. Our local governments are still capable of determining some of our needs, so let them share your great burden.

Incidentally, I do not recall receiving the questionnaire last year. Were you too busy then to consider our views, or are we consulted only in election years?

WISCONSIN VOTING

Religious Issue Cut Two Ways In Primary

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The political issue of a man's religion cut two ways in this week's presidential preference primary.

That issue induced substantial bloc voting by Roman Catholics in favor of their fellow religionist, Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.).

Kennedy won the pockets and larger areas in Wisconsin where Catholics are predominant among the voters. Some, perhaps most, of these Catholic pockets and areas also have been rated as predominantly Republican in this historically Republican state.

THERE WAS A CUT from from the reverse edge of the religious issue. The movement of Wisconsin Republican Catholics into the Democratic primary reduced the aggregate vote of Vice Pres. Richard M. Nixon, who was unopposed in the Republican primary. Nixon was low man on the popular vote totem pole in Wisconsin.

This fact may not—probably will not—hurt Nixon much but, as the old saying goes, it certainly did not do him any good. He ran second to Kennedy in four congressional districts and third to Kennedy and Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) in the remaining seven. This in a Republican state of Wisconsin's antecedents is not glamorous.

IT IS NOT so bad, however, as to lend much if any encouragement to those relatively few Republicans who cling to the idea that they may yet nominate for president Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York.

Nixon polled 342,851 of 1,186,316 votes cast here Tuesday. He will have to do much better than that, relatively, in the Indiana primary where he and Kennedy are entered unopposed.

For Kennery, a solid test is coming up in the May 10 West Virginia primary. He will be opposed again by Humphrey. There is no substantial Catholic vote in West Virginia.

If Kennedy merely matches or falls behind Humphrey in West Virginia, the political pros will have another reason to balk his nomination:

The fear that Kennedy's religion would be a serious handicap, that Protestants might decide to do some bloc voting in November.

Is Weissich's Career As D.A. Due To Be Ended Next August?

Latest report is that Dist. Atty. William Weissich may quit his prosecutor's job by August this year to go into private practice with his former boss Al Bagshaw.

But as usual, Weissich is keeping mum about his future plans other than to say he doesn't expect to make a lifetime career out of the district attorney's job.

After all these years of chasing and prosecuting law violators, can you imagine Weissich in court trying to "spring" a suspected criminal? That's what he'll probably be doing if and when he enters private practice.

IF YOU WANT to see a pretty sight, be at the Loch Lomond harbor tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. The Coast Guard is planning a full-scale inspection of the Marin Sheriff's Marine Patrol, as uniformed members of the patrol stand at attention along with some 20 boats of their snappy fleet.

GRANDMOTHERS PROBABLY don't know it yet, but a lot of them are due to be ill next Tuesday.

That's when the San Francisco Giants open their regular season in San Francisco.

THE AUTOMATIC CLOCK and temperature gauge moved from Fourth Street to Fifth Avenue, along with the Marin County Savings and Loan Co. Police are hailing the move as an aid to traffic law enforcement.

Fifth Avenue has no-left-turns between 7 to 9 a.m. and 4 to 6 p.m. With the clock staring them in the face, there will be no excuse now for motorists to make left turns between those hours, a patrolman pointed out.

PUBLIC WORKS boss of San Rafael, Norris Rawles, has finally made the big time in professional writing. He just got a $30 check for the article he wrote on San Rafael's new street lights in the last issue of Western City magazine.

His next goal: the Pulitzer prize.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE Manager Dick Shirley has a ready answer for people who want to know: "Did you turn on the hot weather?"

Says Shirley: "We have nothing to do with management of weather. We just do the selling."

THERE'S RUMOR that the big Ralph Roy ranch and a couple of others in San Geronimo are being sold in a million dollar deal.

There's no word yet on what kind of development is being cooked up in that area.

WE WONDERED why tickets are selling so fast for "The Drunkard" to be presented April 22 and 23 at the Hamilton NCO Club. This must be the answer:

They've got a blonde, two brunettes, and a redhead in a flashy can-can number that has everyone howling during rehearsal. The chorus line includes Jetaun Fisher, Norma Martus, Eleanor Guastad, and Evelyn Friend, all of Lucas Valley.

One of them has had professional modeling experience. But the way they're rehearsing, they all look like pros already.

South African Whites Want Both Rigid Segregation, Cheap Labor

WASHINGTON (AP) — The whites of South Africa want it both ways.

1. They suppress the nonwhites, who outnumber them at least three to one, by rigid segregation and other indignities.

2. But they depend so much on the cheap, non-white labor that they beat, shoot, whip or jail those who stay away from work or encourage others to do so.

Thus the pot under which the Afrikaners started a fire is boiling. The Afrikaners are the white descendants of the early Dutch settlers. The fire began in 1948.

IN THAT YEAR the Afrikaners' Nationalist party came to power and has remained in control of the government since.

Immediately and thereafter it invoked harsh restrictions on the Negroes — about 10 million — and those of mixed blood — perhaps two million. There are three million whites.

The basic measure is apartheid, or segregation.

A Negro cannot remain in a town more than 72 hours unless he was born there or has 15 years continuous residence or 10 years of unbroken employment there.

Negro servants never live in their employers' homes. White doors are locked and burglar alarms turned on each night.

The plants and gold mines use Negro labor at wages far below what white workers would accept. Negroes can't hold skilled jobs. It is illegal for them to strike.

MORE RECENTLY the Nationalist government of Prime Minister Hendrik F. Verwoerd required Negroes to carry passes which they would have to produce on demand if they wished to move around.

Eventually two Negro organizations began to stir in protest — the Pan Africanist Congress and the African National Congress.

Last month the former called on Negroes to demonstrate against the pass system by going without passes and letting themselves be arrested and thus, by being in jail, damage the whites' economy.

The first sensational result of the Negroes' action against passes came last week when between 70 and 80 of them were shot, and perhaps 200 wounded, by police while demonstrating outside a jail at Sharpeville where many Negroes were locked up for not having passes.

That word — Sharpeville — will probably become famous or infamous in African history.

Then the two Negro organizations, as a protest against the massacre, urged Negroes to stay away from their jobs. The South African economy, already hurt by the antipass demonstrations, was now truly crippled.

THE WHITE Nationalist government, armed with all the power it needed through special laws for handling emergencies, hit back by jailing several hundred Negro leaders and, reportedly, whites who were sympathetic to them.

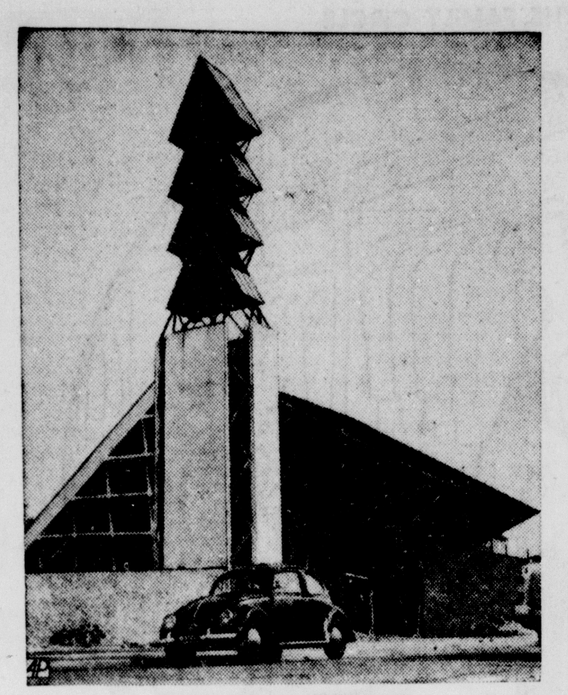
While many Negroes finally returned to their jobs, many didn't. Police moved in with guns, clubs and whips to smash those who still stayed home and away from work or encouraged others to stay.

In this moment of crisis the South African white opposition party in the government joined up with Verwoerd's white Afrikaners by voting with them for swift Senate action to outlaw the two Negro organizations.

THE UNITED Nations Security Council passed a resolution last Friday calling on the South African fovernment to abandon its segregation policy. The United States was among the nations which voted for it.

But segregation of Negroes in this country is a sensitive problem when this government deals with other countries, particularly non-white ones.

South Africa's foreign minister promptly reacted to the Security Council vote by calling it hyprocrisy. He said:



TREE-LIKE TOWER

Church Slates Services At Noon For Holy Week

St. Paul's Episcopal Church of San Rafael will hold special noon services of Holy Communion Monday through Thursday of next week. Each service, beginning at 12:10 and ending at 12:40, will be followed by the serving of coffee in the parish house for those downtown who have brought their lunch.

According to the rector, Rev. John D. Riley, the public is cordially invited to attend, especially those who take their lunch hour in San Rafael.

Hostesses in the parish house will be the following members of the Episcopal Churchwomen of St. Paul's: Mesdames Alfred C. Bach, W. F. Barck, C. W. Galley, Richard Henika, Laura Knight, L. L. Lovett, Paul E. Nielsen Jr., John C. Speh, Harold Stone, and Elmer Swanton.

DEADLINE FOR EASTER WEEK LISTINGS SET

The Independent-Journal will publish a list of Maundy Thursday and Good Friday services in Marin churches next Wednesday, and a list of special Easter services next Saturday.

For inclusion, notices of services must be received by the I-J before noon Tuesday for all such services.

Reception Of Members Scheduled

Palm Sunday services at Marin Lutheran Church tomorrow will include the reception of new members by adult baptism, confirmation and letters of transfer.

Rev. George O. Loftness, pastor of the church, will preach on the theme "Earth's Finest Hour." The carol choir, under direction of Miss Susan Moyer, will sing at the 11 a.m. worship service and the chancel choir, under direction of Mrs. Joyce O'Neill, will sing at the early service.

The reception of members will include Mrs. Carl Anderson of Larkspur; Mrs. Robert Bartram, Debra, Beverly and Bob Bartram of San Anselmo; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bowder of Lagunitas; Mr. and Mrs. Merrell Cagle of Corte Madera; Mrs. Elwood Johnson of Fairfax; Mr. and Mrs. Lee Larson and daughter, Janine, of Corte Madera; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith and daughter, Sandra, of San Anselmo.

A coffee hour after the 11 a.m. service will be held in the social hall in honor of the new members and to give the church council and other members of the church an opportunity to greet the new members.

'1 Great Hour Of Sharing' To Be Program's Theme

One great hour of sharing will be featured at both the Sunday church school hour and morning worship tomorrow at the Presbyterian Church of Santa Venetia. There will be dedication of sacrificial offerings saved during Lent for the needy of the world.

At 11 o'clock Rev. Aaron Garnet Miller will speak on "The Real Christ" and there will be baptism of infants and reception of new members.

Holy Innocents' Services Listed

Holy Innocents' Episcopal Church in Corte Madera has set this schedule of services for tomorrow: morning prayer at 7:30 a.m.; blessing of the palms and Holy Communion at 8 a.m.; Palm Sunday procession and family worship at 9:45 a.m.; solemn Palm Sunday procession and Holy Communion at 11 a.m.; baptisms at 12:30 p.m.

On Tuesday, Holy Communion will be held at 6:30 a.m.

On Wednesday, prayer chapter is scheduled for 10:15 a.m., with Holy Communion at 11:15 a.m. and ministry of healing at noon.

LUTHERAN GROUP

Holy Week Radio Programs Slated

Holy Week devotions by local Lutheran ministers will be broadcast over radio station KTIM each evening from 6 to 6:15 o'clock beginning tomorrow. The programs are being sponsored by the Lutheran Men of Marin.

The organization's president, Carl Yeager, said, "We intend these devotions to be our contribution to the observance of Holy Week in our community."

The initial devotion will be led by Rev. Ole Winter of Good Shepherd Lutheran Church, Novato. Producer of the series is Rev. Fred C. Braunschweiger of Trinity Lutheran Church, San Rafael.

A special Good Friday broadcast entitled "Journey to Calvary" will also be heard over KTIM from 12:30 to 1 p.m. on April 15. The broadcast is a unique dramatization of the happening on the first Good Friday.

Peace Church Schedules Confirmation

Fifteen youngsters are to be confirmed from Peace Lutheran Church in Mill Valley tomorrow in connection with the traditional Palm Sunday ceremonies of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod, according to publicity director Ronald Melen.

Fourteen of the youngsters will renew their baptismal vows and receive full membership in the church at Peace Church at the 11 a.m. service with Rev. Harold G. Johnson officiating.

They are:

Gary Artoux, Larry Bathgate, Lynette Busch, Paul Campomenosi, James Dehnert, Loretta Guth, Dennis Hegg, Linda Kruse, Loryne Samuelson, Cathy Smith, Deborah Tauer, Cheryl Berreman, Ronald Ringen and Wayne Tauer. They will receive their first communion on Good Friday.

John Troup, a member of the Peace Sunday School, will be confirmed at Zion Lutheran Church in San Francisco, where he attends school.

Publicity Unit Of Churches Holds Meeting

The Northern California Chapter of the National Religious Publicity Council installed officers at their annual banquet held recently at the San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo. Twenty members and guests were present.

Rev. Harry R. Koontz, retiring president, installed new officers, including Canon Richard Byfield of Mill Valley, public relations department, Episcopal Diocese of California and assistant to Bishop Pike, Grace Cathedral in San Francisco, as vice president; Mrs. Leslie Luergan, San Anselmo, public relations department, Presbyterian Seminary, San Anselmo, as secretary; W. H. Taylor, Mill Valley, public relations and information, San Francisco, to serve another term as treasurer.

Speaker was John Little, provost, Presbyterian Seminary, San Anselmo, who spoke on: "A Layman Looks at the Ministry."

St. Raphael's Sets Special Services

St. Raphael's Catholic Church will hold the blessing of the palms service at 6:45 a.m. tomorrow in the mission chapel, followed by a procession to the main church for a high mass, starting at 7.

The palms will be distributed at all masses and at a holy hour at 4 p.m.

Next Wednesday, masses will be held at 6:30, 7:30 and 8:15 a.m., with confessions from 3:30 to 6 p.m. and at 7:30 p.m. Rosary, instruction and benediction will be held at 7:45 p.m.

Walter Mails To Talk To Church Group

Walter Mails, one of the all-time greats of baseball and now publicity director for the San Francisco Giants, will be guest speaker at the Annual Lenten Communion Breakfast to be held by the Holy Name Society of St. Anselm's parish, San Anselmo, tomorrow.

The men and high school boys of the society will receive Holy Communion in a body at the 8 o'clock mass. The breakfast will follow at the Mission Inn, San Rafael.

The group's new officers will be officiating. They are: Joseph Murray, president; Matt Carroll, vice president; Lawrence Fallon, secretary, and Frank Sousa, treasurer.

Church Slates Mission Rally Tomorrow

Rev. Calvin Hibbard and wife, members of the Calvary Baptist Church, Larkspur, will be at the church for all day missionary rally tomorrow.

They have been working as missionaries in Peru with the Wycliffe Bible Translators, and are on furlough. The Hibbards will be speaking at the various Sunday services, 9:45 and 11 a.m. and 6:30 and 7:30 p.m.

There will be a fellowship dinner following the morning service.

Novato Minister Sets Sunday Sermon Topic

Rev. Lawrence H. Doyle of the Community Methodist Church, Novato, will take as his sermon topic tomorrow, "Happy are those who have suffered persecution for the cause of goodness, for the kingdom of heaven is theirs."

A concert by the choir, directed by Don Stensrud, will feature the 8 p.m. vesper service.

Easter Week Chimes

Northwestern Savings and Loan Company's chimes will ring out from Monday to Friday of Holy Week between the hours of 1 p.m. to 1:45 p.m. in a program of sacred music over radio station KTIM. There will also be a short Lenten meditation each day by a different pastor of the central Marin area.

Today is Saturday, April 9th, the 100th day of the year, with 266 more to follow in 1960.

The moon is approaching its full phase.

The morning stars are Mercury, Mars, Jupiter and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1928, New Yorkers were shocked by the debut of a raucous actress named Mae West in a risque new play entitled "Diamond Lil."

In 1942, American and Filipino forces on Bataan in the Philippine Islands were overwhelmed by the Japanese Army.

A thought for today: British Prime Minister Winston Churchill said: "In war, resolution; in defeat, defiance; in victory, magnanimity; in peace, good will."

Scribes Pick Giants, Mays, Jones To Dominate League

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The San Francisco Giants, heavy favorites to win the National League pennant, also will have the league's most valuable player in Willie Mays and the winningest pitcher in Sam Jones, according to the nation's baseball writers.

In an annual pre-season poll, compiled by The Associated Press today, 169 members of the Baseball Writers Assn. of America also selected Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees as the American League's probable MVP and Bob Shaw of the pennant-favored Chicago White Sox as the winningest pitcher.

The writers, who picked San Francisco, Milwaukee and the world champion Los Angeles Dodgers 1-2-3 in the 1960 N.L. pennant race, selected Mays over Hank Aaron of the Braves by approximately a 3-2 margin in the MVP balloting. Ernie Banks of the Chicago Cubs, who won an unprecedented second consecutive MVP award in the official N.L. writers' vote last year, was ranked third in the poll.

Mays led with 60 votes. Aaron collected 42 and Banks 11 as the writers nominated 15 players in the AP poll.

Mantle, already a two-time American League MVP winner, drew 32 votes, compared to 29 by the White Sox' Nellie Fox, last year's official winner. Rocky Colavito of the Cleveland Indians polled 23 votes.

The writers picked Jones as the big winner of the N.L. season by a decided margin over Don Drysdale of Los Angeles, Warren Spahn of Milwaukee and Sad Sam's teammate, Johnny Antonelli. Jones drew 35 votes, Drysdale 22, Spahn 21 and Antonelli 20.

Among pitchers in the American League, where the writers predicted another Chicago, Cleveland, New York finish, Shaw had a 34-20 vote edge over teammate Early Wynn.

The N.L. pennant poll showed 1—San Francisco, 2—Milwaukee, 3—Los Angeles, 4—Pittsburgh, 5—Cincinnati, 6—St. Louis, 7—Chicago, 8—Philadelphia. In the A.L. it was: 1—Chicago, 2—Cleveland, 3—New York, 4—Detroit, 5—Baltimore, 6—Kansas City, 7—Boston, 8—Washington.

Willie McCovey's three-run homer was the big blast of a five-run eighth inning that demolished the Giants' California rivals.

Don Drysdale, who will pitch the National League opener in Los Angeles Tuesday night against the Chicago Cubs, held the Giants to three scattered singles the first four innings. He walked none and struck out six, including Mays, Willie Kirkland, Jim Davenport and McCovey.

But the Giants nicked Clem Labine for one run and then hammered Johnny Klippstein for five more in a big eighth inning, and before young Ed Rakow bailed him out Don Blasingame had singled, Jim Davenport doubled, there was a walk and McCovey blasted the ball over the centerfield fence. When Orlando Cepeda doubled, Rakow was called in. Kirkland's bounder took a bad hop and Cepeda scored. Singles by Mays and Kirkland and a wild pitch gave the Giants still another run in the ninth.

The Dodgers teed off on Giant starter Johnny Antonelli in the first inning as Charlie Neal singled and rookie Frank Howard poled a homer far over Mays' head in center. The ball cleared the fence with lots to spare, carrying more than 425 feet on the fly. Tom Davis and Jim Gilliam singled in the third inning and with the aid of an infield out the Dodgers had their third run. That was all their scoring, however, for Ramon Monzant and Billy O'Dell kept them in check the rest of the way.

Hogan's Hot, Looks Ready To Take Lead In Masters

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—The rules-dizzy Masters Golf Tournament went into the third round today with a familiar and unnerving shadow hovering over the field — that of the Texas hawk, Ben Hogan.

"The little man is on the move again," they said around the Augusta National Course after the 47-year-old Hogan fired a brilliant four-under-par 68 to move into contention. Hogan has been in semi-retirement for five years.

Pre-tournament favorite Arnold Palmer still leads the pack with a 140—thanks to a series of weird legalistic procedures—but Ben was right behind with three others at 141.

One of these was Dow Finsterwald, who would have had first place all to himself except for a bizarre retroactive two-stroke penalty slapped on by the rules committee. The others were Claude Harmon, a portly club professional from Mamaroneck, N.Y., and Walter Burkemo, pug-faced former PGA champion.

CLOSE RACE

The field was so closely packed that the top 17 were bunched within 4 shots of each other and only 10 shots separated Palmer from the last-place man of the 45 survivors.

Behind Finsterwald, Hogan, Harmon and Burkemo at 142 came Ken Venturi, who finally managed to shoot the back nine of the Augusta National Course under par. Don January and Casper, Billy Maxwell, Gary Player, Julius Boros and amateur Deane Beman were grouped at 143 while at 144, even par for the two rounds, were Stan Leonard, Lionel Hebert, Jackie Burke, Doug Sanders and amateur Bud Taylor.

But it seemed that everybody had an uneasy eye cast in the direction of the great Hogan, winner of four U.S. Open championships, two Masters and the British Open and still perhaps as good as any golfer in the world from tee to green.

"My putting was much better today than yesterday," Hogan said, "but still it is not as good as it should be. I am not playing as well as I did at the Open last year at Winged Foot."

Some observers questioned this. Hogan looked like the precision machine of old as he meticulously fashioned his pars and birdies over the 6,850-yard, par 36-36—72 course.

Hogan hasn't won a major championship since 1953 when he swept the Masters, U.S. and British opens in a single year.

Palmer, however, may be hard to overtake. At 30, he is strong as an ox, imperturbable and riding the crest of money-winning success. He also is getting favorable breaks in the rules decisions.

So far in the tournament he has had free-lifts on two imbedded balls and was not penalized for a practice swing he took on the 15th yesterday. He wound up with a 73 to go with his earlier 67.

Finsterwald, a slender executive-type from Tequesta, Fla., was not so fortunate. He came in with a 70 following a first round 69, only to blow the whistle on himself in an unusual incident.

The former Athens, Ohio, player admitted that he had taken a practice putt on the fifth green of his first round Thursday, not realizing it violated local rules.

The rules say such a violation requires a two-stroke penalty. That gave Finsterwald a six on the hole instead of a four. But if Finsterwald got a six, then he signed a wrong score card. That normally calls for disqualification.

The rules committee debated and finally found a loop-hole to let Dow off the hook.

Senors Sign Five More

OAKLAND (UPI)—Coach Eddie Erdelatz said yesterday that the Oakland Senors will add 40 players to their present 45 under contract before the team goes into training in July.

Among the last five players signed, he said, was Tony Teresa, former San Jose State star and last year in the Canadian League. Teresa is expected to get about $10,000.

Erdelatz appeared most pleased over the signing of Buddy Allen, 195-pound, six-foot halfback from Utah State. Allen is a product of the Oakland school system.

"This boy has speed and is an exceptional pass receiver," Erdelatz said.

The BULLPEN

With JOHN J. CONNOLLY

Jones, Antoneli Lead Staff That Could Power Giants To Pennant

CONNOLLY

The average baseball writer, in the spring, usually locks himself in a room crowded with record books, guides, batting and pitching averages. He goes over them all and while he does a lot of thinking and searching of his soul in his locked den, he never quite gets the courage to speak up and say:

"There is too much horse play and joking in baseball for a serious minded person like I.

"I am tired of playing Hughie Fullerton and I am just about ready to call it quits. But before I do I'd like to remind you that whether I'm right or wrong I think the S.F. Giants have a swell chance to win the 1960 National League pennant. I know they were helped on the bench and might need a little aid in backstopping but they can do it."

And there you have it.

LEANING heavily on pitcher Sam Jones, the Giants almost have to have Sam do a repeat performance. He completed 16 games last year; he pitched 271 innings; he struck out 209 batters and he won the championship for the earned run class, allowing only 2.82 per game.

Sam, since 1955 when he returned to the Chicago Cubs in the National League, has pitched in not less than 28 games a year. Most of the time he was in the 35 to 50 games class. He has it and knows it. If he can do it again, the job of Bill Rigney is soft as silk.

Like Jones, the real test of pitching in 1960 will fall on the shoulders of southpaw Johnny Antonelli, a 19-game winner last season.

McCormick pitched in 226 innings, completed 7 games, won 12 and lost 16 and wound up with a 3.98 earned run average.

I saw Mike blow the duke at least five times when it appeared criminal for him to lose. But his teammates simply couldn't get any runs for him.

JACK SANFORD could become the workhorse of 1960. He thrives on activity. In 1959 he pitched in 222 innings, won 15 and lost 12 and had a 3.16 earned run count.

If you remember, Sanford's injury cost him one full month of activity and ruined his team's chances for the pennant.

With Stu Miller, O'Dell, Loes, Monzant and a guy named Georges Maranda from Louisville around, there is no telling what could happen.

So if I've thrown box cars to lose the pennant pot, just remember, I'm talking with spring fever in my brain.

Four M.V. Winners In North Bay Tournament

They were Mrs. Lynn Sumpter, 93-21—72; Mrs. Clay Lilleston, 98-22—76; Mrs. Howard Kemper, 103-25—78; and Mrs. Arthur Schallock, 104-29—75.

In the "Optional Nine" tournament at Mill Valley Mrs. D. P. Norton placed first with a 39-9½—29½. Mrs. Greg Hobson was second with 43-9½—33½ and there was a tie for third between Mrs. Fred Greenland and Mrs. Hugh Richardson each with 51-16½—34½.

Go-Cart Races At Cotati Tomorrow

First of a series of Go-Cart Races will be held tomorrow at the Cotati Raceway.

Driver entries are expected from the Go-Cart Clubs from as far afield as the Monterey Peninsula, along with participants from the Petaluma-Santa Rosa area.

The full day program, beginning with technical inspection at 8 a.m., includes racing for all classes at 11:30 a.m.

TAMITES, S.R. UNBEATEN IN LEAGUE TRACK

Tamalpais and San Rafael remained the only undefeated track and field powers in the Marin County Athletic League dual meet season yesterday.

Tam, paced by double winner Russ Cook, smashed Marin Catholic, 93-18 and San Rafael defeated Novato, 68⅔ to 47⅓.

Winners and times will be published in the Independent-Journal next week.

S.R. Man Wins Ducats To Candlestick Games

Orlando Conti of San Rafael and A. Pohl of San Mateo will have free tickets to Sunday and holiday baseball games at Candlestick Park this season.

Each won a pair of Plan F season tickets to Giants games last night as winners of top prizes in the San Rafael American Little League parents rally.

Other prize winners were Paul Ware and Chuck Rada, both of San Rafael. Each received a transistor radio.

Tam, Marin, Redwood Win In Prep Baseball Tournament

Tamalpais Indians shaded San Rafael's Bulldogs, 3-2 last night in the semi-finals of the Marin County Athletic League Baseball Tournament in San Rafael and will battle either Marin Catholic or Redwood at 8 o'clock tonight for the championship.

Marin Catholic downed Novato 7-2 and Redwood smashed defending champion Drake in last night's other first round games and will meet at 4 o'clock today for the chance to face Tam in the finals.

Novato will tackle Drake at 6 o'clock tonight for consolation honors.

All action will take place at Albert Field.

THREE HITTER

Tam parlayed the three-hit pitching of junior southpaw Russ Adams, a couple of defensive gems by outfielders Dennis Coleman and Ed Collins and a pair of Bulldog errors into their narrow victory.

Adams helped his own cause by singling in the fifth, going to third on an error and scoring on a perfect squeeze bunt by Dan Mayer. Two errors gave the Indians a 3-0 lead in the top of the sixth, but they had to hang on to stave off a late Bulldog rally.

A triple by Mike Cicero followed by an error gave San Rafael a run in the sixth and an error followed by Rich Curry's double accounted for the Bulldogs' second run in the seventh. Curry died on second, however, as Adams fired three straight strikes past the next Bulldog batter to end the game.

DEFENSIVE GEMS

Earlier Adams was saved from damage by two great defensive plays. Coleman threw a perfect one-hop strike from left field to home plate to erase one Bulldog run and Osborne made a diving catch in deep right center to cut off another S.R. run.

Rich Brear's 12-strikeout, five-hit pitching, a triple by Mike Walsh and a two-run single by Eddie Vigno featured Redwood's victory in the game limited to five innings by a time limit. The Giants got off to a 7-0 first inning lead due to Drake pitching wildness, an error and key hits by Vigno and Bob Ostaggi.

CLARK COUNTED OUT

Wild Confusion Marks Finish Of Video Bout

OGDEN, Utah (AP)—Did Lamar Clark get knocked out or did he get robbed in his rousing brawl with young Bartolo Soni of the Dominican Republic?

Ringside fans, managers, and probably a lot of TV viewers are wondering about that after the confused ending of the televised bout here last night.

Officially, the 181½-pound Soni was credited with a knockout in 2:02 of the ninth round. The loss ended Clark's record knockout streak at 44 straight and was his first ring defeat in 46 pro bouts.

It was even harder for Clark to take because he was ahead on all the judges' cards and could have taken the decision by merely finishing. However, the bull-shouldered Soni lashed out with a flurry of hooking uppercuts which nailed Clark. When the strong boy from Cedar City, Utah, hit the canvas his head bounced.

To some fans, it seemed Clark, 182, was up before Referee Ken Shulsen finished the count. But Shulsen took Clark by the hand, waved Soni off and led Clark to a corner. Later Shulsen said he had finished the count and besides, he said Clark appeared to be out on his feet.

Clark's manager, Marv Jenson, hotly disputed this. "I won't permit Shulsen to referee another fight for one of my boys," fumed Jenson, who also handles NBA champ Gene Fullmer.

That was the ringside confusion that TV viewers saw. However, the Utah State Athletic Commission met after the bout and upheld Shulsen's version of the end. USAC rules make no provision for technical knockouts.

Clark claimed he could have continued. "I was only pooped," he said. But he praised Soni as a rugged fighter.

Jenson and Clark both demanded a rematch. But Bobby Lopez, who handles Soni, wouldn't talk of one. "We'll just wait and see what happens."

Shulsen had Clark ahead on points at the end of the eighth round, 79-74; Judge Del Markham had it 79-73; Judge Bob Yocum scored it 80-72 and The Associated Press had Clark ahead, 79-73.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R
Is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

V A H W F T I F B . . . B C N A M F N A B H W B C H N H M M A S C X C Q Q C S M P T F M O — V F Q Q C G S H M A B .

2 Larkspur Candidates Join Forces

Two Larkspur City Council candidates, James Lienkaemper of 89 Diane lane and Lesly A. Daveler of 219 Hawthorne avenue, have joined forces to campaign for office in next Tuesday's municipal election.

Lienkaemper, a 37-year-old accountant, and Daveler, a 46-year-old administrative assistant, announced they both want to make the city manager form of government work—"not throw it out." They agree that its successful use requires greater leadership from the council, the candidates said.

A 22-member citizens committee has been formed to support the joint candidacies of the two men. Robert J. Smith and Chester Lonkey of the committee said, "The efforts of the citizens' group is to find constructive middle ground between the incumbents and the anti-incumbents."

Marin Man Adopts Vietnamese Girl

Howard A. Collins of 25 Patencio, San Rafael, has financially "adopted" Vo Thi Dong Tam, a 7-year-old Vietnamese girl through Foster Parents' Plan, Inc. The plan has promised to contribute $15 a month toward the child's support for at least a year.

The girl lives with her widowed mother, a brother and two sisters. In recent years when the father was living he earned $30.25 as a clerk which provided a simple living.

After he died the family became almost penniless. The mother earns only about $55 a year.

ENCHANTING
Inside and Out

Do you like a provincial-type home that would be perfect for your priceless antiques? This precious house was built in 1955 and the designer has captured and "old-world charm" that is especially appealing. Has 3 bedrooms, 2 very pretty baths, beamed ceiling living room and raised hearth fireplace. Central blower furnace, gleaming hardwood floors. Large unfinished basement area that has good expansion possibilities. Immaculate, very well landscaped, pleasing view over the valley. Anyone can assume the 4½% GI loan and owner will help with the down payment.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Desi Admits Charges

SANTA MONICA (AP) — Desi Arnaz has paved the way for a default divorce April 28 by Lucille Ball.

He filed an answer yesterday to her complaint of March 3 and admitted her charges that he caused her grevious mental suffering. His attorneys said the maneuver will facilitate the divorce that both Arnaz and the red-haired comedienne say is strictly friendly.

Sinatra Fires Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Swinging Frank Sinatra, swayed by the angry wind of protest, has fired Albert Maltz as screenwriter of the film, "The Execution of Private Slovik."

Sinatra's announcement last night that Maltz, one of Hollywood's "unfriendly ten," won't write the script, caught the movie capital by surprise.

Birth Control Stand

If foreign countries ask for such information, Nixon said last night, the United States would supply it.

Last Dec. 2, Eisenhower told a news conference that if other countries "want to go to someone for help, they should go to professional groups, not governments."

Gluckman Takes Off

TOKYO (UPI) — San Francisco's "flying watchmaker," Peter Gluckmann, took off for Hong Kong today in the Bonanza monoplane he will use in an attempt to set a non-stop distance record for light planes.

The 34-year-old pilot will attempt a non-stop solo flight from Hong Kong to the U.S. mainland later this month.

Death Penalty Stands

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The state Supreme Court, splitting 4-3, has affirmed the death sentence for Robert S. Harmon of Monterey, originally sentenced to from five years to life from San Diego County for robbery.

Harmon was serving his term at Soledad State Prison when a fellow prisoner was stabbed eight times. He recovered, but Harmon was convicted of assault under a law which provided a mandatory death sentence for life termers.

Shortly after this, on Sept. 18, 1959, the law was amended to make the death penalty optional with the jury or trial judge.

Tony's Best Man

LONDON (AP) — A young doctor was named today as best man at the May 6 wedding of Princess Margaret and Antony Armstrong-Jones.

He is Roger William Gilliatt, the only son of the late Sir William Gilliatt, former gynecologist to Queen Elizabeth II.

Rate Hike Opposed

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Pacific Gas and Electric Co. has filed a protest against a proposed 21 million dollar increase in natural gas rates of the El Paso Natural Gas Co., it was announced yesterday.

The protest was filed with the Federal Power Commission, which has postponed the effective date of the boost until August pending hearings.

PG&E said the wholesale price hike would cost it an extra nine million dollars a year. This additional cost would likely be passed on to consumers, a spokesman said.

Vote Shakes Italy

ROME (AP) — Premier Fernando Tambroni's two-week-old Christian Democrat government won its first parliamentary vote of confidence, but only with Fascist backing that could prove a kiss of death.

In a midnight vote yesterday, the Chamber of Deputies endorsed Tambroni's stop-gap regime 200-293. The margin of victory was provided by 24 Fascist ballots.

Cabaret Taxes Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower has signed into law a bill to reduce night club and cabaret taxes from 20 to 10 per cent, effective May 1.

The Treasury has estimated a tax loss of about 20 million dollars a year under the reduced rate.

Flood Peril Ebbs

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Flood threats ebbed on the Mississippi and Missouri rivers today, but the rising Flint River periled a tiny Georgia town.

The Mississippi and Missouri were still well above flood stage, but crests were contained by giant levees protecting river towns. Little further damage was expected except to low-lying farm lands.

Titan Test Success

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) —The Air Force's Titan intercontinental ballistic missile scored its eighth test success yesterday—even though the performance was marred by a second-stage malfunction.

The rocket's upper section separated and ignited on schedule, but it cut off too quickly and dropped the nose cone slightly short of its scheduled target area.

However, range was not a prime objective. An informed source said "it hit about 3,000 miles away, just a little short of where it was expected to go."

Subscriptions For Summer Concerts To Be Solicited

Subscriptions to the Marin Music Chest summer concert series will be solicited tomorrow, Mrs. William Rattray, county fund drive chairman, said today.

"This is the first time we have attempted a concentrated one-day type of solicitation," Mrs. Rattray said. "The current subscription drive will run through this month, but it is hoped that most of the subscriptions will be obtained tomorrow.

"We are not asking you for anything. We are giving you an opportunity to hear the greatest artists before the public today for the lowest possible admission price."

Headquarters in the current fund drive is located at 1133 Fourth street, San Rafael, and is open Monday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Woman Injured In Hub Auto Mishap

A driver made too wide a turn from Sir Francis Drake boulevard onto Bolinas avenue in San Anselmo early yesterday and his car hit a street sign and injured one person.

Clarence D. Upton of 430 Redwood avenue, Corte Madera, told Police Sgt. John Orr that as he turned the corner his passenger, Janet Philips, 21, of 195 Melville road, San Anselmo, slipped from her seat, and when he tried to hold her he lost control of the car.

Miss Philips was driven to Marin General Hospital after she collapsed while waiting for a tow-truck. Sergeant Orr reported she collapsed six times en route.

Widow Gets $71,500 In Death Suit

A Marin jury yesterday awarded $71,500 damages to a San Francisco widow, whose husband was killed in a car accident near the Greenbrae Bridge in 1958.

The jurors heard the case for four days before Judge Jordan L. Martinelli, and brought in their verdict for Mrs. Priscilla Stoudt and daughter Linda, 7. Harvey A. Stoudt, 53, owner of a firm which was developing a microwave electronic cooker, died in a dead-on crash on the morning of April 28, 1958.

The widow sued John Louis Boitano, who operates a truck sales firm in Petaluma. A witness at the time said Boitano's truck swerved in front of Stuodt's car, causing Stoudt to swing over the center line and crash with an oncoming car. Boitano was later identified from a license number taken by a witness who was driving behind Stoudt.

The judge granted a stay of execution to Boitano so that his attorney, Leroy Lounibos of Petaluma, can decide whether or not to seek a new trial.

Fire District Hires Architect

The Tiburon Fire Protection District Commission last night hired the architectural firm of White, Hermann and Steinau of San Francisco to develop plans for the Trestle Glen substation according to Kelly J. Wheeler, secretary.

The first unit will probably include a truck base and workshop at an estimated cost of $10,000 Wheeler said.

Film Showing Set

The San Geronimo Valley Assn. will show "An Island in Time," a film on the Pt. Reyes peninsula, at 8 p.m. Monday at Lagunitas School. The showing is open to the public.

FROG JUMPING CONTEST SET FOR TIBURON

The Tiburon Peninsula's "first annual" frog jumping contest was held today, starting at 1 p.m. on the basketball court at the Southern Marin Recreation Center during opening day ceremonies.

Chief judge for the event was Lowell Airola, who was born and reared in Calaveras County, where the famous frog jumping contests inspired by Mark Twain's immortal yarn are held each year.

Police Arrest 7 In San Francisco Phony Check Ring

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Seven persons were arrested here last night in what police called the biggest counterfeit check operation in recent history.

Dist. Atty. Thomas C. Lynch said the group had been operating since the first of the year and that phony checks worth thousands of dollars had been cashed throughout the state.

The suspects had set up a printing shop in what appeared to be an empty store in the city's Richmond district, Lynch said.

The shop assertedly was equipped to make copies of legitimate checks belonging to a San Francisco machinery company.

Arrested at the print shop and booked on charges of conspiracy to issue fictitious checks were James W. Schock, 27, publisher of an FM radio schedule guide; Daniel R. Willis, 49, a printer; Richard W. Myers, 30, a bartender; and Jacqueline A. Ranum, 27, a housewife.

Taken into custody later in the evening and booked on the same charges were Jack Lorraine, 43, a bartender; Harry Hunter, 53, also a bartender, and Toni Hunter, 36, identified as his common-law wife.

Ex-Carnival Worker Held In Exec's Death

WASHINGTON (AP) — Police say a husky young ex-carnival worker who admitted beating and strangling a former university president in a cheap-rate hotel seems "totally unconcerned about the whole thing."

Owen, former president of Bradley University, Peoria, Ill., was manager of the Santa Cruz, Calif., Chamber of Commerce at the time of his death. He had come here to testify before a congressional committee in support of a small craft harbor at Santa Cruz.

Owen's nude body was found Thursday in a third-floor walkup room of a downtown hotel 10 blocks from the Capitol. He was registered at a better hotel. The body was identified through FBI fingerprint files.

Owen resigned as president of Bradley eight years ago after a basketball fix scandal involving members of the university team. He was married and had no children.

Van Over, 6 feet 4, was arrested Friday through a tip. Police said the informant told them Van Over showed his battered fists and said "Boy, did I work that guy over."

Van Over was held without bail on a first-degree murder charge.

Van Over said he and his 18-year-old wife, Lois, had come here from Tampa, Fla., about three weeks ago.

Police said he told them this story:

He said he met Owen in a restaurant. Owen told him he had a hangover and wanted a companion to drink with. Owen gave him money to pay for a hotel room and a bottle. Van Over registered, went up to the room and Owen went up a back way.

They drank for awhile. Then, Van Over said, Owen undressed. Police said it was unclear how the fight started. Van Over first said it began when he tried to take $14 from Owen, then changed his story several times. Van Over said he took the money and left after Owen lay unconscious on the floor.

Twin Who Gave Kidney Killed

OKEECHOBEE, Fla. (AP) — A twin who gave up a kidney so his brother might live has been killed in an industrial accident.

Ronald McDuffie, 28, died Friday at a concrete plant when his hand was caught in a conveyor belt and he was pulled into the machinery.

The belt had jammed as it was transporting gravel. McDuffie reached in to free an obstruction but failed to jerk away as the belt began moving again. He died instantly.

Mill Valley Census Total Estimated

The population of Mill Valley as of Feb. 1 is estimated at 10,350, according to Carl Friesen, senior research technician for, population studies of the California Department of Finance.

The population estimate was based on an assumed 2.84 persons per occupied dwelling unit. In the 1957 special census, Mill Valley's population was 9,436.

Hope Fading For Breaking Disarm Lock

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials have about given up hope of breaking the new deadlock in disarmament negotiations with the Soviet Union prior to next month's summit conference.

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter thinks that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev may be planning to come up with "some kind of idea" at the Paris summit meeting to get negotiations moving again. But he finds the present situation "puzzling."

Herter appears to be trying to build up Western pressure to prevent the Soviet Union from stirring up a new Berlin crisis at the summit by linking the Berlin issue with the possibility of successful disarmament negotiations.

He told a news conference Friday a big East-West clash at the summit over Berlin might very materially prejudice further progress on disarmament, specifically the nuclear test ban problem.

That was the second time he had issued such a warning. In a Chicago speech last Monday he said the Western powers "can hardly move forward confidently in negotiating new arms control agreements with the Soviet Union if our existing agreements with them about Berlin meanwhile are being violated or threatened with violation."

IN NEXT WEEK'S MAGAZINE—

THERE'S NO teacher like experience. And more and more, our schools are putting experience to work in preparing our young people for the future. An example is a unique program at Sir Francis Drake High School in San Anselmo where a second year bookkeeping and accounting class actually engages in merchandising and banking operations. The pupils operate the student book store, and handle student body funds. Your Marin Magazine will take a look at this unusual educational program next week.

MARIN ET CETERA

By Harry Craft

There's No Cure For Laziness, Except To Get A Lot Of Rest

WHEN A FELLOW reaches my age he has to take care of himself.

I mean a lot of guys I know get heart attacks and have to roll nitro-glycerin pills under their tongues and watch what they eat and drink. They quit smoking and other things they say they don't miss but always look kind of envious when you light a cigarette and then you feel like a heel for showing off how healthy you are.

Up to now I've sort of figured it couldn't happen to me but I notice I've been getting tired lately, especially when there's any work to be done, and maybe I should take it easy and not press my luck.

You see, my stomach has been bothering me, mostly because it doesn't fit inside my clothes the way it used to. You can notice it more when I stand up, so that's why I sit down so much.

My wife suggested that maybe if I would stoop over and touch my toes 10 times every day it would tighten up the muscles. She also prescribed lying on the floor and coming to a sitting position without moving my legs, then lifting my legs without coming to a sitting position.

I TRIED IT a few times but I'm not very much sold on it. All it does is make the muscles sore. However, I did discover that when I lay down on the floor you couldn't notice my stomach at all — it seemed to disappear someplace in the back of my lap. So now I've taken to stretching out on the couch right after dinner.

This is not only very relaxing on the muscles but it saves helping with the dishes. Also, by lying in bed 10 or 15 minutes longer in the morning I am able to miss the big traffic stampede which tires me out before I even get to the office.

Another thing I've been careful about is my breathing —not to do too much of it. Heavy inhaling and exhaling fills up your lungs with about 80 per cent nitrogen and everyone says there is something in the atmosphere these days which causes all this sickness. Little short breaths do not bother me at all if I do not move around too much.

IN SPITE OF all these precautions I still haven't felt quite the way I should and I wasn't sure if it was my heart or what.

"You do look kind of peaked," some of my friends have been saying, though how anyone who weighs 187 in his stocking feet can look peaked I can't imagine.

I've just been going over some helpful hints on health, hunting for symptoms like mine, and it seems that with what I've got I'm likely to be a customer for Frank Keaton or Harry Williams or Monte and Banfield any day now.

No, apparently there is nothing seriously wrong with my heart, according to this report:

"The coronary victim commonly possesses an ambitious, driving nature and exhibits a consistent tendency toward compulsive striving, self-discipline and hard work. He frequently sets herculean tasks for himself, exceeding his normal capacity and tempo. . . ."

THAT'S NOT my trouble.

Mine is a combination of two things. Separately they can be cured in the early stages, but together they grow progressively worse and there's not much hope.

Laziness and overeating.

All I can do is live with it, I guess.

Unless some doc invents a miracle pill or something.

MARIN PROFILE

She's Guardian Of The Public Health

By PATRICIA ZINN

"Challenging, hard, little understood, often misunderstood but never dull" is Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht's summation of her work as Marin County health officer.

The attractive young woman who is Marin's third health officer and one of two women health officers in the State of California at the present time has "never for one minute regretted being in public health" and has since New Orleans high school days wanted to pursue that field as her life work.

Born in New Orleans, the daughter of lumber exporter Ernst Heinrich Albrecht of German birth and Lylian Urban Albrecht, a third-generation New Orleanian, Carolyn Albrecht got her first spark of interest in the biological sciences when as a high school senior she read Paul DeKruif's "Microbe Hunters."

However, even at the age of 6, she had a "handwashing compulsion" and was "conscious of germs." This continues today, and her job of "health officering" carries over into her home life in Kentfield where she is the "sanitation officer" in the household. It is her duty to empty the wastebaskets, wash the dishes, and defrost the refrigerator. Her only medical ancestor was a nephew of her grandmother's by marriage who was professor of surgery at Louisiana State University.

Carolyn Albrecht first became acquainted with Marin County in 1929, when her mother came with the three children to reside with their grandmother, Mrs. John A. Sansom, in San Francisco while their father was on an extended business trip in Europe. She recalls very well many happy visits to in-laws of her grandmother's in Marin during her childhood.

THE ALBRECHT family includes a twin sister, Ruth (Mrs. Martin S. Baer of Berkeley), who is also a doctor, not of medicine but of philosophy. She has a Ph. D. degree in psychology from the University of California and taught phychology at Chico State College prior to her marriage.

A younger brother, Philip Ernst Albrecht, lives in Westfield, N.J., and is a steel specialist with Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith in New York City.

After graduation from high school in the Creole City, Marin's health officer enrolled as a biology major at Newcomb College, the women's college of Tulane University in New Orleans.

At this time, she confesses, her interests lay in both physiology, a study of the functions of living organs, and in public health. After graduation from Newcomb, she entered Tulane as a graduate student in physiology, and, in her second year, was a graduate assistant in biology at Newcomb, her alma mater.

During that period of the early 1940's, public health did not occupy the position that it does today in the field of medicine. It was looked upon by many, as "not particularly inspiring, respectable or worthwhile." Dr. Albrecht admits that when she first entered public health in 1951 even her parents rather looked down their noses at it. However, with the passage of time, they have come to realize that public health is as respectable and as important a specialty as any other field of medicine.

AT THE COMPLETION of two years in the Tulane Graduate School, she decided to enter the Yale University Graduate School to study physiology under the renowned neurophysiologist, Dr. John Farquhar Fulton.

At Yale the future health officer was in for a surprise. Students of physiology were requested to take all of the courses in the first two years of the medical curriculum. This was the last thing she had planned to do.

Two years later she had completed the first two years of medical courses at the New Haven school, fulfilled the necessary requirements in French and German, and passed a comprehensive examination in physiology and biochemistry. She was then ready to start work towards her dissertation for a Ph.D. degree in physiology.

But the complexion had changed. Carolyn Albrecht now wanted to become a public health physician. The dormant desire to work in public health had once again come to life. She forsook physiology for completion of the medical curriculum.

She entered the School of Medicine and Dentistry of the University of Rochester in Rochester, N.Y., in 1946. This school, she is quick to point out, not only promised a good atmosphere for a woman medical student but also did not require that she repeat the first two years of the medical school curriculum that she had just completed at Yale. Her first two years at Rochester were spent in research in physiology under Professor Edward F. Adolph.

DR. ALBRECHT laughingly refers to this period as one of "washing cages and mixing formulas for rats." At this time she took courses in psychiatry and repeated pathology in order to study under Noble Prize winner Dr. George Hoyt Whipple, dean of the medical school at Rochester.

One summer during medical school years was spent at the Mount Desert Island Biological Laboratory off the coast of Maine, attempting to ascertain through experiments on seals whether flyers down at sea could survive on sea water. This interlude was her summer with seals, "Piggy," Patches," "Lumpy," and "Gus."

Carolyn Albrecht was graduated from the University of Rochester School of Medicine and Dentistry in 1950 with the degree, Doctor of Medicine with Honor. Marin's health officer has the distinction of being one of only two women who received the honor degree from Rochester from the institution of the degree in 1934 up to 1950.

After graduation, Dr. Albrecht returned to San Francisco for her internship at Children's Hospital. She was appointed assistant health officer for Marin County in August, 1951 and held that position until she took a year's leave of absence to get her Master's Degree in public health at the School of Public Health in Berkeley. She became Marin County health officer in 1954. In 1958 Dr. Albrecht was certified as a specialist in public health by the American Board of Preventive Medicine.

WHEN NOT BUSY trying to keep the general public, the medical profession, the board of supervisors, grand jury, taxpayers' association, the press, and her own staff happy, Carolyn Albrecht likes to swim and to "do for myself at home." The latter applies especially to plumbing, which she particularly enjoys. Another indulgence is her miniature gray French poodle, "Penny," who is "spoiled but very bright."

Directing and coordinating the work of the seven divisions in carrying out the programs of the health department along with a host of other duties leaves no time for membership in social or service organiations, but Dr. Albrecht does belong to a number of other organiations.

They include the Marin County Medical Society; the California Medicial Assn.; the American Medical Assn.; the American Public Health Assn.; the American College of Preventive Medicine; the California Academy of Preventive Medicine; the U. C. Public Health Alumni Assn., of which she is now president; Phi Beta Kappa; and Delta Omega (national honorary health society."

Carolyn B. Albrecht, M.D., is dedicated to the practice of public health as defined by the American Medical Assn., "the art and science of maintaining, protecting and improving the health of the people through organized community efforts."

A SUNNY SMILE is a trademark of Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, Marin County health officer. She is one of but two women public health officers in the entire state. And she says she has never regretted going into public health work.

FROM HER OFFICE Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, Marin County public health officer, is charged with the responsibility of directing the activities of seven different divisions of her department. It's a challenging administrative task. But one she meets with vigor and ability.

THE HANDICAPPERS

They're A Special Kind Of Babysitter

By ED NEUMEIER

For the first time in 18 years the parents of a muscular dystrophy boy were able to get away for a weekend to themselves. The youth had been treated to a stay at Holiday House in Arequipa by the Crippled Children's Society.

In another section of Marin County a widow, now alone, was having to consider institutionalizing her daughter. The mother had been away from her dependent mentally retarded patient for only three days in 32 years.

Robert E. Foster of Mill Valley, teacher of the cerebral palsied at Sonoma State Hospital, active in United Cerebral Palsy of Marin, Inc., pondered these hardships on parents of the handicapped. He knew of many such instances.

Foster also knew that teenagers were capable of far better things than most people gave them credit for. He further knew, from experience that, given the chance, their willingness and competence for service to others was a vast resource infrequently drawn upon.

The problem:

SO HE WENT to the untapped source of teen-agers. Call them babysitters if you like, he thought, but they could be much more than that.

Through high schools he solicited teen-agers who might be interested in this special kind of babysitting, who would be willing to spend some time learning the special problems involved in caring for the handicapped.

At Tamalpais High School he found a crusader-type who thought the project was tremendous. Mrs. Lois L. Polanshek, physical education teacher, pushed the idea. Announcements were also made at Sir Francis Drake, Redwood and San Rafael high schools.

Because of Mrs. Polanshek's efforts, the greatest response came from Tam High. The series of instructional meetings was set there.

When Foster came early to the appointed place, he had no idea what kind or what size audience he would have. He was not sure there would even be one. The night had turned rainy and foul.

More than 70 students, all girls but five, turned out. Their enthusiasm for the project pervaded the meeting room. Their comments at the end of the initial meeting were encouraging.

The series of instructional meetings continued, gained momentum. Foster brought in guest speakers—professional people, parents, volunteer workers.

"THE ONE AREA in which most of the teenagers had reservations about caring for invalids was epilepsy. I brought in a friend, mother of twin epileptic boys. She talked to them. I then asked if any of the students would be interested in caring for these boys. Every one raised his hand. It was just another case of overcoming pre-conceived notions. An example of what education can do."

Five meetings were held. The final one was a visit to the residential school for cerebral palsied in San Francisco.

But that wasn't the end. If an organization as such did not evolve, at least a name did.

The Handicappers.

It was only a paper organization, but it had a name. There was only one man doing the organizing, but he had some enthusiasts like Mrs. Polanshek. And more than 70 teen-agers were interested.

The San Rafael Kiwanis Club printed a pamphlet for parents of handicapped, listing the names, addresses and phone numbers of the interested teen-agers.

They lived in Marin City, in San Anselmo, in Corte Madera, Belvedere, Fairfax, Lagunitas, Larkspur, Sausalito, San Rafael and Woodacre. Almost half of them lived in Mill Valley and were Tam High students.

All this was last year. Some of the "qualified helpers," as the sitters were called, have now gone away to college, have married, have moved away. Many of them are still being called upon, having solidified contacts with those who were in need.

BUT FOSTER is not one to leave it at that. The potential, the resources, are still barely tapped. He envisions a chap-

Tips on Purchase and Home Care of Your Wardrobe

By BERT BROWN, Marin Cleaners of San Rafael and Bel Air

"What Should Be Done About Fruit Stains?"

Everything depends upon the fabric on which the stain appears. This is why it is easier and safer to let your professional drycleaner handle the garment. If the fabric is washable, fruit and berry juices can often be removed with ordinary household washing compounds, soap or liquid. Then apply white vinegar and rinse thoroughly. White vinegar is inexpensive and contains ascetic acid which is often needed to neutralize alkaline conditions or cause a necessary reaction with the stain. White vinegar will not harm any fabric that can withstand water. If, after this treatment, the fruit or berry stain persists, you may use peroxide bleach (ordinary medicinal 3%, 10-volume hydrogen peroxide).

If the fabric affected is dry cleanable, you may use a liquid synthetic detergent on the affected areas and rinse it out of those areas. Then apply the white vinegar and rinse again.

If you are not certain about the fabric you are treating, apply the stain removal process to an inner seam or to a swatch of the material to gauge its reaction to your treatment. Stain removal can be tricky with so many different fabrics and colors and weaves that a special skill has been developed to treat stains. A variety of removal agents and special tools are used by the expert drycleaner. Most thrifty home-makers prefer to mark the stain, identify its cause and employ a professional drycleaner to remove it. They feel that the small charge for his skill often saves an entire garment.

ter of sitters for the handicapped, qualified help, in every Marin County high school. Already the American Legion of San Anselmo is enthusiastic about helping; the state Legion organization is interested; commendation for the work has been noted by the national Legion.

As far as is known, such a project is unique to Marin County. But the need is not unique. It's the kind of idea that may well catch on elsewhere in the nation.

Therefore another instructional program has been organized. A committee of four adults and four teen-agers has been formed to coordinate the work. From sitting service by qualified helpers, new purposes have come up. So many of the teen-agers indicated permanent interest in various phases of working with handicapped people.

"I am interested in becoming a physical therapist," said Claudi Maisac of Mill Valley, Tam High student.

"I want a better understanding of my fellow men," Yvonne Thompson of Mill Valley told Foster.

"I have always been interested in becoming a nurse and I think I would like to care for disabled persons," wrote Lyn Hertzberg of Mill Valley.

"I have a handicap myself and am interested in being a physical therapist," said a Redwood High student from Belvedere.

"I INTEND TO be a physiotherapist or occupational-therapist," Shirley Simpson, Drake High student from Woodacre, responded. "I have worked as an aide at Marindale and I want to broaden my field of knowledge."

"I want to understand more about handicapped children and to help them," was the reason given by Edward Reis, Redwood student of Corte Madera.

"I heard about this at school and I want to help myself understand the problems of these people," Anita Fox of Fairfax, Marin Catholic student, said.

Purposes, then, for the second series of instructional programs, which began March 24, are:

To educate high school people on problems presented to our society by the physically and mentally handicapped;

To provide pre-vocational information and experience to encourage the young people to enter one of the professions allied with care for the handicapped;

TO ENCOURAGE boys and girls to aid through experiences with handicapped people and to participate in community services that are concerned with helping the mentally and physically handicapped;

To provide pre-college information and help of a financial nature and to help provide possible scholarships.

Provisions for a proposed organization cover many facets: Co-sponsorship from government or private agencies, scholarship contributions, chapter units at each high school, planning committee, a governing board and a professional advisory committee.

As was said, it's still all on paper. But Foster believes in the vast resources of teen-agers. He thinks he's found his well-spring to reality in them.

IT'S NICE OF YOU to be interested, but he's not crossing in the middle of the street. A Guide Dog is taught to walk to the curb after leaving a building. This is done so that the blind person can orient himself, before beginning his walk.

WHEN ASKED FOR directions by a blind person, be sure to check the signs so that you give correct information. Then say, for example: "You're on Fourth and D streets, facing west on Fourth. If you continue straight ahead for two blocks, then turn right . . ."

THEN IF CONFUSION still exists, ask the blind person: "May I show you." Then take his hand in your hand and indicate the direction that you mean for him to take. This will eliminate the possibility of any misunderstanding in the directions.

Do You Help Or Hinder When You Direct The Blind?

An every day occurrence at Guide Dogs for the Blind, Inc., has been satirized by a group of professional musicians who were part of class 123 which graduated last fall.

Harmonized on tape are the words written by Richard Holmgren, who trained with Karen, a German shepherd:

Eight new students, eight new students,
See how they goof, see how they goof;
Made one wrong turn on B street,
Got wrong directions on C street,
So never did reach D street;
Eight new students.

A student who makes an incorrect turn and is lost must of necessity ask the way, and that's where the trouble starts. People sometimes forget they are facing the man-dog team and when talking about "left" actually mean the blind man's right.

Just last week Gilbert Nino, a Korean War veteran, and Tulsa, his German shepherd, were so completely misdirected it took them almost two hours to complete the day's assignment: 10 blocks.

But let the song tell what happened:

Poor tired trainer, poor tired trainer,
See how he runs, see how he runs;
He looks for us on B street,
He can't find us on C street,
Now where the heck is D street?
Poor tired trainer.

On these occasions both the trainer and the errant pupil come in for a good deal of teasing. Recently a student became lost. He was on California street when he stopped a pedestrian to ask, "Am I near Sacramento?"

The woman replied, "Oh no, my dear. The state capi-

HERE ARE SOME more tips on assisting the blind. At left, you don't have to pull over and get out of their way. The student and his dog have been taught to circle around you. In center photo, never talk to or touch a Guide Dog while the animal is on duty. The dog is performing an important job that requires concentration. And at right, have you ever noticed a blind man and dog standing on the corner? All dogs are color blind. And, since the man cannot see, they must listen to the flow of traffic before leaving the curb. If he stands through several changes, yon should ask him if he needs assistance. But before telling him to go, be sure there is plenty of time for him to safely cross the street before the light changes.

Actually the rules for directing the blind are simple:

1. Ask if your help is needed. Until you speak a sightless person is unaware of your presence, and your touch can be frightening.

2. Offer your arm. Never, under any circumstances, take his arm and propel him by the elbow. Always mention the fact that you are approaching a curb or any irregularity in the terrain.

3. When guiding a blind person walk about a half step ahead of him. If the passages are narrow or dangerous, walk a full step ahead, describing the scenery as you go.

By following these simple instructions you can help make the happy ending in the song by class 123 come true:

Eight good dogs, eight good dogs,
See how they guide, see how they guide;
They put us straight on B street,
Then take us up to C street,
Now here, you fools, is D street;
Eight good dogs.

Another way to make the ending happy is by sending a contribution to the current Guide Dogs for the Blind Drive. William Murray of the First National Bank in San Rafael is the treasurer.

MARVIN BECKER of Sausalito, official photographer at Squaw Valley for the Winter Olympics, followed the spectacular ski jumping with his camera. He is currently preparing a feature length film of the Olympic action from the footage taken by himself and his aides.

WHILE FRANK WULZEN of San Rafael filmed Olympic competition, Mrs. Ann Becker of Sausalito, working with him, remained in contact with other members of the movie photography team with the aid of a walkie-talkie unit. Mrs. Becker is the wife of the games official photographer.

Marin Movie Makers Prepare A Big One

Serving as the eyes for the entire world, Marvin Becker, 515 Pine street, Sausalito, is planning production of a feature length motion picture of the recent Winter Olympic games at Squaw Valley.

Becker, a pioneer in the Bay Area movie industry, served as official movie photographer during the Olympics. He headed a crew of over 25 cameramen who shot more than 80,000 feet of film which highlighted every aspect of all athletic events as well as including the back ground and color of the games.

The footage, which run over 40 hours in length, is currently being edited at Becker's San Francisco movie studio while plans are simultaneously completed for the films release. Becker plans distribution of the film in art theaters throughout the United States while versions in French, German and Russian are prepared for European release.

In addition to the feature film, Becker must complete the official movie for the International Olympic Committee by late May, plus several motion pictures which are being purchased by various companies in the United States for advertising and public relations purposes.

"Some of the footage is spectacular," Becker reported after viewing some of the recently processed scenes. "The weather just played into our hands and the color is excellent."

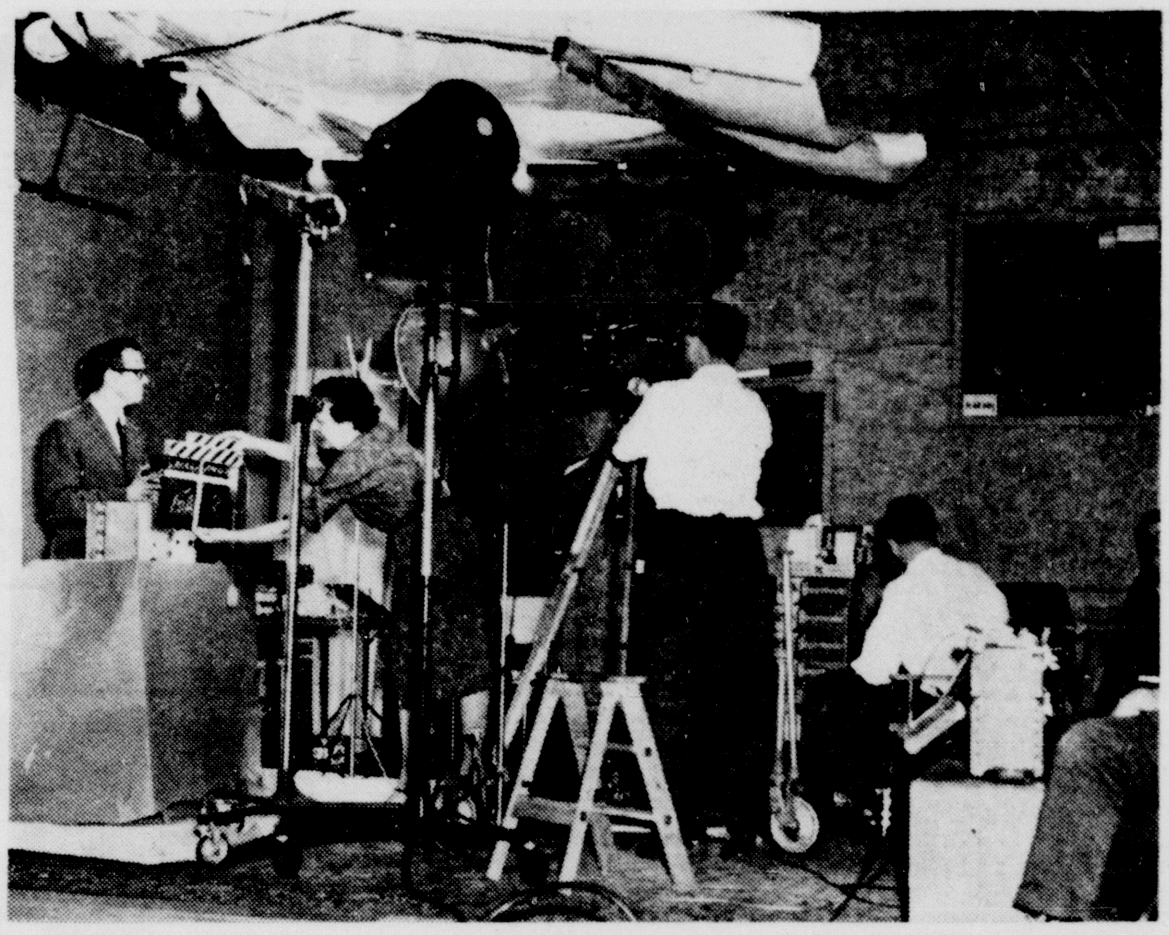
Other Marin County residents who worked with Becker during the filming include his wife, Ann; Frank Wulzen, 230 Bretano way, San Rafael; Dr. Frank Howard, his wife and youngsters, 55 Montecito road, San Rafael; and Sali Liberman, Lone Tree Road, Mill Valley.

Becker's studio, located at 915 Howard street, San Francisco, looks much like its famed Hollywood counterparts but in miniature. It boasts one of the largest sound stages in Northern California, features the only full-sized magnetic recording Auricon camera in San Francisco, and offers such facilities as editing rooms, animation equipment and sound recording devices. Motion pictures are produced for television, business, industry and educational purposes.

Although West Coast companies "are becoming more enlightened," Becker said, "this is still virgin territory for the film business." He feels that this is due partly to the relative youth of local industry (the East Coast passed this stage of development long ago) and to "local conservatism."

Becker started his commercial photography in high school where he sold photos to his classmates, continued during a Marine Corps stint, and finally, in 1952, opened his own studio. He has produced motion pictures for the Army Engineer's Bay Model at Sausalito, and for such Bay companies as Columbia-Geneva Steel, the Vacu-Dry Co. and Victor Equipment Co.

"Winter Olympic Playground 1960," a 28-minute film showing the Squaw Valley preparations, was shot, narrated, processed, edited and given sound at the Becker Studio. At last report, over 10 million television viewers across the United States had seen the Becker film.



BAY AREA NIGHTCLUB entertainer Ronnie Schell gets some last-minute instructions from Mrs. Ann Becker before the cameras start to grind for a motion picture scene. The place: Becker Studios in San Francisco.

By DOROTHY SLATTERY

From the beach, the scrubbed, sleek boat looks like a luxury yacht. Only the 22 millimeter gun mounted on the foredeck and the Coast Guard flag hoisted on the mast name her for what she is: A 95 foot patrol cutter moored at the Sausalito dock at the U.S. Army Engineers site.

A cutter five feet too short to be called "ship" and five feet away from earning a christening name when the bottle of champagne was broken across her bow in Baltimore, Md., in 1958.

But Cutter CG95327, her captain, Lt. (j.g.) Paul D. Henneberry and her 14 man crew are well known for the countless small boats they have towed to shore, the persons they have snatched from the Bay waters and the services they have performed along the Sausalito waterfront since arriving at the Richardson Bay base in January, 1959.

Perhaps one of the most exciting assignments the crew and cutter have experienced in the past 15 months can best be summed up in the words of a crewman:

"It was the longest roller coaster ride I've ever had . . ."

On the morning of Feb. 9, a distress signal broke the silence of the wheel house at 11:05 o'clock. The 21,800 Angelo Petri, her engines killed by a 40 foot wave pouring into the engine room through the ventilator stacks was floundering in less than 40 feet of water three and half miles off the San Francisco coast.

NINE MINUTES later the trim white prow of the cutter was slicing the waters of Richardson Bay as Lt. Henneberry ordered "Condition Zebra" (where everything movable is lashed down).

By 11:30 a.m. the small cutter met the first barrage of severe weather outside the Gate as long, high swells eight to 10 feet high broke across her bow as she clipped through the grey waters at 13 knots.

Lt. Henneberry ordered engine speed cut back as the steel-plated boat began rolling in the turbulent ocean waters. Crew members were ordered below deck. Only three men remained on the bridge with the captain: First Class Quartermaster Stanley Grabinski watching charts and radio; Chief engineman Thomas Mulcahy standing lookout; and Seaman Wells Combs at the wheel.

Two men were standing by in the engine room and the remaining members of the crew were being tossed back and forth below decks, as one man recalled, "Frightened and sick."

At 11:45 the cutter broke into international waters as she nosed by Mile Rock. The swells gained in momentum growing from 12 to 20 feet high as they smashed down on the hull. Winds from 30 to 35 miles an hour lashed across the stripped decks.

At 12:10 the cutter nosed into the back wave or breaker line and was hit hard by three successive waves. She shuddered, rolled back and forth under the pressure of the sea, but kept on going.

A Coast Guard helicopter arrived on the scene and began lifting men off the Petri. The cutter stood by, her men watching and waiting to step in if the copter should run into difficulty.

TWO HOURS later cutter 95311 from Alameda followed by the 327 foot cutter Taney and two commercial tugs pulled up to the helpless wine tanker.

The two 95 foot cutters set up a communications link between the tugboats and the cutter Taney. The Taney's captain had assumed command but the big cutter's radio frequency would not reach the commercial tugs.

Rains and winds continued to lash the pilothouse and the rolling and tossing became so severe that the galley reefer aboard cutter CG95327 flew open spilling cartons of milk across the lower deck.

At 5:40 p.m. the cutter was released from duty and less than two hours later she was back in the waters of Richardson Bay secured to her home dock.

Lt. Henneberry, a tall, quiet spoken 1952 graduate of the Coast Guard Academy, took command of the cutter when she was commissioned in Baltimore Nov. 21, 1958. And with a new crew (50 per cent of the originals are still aboard) brought the compact, white boat through the Panama Canal arriving in Sausalito Jan. 24, 1959.

Since that time crew and cutter have been busy freeing grounded yachts, righting capsized boats, recovering drowning victims, assisting in air-sea rescues, towing in cruisers and just standing by "in case."

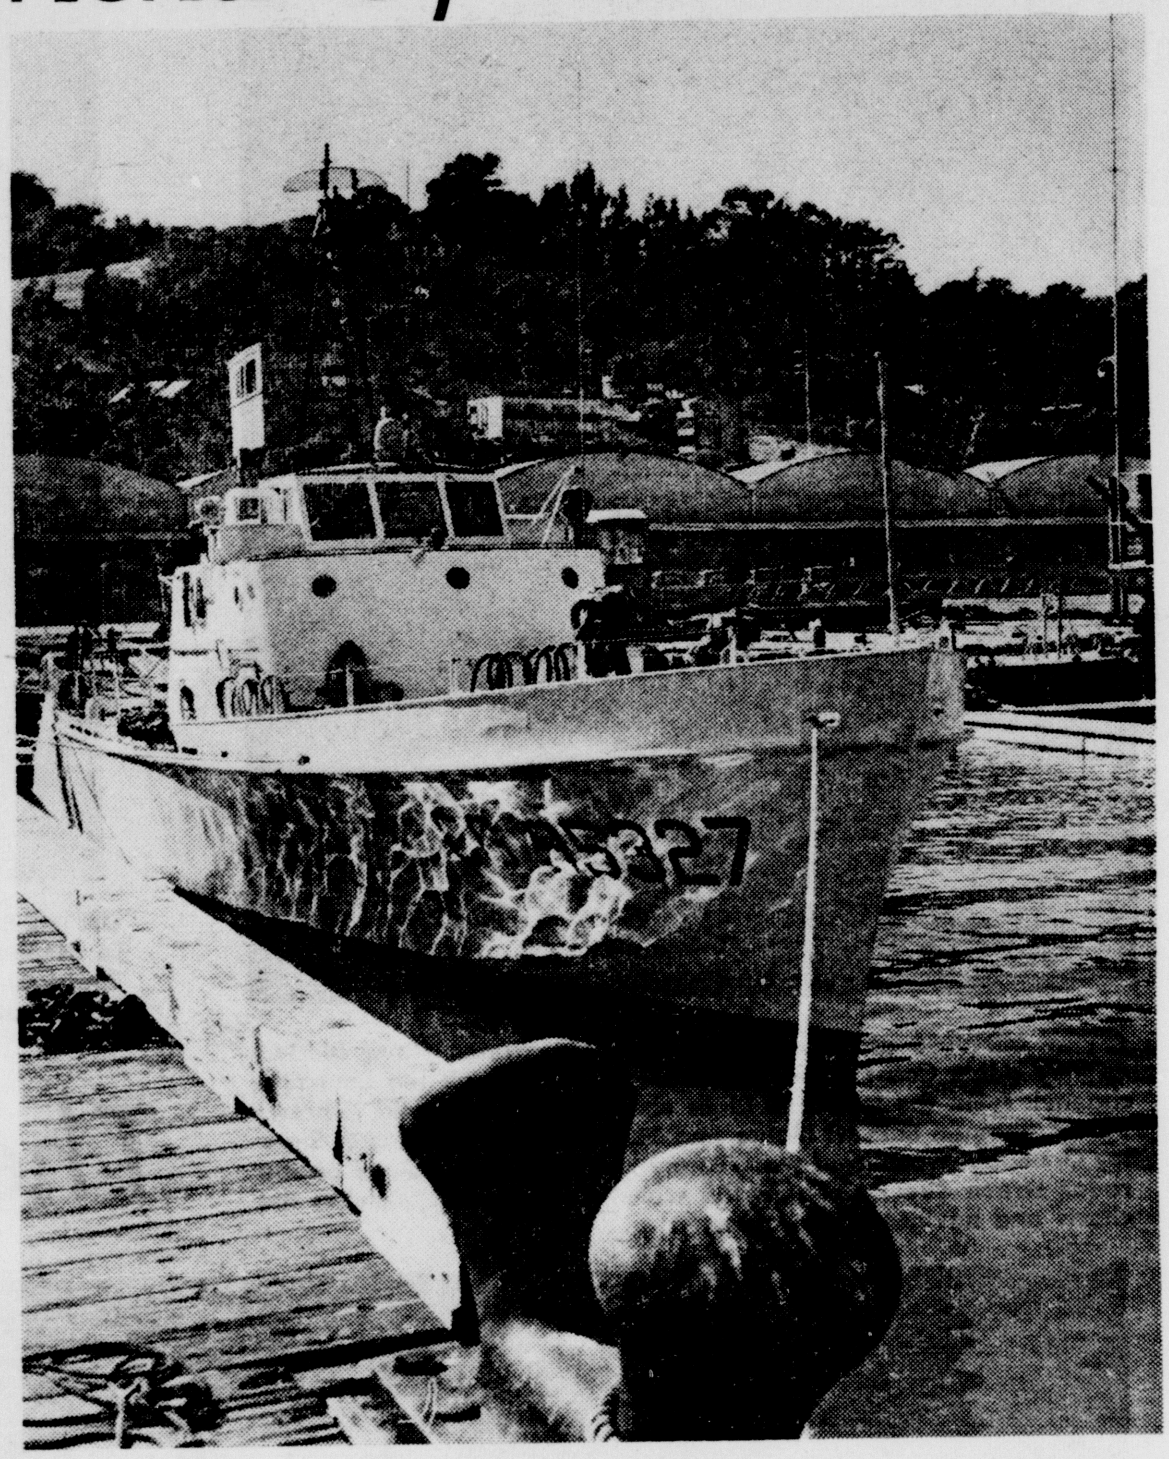
On the night of the Madden and Lewis Boat Works fire on the Sausalito waterfront, a lookout aboard the cutter spotted smoke and flame shortly after 6 o'clock. Within 12 minutes the cutter was in the channel moving down the face of the waterfront and the 15 foot outboard runabout that is used in the shallows of Richardson Bay was on its way to the boat works.

CHIEF MATE Arthur Christman, a member of the original crew, set up a portable telephone on the Madden and Lewis pier at 6:25 p.m., and sent the runabout back to the cutter for portable pumping equipment. Low tides forced the cutter to rest at anchor 600 feet offshore. (The boat draws six feet of water at the dock and eight feet underway.)

After towing a boat off the Madden and Lewis ways the four man crew had a fireline set up across the back end of the pier by 6:40. Less than half an hour later the fire on the pier had been contained, but in a little over an hour's time a quarter million dollars property had been destroyed.

The 14 men aboard cutter 95327 know what to do in time of emergency instinctively. They move quickly and are highly trained to cope with all types of maritime and coastal emergency. They are proud of their service and might mention as a passing comment that the Coast Guard is the oldest maritime service in the United States.

There is a close bond between captain and men. After the Petri assignment Lt. Henneberry said of his crew: "They did the job without hesitating once . . . they must have been scared but it didn't show."



CUTTER CG95327 WAS snug in her berth in Sausalito when this photograph was taken. But she and her crew of Coast Guardsmen never know just when the call will come that will cause them to leave the safety of the shore and brave the elements to aid those in trouble at sea. On pages M10 and M11 you can see CG-95327 and her crew in action.

The Men Of The Coast Guard In Action

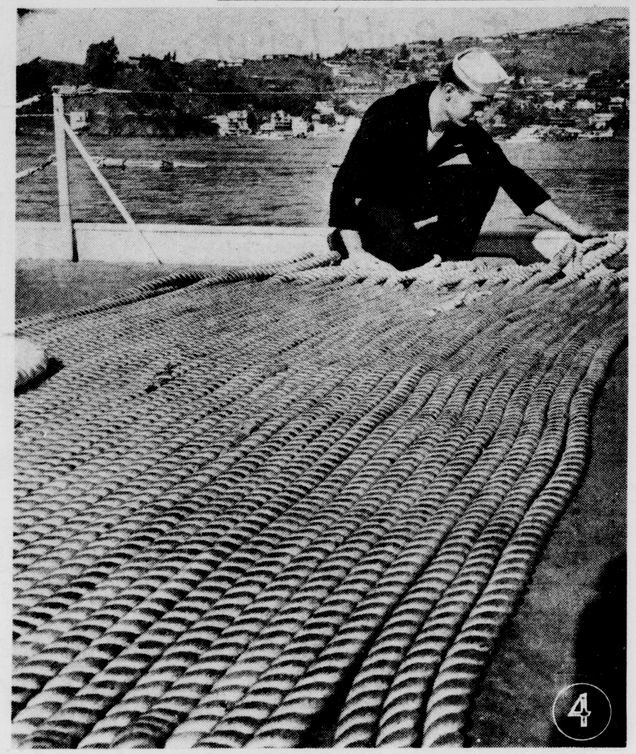
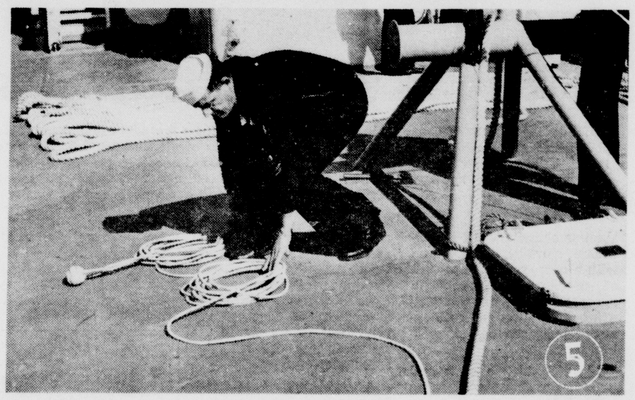
OPERATION TOW begins as soon as the bridge is notified by the San Francisco Rescue Coordination Center that someone is in trouble and needs help to get home. Second Class Boatswain Mate Joseph Belisle and Second Class Electrician Mate Richard White remove the flag staff so the tow lines can be cast over the stern.

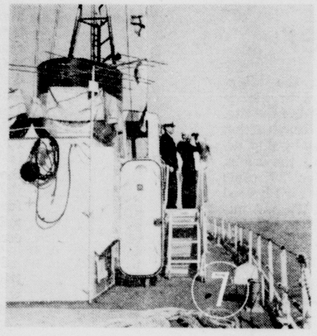


FAKING DOWN THE LINES, Seaman William Morgan stretches the cutter's four-inch nylon towing line in the second step of Operation Tow. The line is arranged so that it can be reeled out over the stern of the boat without fouling.



THE MESSENGER LINE is coiled into "monkeyfists" by Boatswain mate Joseph Belisle. The four inch hauser is passed over to the distressed vessel by means of this smaller line that is tied to the hauser's ends. After the tow has been secured the cutter pulls the distressed vessel to the nearest available mooring.

THE CHIEF scans the skies looking for a glimpse of the Coast Guard helicopter that has been called to assist in the rescue of persons the cutter is unable to reach. The cutter draws six feet of water at the dock and eight feet under way. When the boat can't get in "close enough" a whirlybird drops a rig and hoists the victim to safety.



MONEY PENNY JOINS Chief Christman in searching the skies for the 'copter. The hull of the cutter is galvanized steel. The boat has a radio range of 70 miles and radar range of 20 miles. Four 600 horsepower diesel engines propel the cutter through the waters. Traveling at a speed of 10 knots the cutter can travel 2,400 miles. As her speed is increased, however, the distance she can cover diminishes.

OPERATION MEDAVAC begins as soon as the bright yellow Coast Guard helicopter arrives at the scene. This combined cutter-helicopter maneuver has saved countless lives. The 'copter carries a rig that lowers a stretcher-basket to injured parties. The cutter stands by to give emergency treatment or to act if an accident occurs.

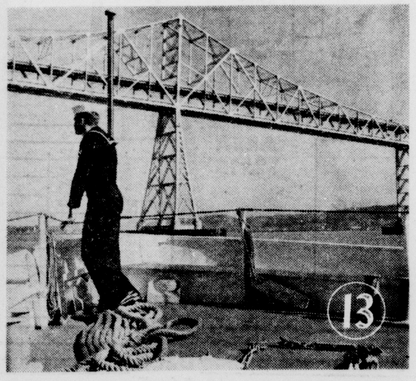
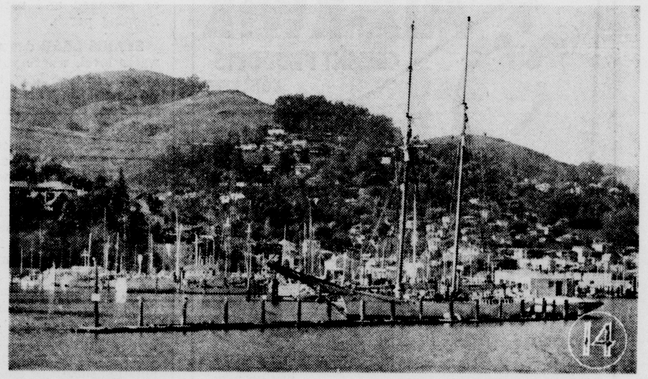
LEANING AGAINST THE towing yoke, boatswain Mate Joe Belisle relaxes a moment after Operation Tow has successfully terminated. The tow lines are anchored to this yoke. Joe is a member of the original crew who brought the cutter to her first base in January, 1959.

WHEN ITS time for chow Cook Second Class James Turner knows what to feed the Captain and the 13-man crew of the cutter. It's roast duck cooked on the small electric range in the galley. Cook Turner also bakes cakes, pies in this tiny oven.

A GOOD APPETITE HAS BEEN worked up by the Captain and men when they finally relax over 1200 chow. The menu included roast duck, green beans, mashed potatoes, stuffed celery, olives and a "boat-made" chocolate cake. The usual working day for the men begins at 6:30 a.m. and ends at 4 p.m. barring any emergency calls.



AFTER CHOW First Class Electrician Mate (Money) Penny inspects the foredeck as the cutter, now on patrol, noses under the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge. The cutter is practically unsinkable: Any two adjacent compartments can be flooded without causing sinking. But an impaired stability caused by water sloshing around below decks might cause the cutter to roll over. If the pilot house windows had been smashed on the Petri call and water had flooded the lower decks, the cutter could have rolled over.



THE SAUSALITO HARBOR is full time home for the cutter moored at the U. S. Army Engineers dock and part-time home for her skipper and men. The men usually spend three full days aboard on "Bravo Zero," followed by three days at home on "Bravo Six" where the men have six hours to get back to the boat and be under way after receiving orders. The mess hall was decorated with a Christmas tree last year because the men spent both holidays on Bravo Zero.

Easy To Build Leisure Homes Are Popular

The new trend to compact cars is fairly obvious. All you have to do is stand on the corner and watch the traffic.

But you have to get off the beaten path a little to see what's happening to the leisure home movement. Waterside and mountain sites are blossoming with attractive, low-cost homes.

This new building market is an important one, economically, and it fits into the same budget range as the new compact cars. Many of the new cabins cost less than a compact car, but still deliver plenty of space and comfort for the vacationing family.

COMPLETE kitchens and bath rooms are required by nearly every family looking for a vacation hideaway. The woman of the house can't see why she should work harder on vacation than she does at home.

Probably the biggest factor behind the growing number of vacation cabins is the ease with which they can be built with modern materials. An influential building magazine predicts that 75,000 such cabins will be built in 1960.

The wide use of fir plywood in full four x eight foot sheets makes it possible for the amateur carpenter to greatly reduce the amount of framing lumber required. And there's less intricate cutting and fitting required when buildings are made with a few pieces rather than a lot of little ones.

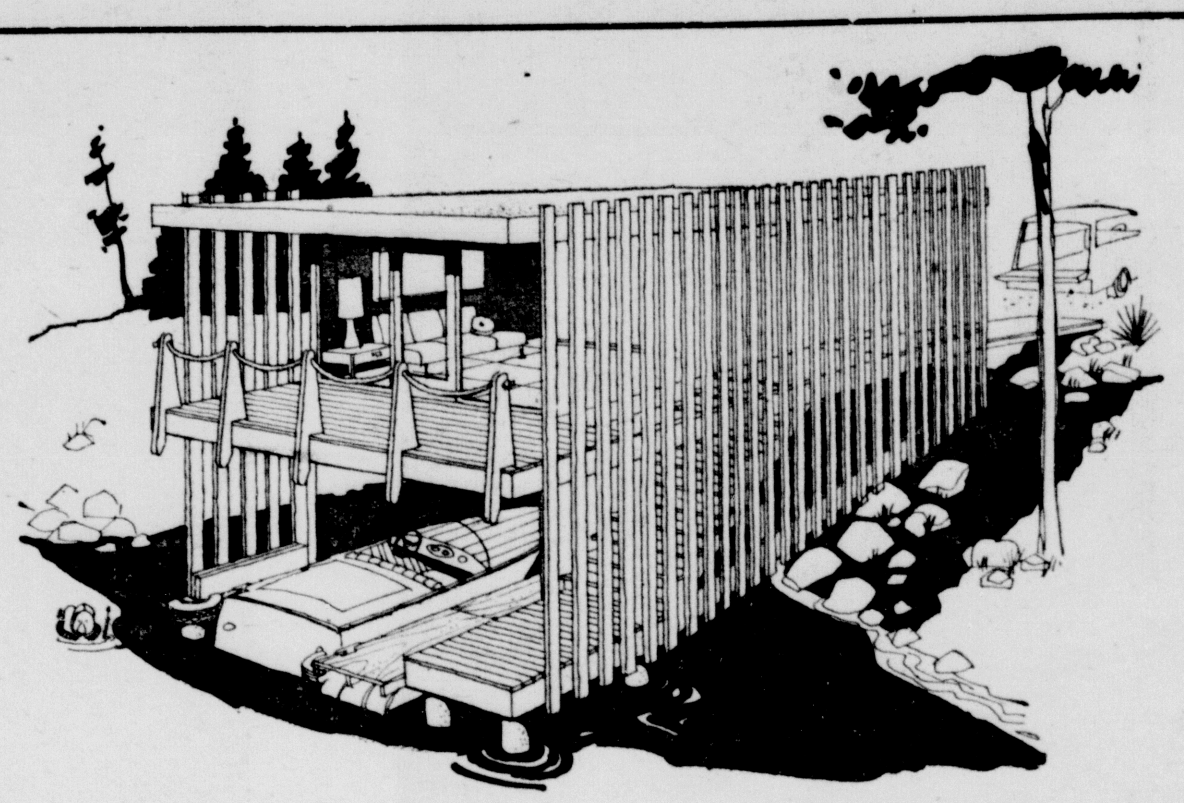
There are a number of grades of plywood within the two basic types, too, giving the home-owner lots of latitude in how he wants his cabin to look.

THE TWO TYPES differ in the glue used to bond the veneers together. The first, and most widely known, is interior type, made with moisture-resistant glue. This material is used indoors only. Interior type plywood should never be used in places where it will be exposed to moisture.

The other, exterior type, is made with a completely water-proof glue—the same glue used in marine grade plywood.

Other grades include striated plywood, with a patterned face; Texture One-Eleven, with vertical grooves either two or four inches apart; brushed plywood, another textured panel, and overlaid plywood, a special grade with its faces covered with resin impregnated paper. This last grade makes an especially fine surface for paint.

Marin Living



HERE'S ONE OF THE FEW cabins you'll find that is really adapted to a steep waterside lot. It's ideal for use beside water, but it can also be adapted to hillside sites with the car kept below where the boat is shown here. It is fast and easy for the owner to build. And its called the Beachead.

THE BEACHEAD

This Vacation Cabin Ideal For Steep Site Along Water

Most beach cabins require a level lot to keep their costs from skyrocketing. But here is a small, comfortable cabin that is specifically designed for a steep, economical lot. It's adaptable to salt or fresh water, and would fit in well along running water. It's also can be adapted for a hillside site.

Architect Milton Schwartz designed a lot of careful planning into its 275 square feet of interior, which includes a kitchen and complete bath.

Bunk beds fold down in the forward part of the cabin, which is convertible to a cozy living room in the daytime. The kitchen and bath occupy the rear.

The living room overlooks an 80-square-foot deck that is ideal for sun bathing or for watching activity on the water. It also may be covered or screened and used as a sleeping porch.

STAIRS LEAD down to the water level, where your boat is secured to a long, narrow, floating dock. The cabin and sun deck combine to form a roof over the boat.

The cabin rests on concrete piers and is capable of being expanded in several ways, as your budget or family grows.

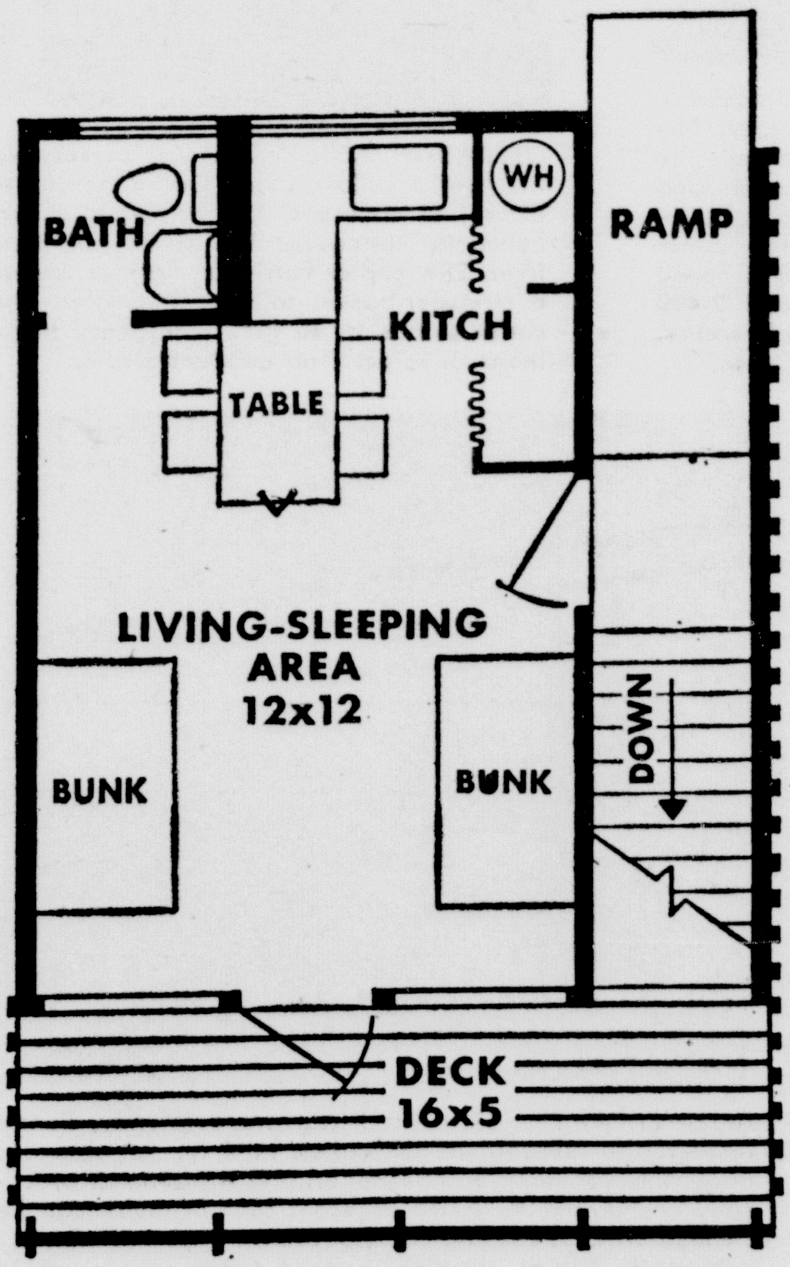
Construction is extremely simple and is based on versatile, quickly-erected fir plywood. The panels are used full-size in nearly all applications, keeping intricate cutting and fitting to a minimum.

The big four x eight-foot panels are used for the floor and roof decks and as a combination sheathing and siding. This type of construction helps keep costs down by eliminating much of the studding and bracing required in conventional construction and makes it possible to build the cabin in a minimum of spare time.

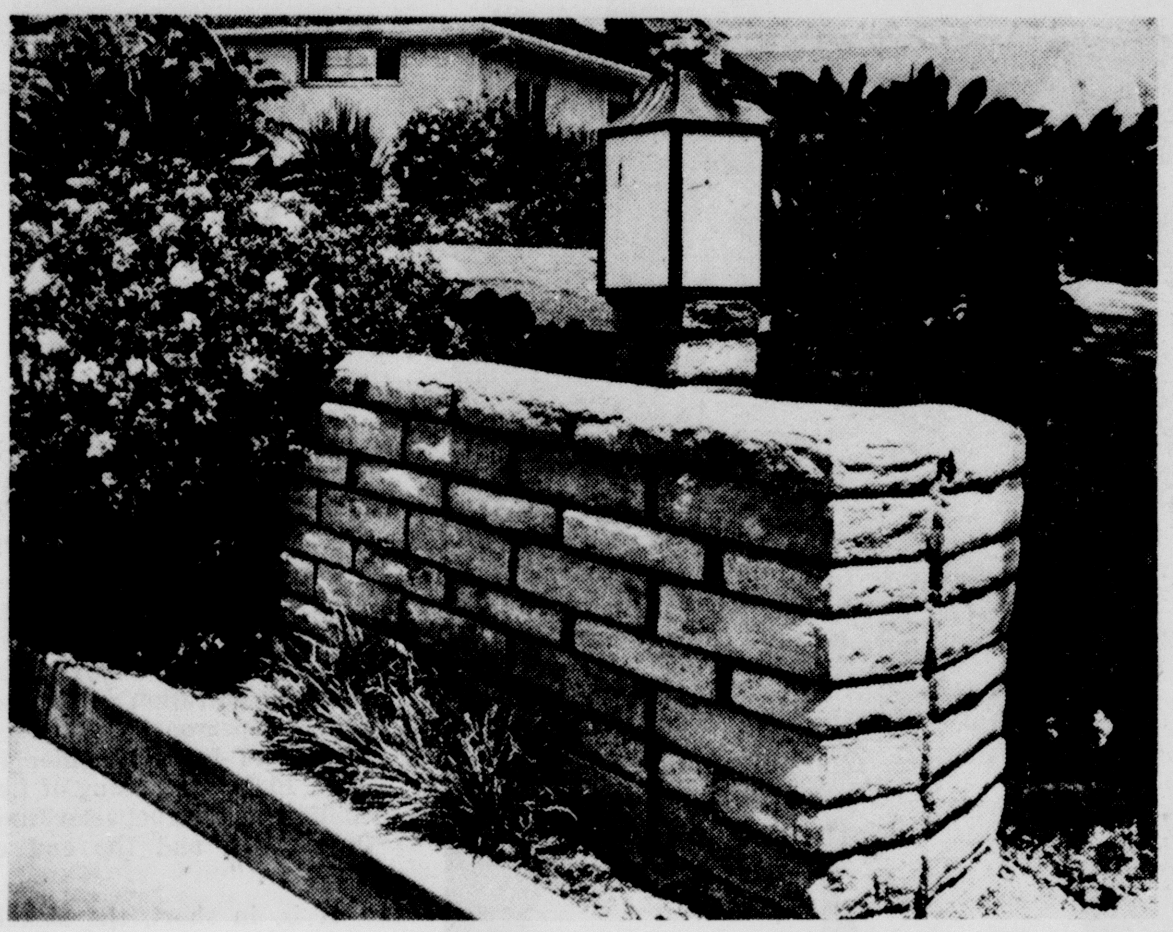
MATERIALS FOR the cabin shell cost approximately $1,400. This figure does not include labor costs or wiring, plumbing and kitchen fixtures. The lot also would be extra, but this design makes it possible to build on a low-cost site.

Some of the building can be prefabricated in the cabin-owner's basement or garage in town and hauled to the site.

Complete construction plans, giving step-by-step details for building the cabin, are available for 25 cents from the Douglas Fir Plywood Assn., Tacoma 2, Wash. A materials list, down to the last nail, is included. Ask for "the Beachhead."



ARCHITECT Milton Schwartz has designed the Beachead cabin as economically as the interior of a ship. Every square inch is useful.



A WALL OF slump block along the edges of your yard can add a touch of rustic charm, no matter where your property is located. And the wall is durable, long-lasting and maintenance free. The new type of masonry has a hand-crafted, adobe appearance.

New Concrete Masonry Product Can Add Rustic Charm To Yard

It doesn't matter if you live in town or in the country, you can add a touch of rustic charm to your yard by enclosing it with a slump block wall.

Slump block, a variety of new-type concrete masonry, has a hand-crafted adobe appearance. Its desert-like qualities and color form a simple but striking background for all types of plantings.

Besides framing a house and separating your property from your neighbor's yard, a wall of medium height provides a degree of privacy. A wall guards against intrusion by children on bicycles or people seeking a "shortcut" route.

Building a wall of slump block is easy and economical. It will last longer and require less maintenance than a wall constructed with almost any other material.

Alternate courses of two- and four-inch slump block were used in building this wall for a decorative effect and offset rows at regular intervals add both lateral strength and beauty.

By constructing a lamppost of slump block at the corner of the wall, you can fashionably mark the driveway or entranceway to your house as well as provide a practical outdoor lighting fixture.

Those Acid-Loving Plants Present Special Problems

It seems worth noting for California gardeners that most of our acid-loving plants are also moisture - loving plants. And, further, that the moisture itself may be the acid plant's undoing.

This seeming paradox is explained by the fact that most irrigation water bears a good amount of alkaline salts and, if soil drainage is poor, these salts will not leech out. They stay at the roots and do their ultimate damage.

The first rule of proper care for acid-loving plants, therefore, is providing proper drainage. And this we happily do with a variety of materials such as peat moss and leaf mold which also provide an acid reaction in the soil.

Nurserymen will urge you to use copious amounts of these two materials when planting such acid lovers as camellias, azaleas, rhododendrons, magnolias, begonias, daphne and a host of others.

If the planting spot is lower than surrounding areas, and apt to collect runoff, raise it artificially by surrounding it with redwood or brick headers before adding peat or leaf mold.

Soil sulphur, available at all nurseries, is a time-tested way of maintaining acidity around established plants. It will not do its duty, however, if the soil is not loose enough to let it penetrate.

With plants such as fuchsias, azaleas and camellias that need frequent feeding, the simplest way, since it kills two birds with one stone, is to use an acid-type fertilizer. Start feeding camellias and azaleas with this now and follow the directions on the package for future feedings.

As to water, most of these plants like moisture on the foliage as well as on the roots. Overhead sprinkling should be a regular part of your watering schedule, especially during summer and especially with your fuchsias, azaleas, rhododendrons, and begonias. Add a peat moss mulch around all these but begonias and you'll earn a gold star for your effort. Also better blooms.

With Fuchsias You Just Can't Miss

Fuchsias have a happy way of producing offspring about as fast as you can count them. Each year sees exciting new members of the family. And who's to complain?

Looking at the new fuchsias which nurserymen are offering this year, we are amazed at the number which show good tolerance for heat. The time when gardeners considered the fuchsias strictly for coastside gardens is fast becoming history.

Among the good new ones is a number called Belvedere. Its blooms are large and double, in a lovely shade of blue, mottled with pink. It received one of the highest awards at the California National Fuchsia Society Show in Los Angeles last year. It is a strong, upright grower.

Capri is another fine double with violet-blue and white markings. Its growth is arching in habit and probably best adapted to basket culture. Two other hangers of note are Rosie O'Grady, a large double of soft, rosy pink; and Tiffany, which is double white with lovely pink sepals. Tiffany is a top performer in warm climates.

The gardener will be struck by the high percentage of good hanging or trailing varieties introduced this year. In addition to the above, he will find Blue Butterfly and Dusky Rose. The former is a single, open saucer type which shows good resistance to heat. Dusky Rose, named for its color, is a large double.

We also have two that will serve either as small shrubs or as trailers. The first is Papoose, one of the small-flowered fuchsias that seem to be gaining popularity once again. Outstanding in heat, it bears a profusion of dark purple and red blooms. The second is Red Jacket, a large red and white double which is sure to catch your eye in nurseries.

GARDENERS CHECKLIST

- A sharp mower is the best insurance against ragged lawns. Once a year is not too often to have mowers sharpened.
- Pot up or transplant begonia tubers that have two or three inches of top growth. Wait a week or two to feed them.
- Start hanging baskets of fuchsias for summer color. Use two or three small plants to a container.

A Couple For Those Who Like Action

The tragic account of the assault on Mount Haramosh in the Himalayas in 1957 by five men, only three of whom came back.

More than a record of cold, hunger and privation suffered by the climbers, the book is a testament to man's ability to fight against incredible odds to win an intangible, moral victory.

Unfortunately, Ralph Barker, a weekend author who works at the job of flight lieutenant in the Royal Air Force, utilizes an awkward style of writing which at times leaves the reader as lost as the men who tried to climb the mountain.

Recommended for Wild West afficianados.

BOOKS

A Tale Of Nazi Terror

This is the autobiography of Rudolf Hoess, the commandant of the huge Auschwitz concentration camp who says, "I personally arranged on orders from Himmler in May, 1941, the gassing of two million persons between June-July, 1941, and the end of 1943. . . "

It is, in short, the sickening and terrible story of one of the monsters of our time. And yet it is important that it be a much read book if we are truly to understand the enormity of the crimes of Nazism against humanity. Less than two decades after they were perpetrated, too many of us have already forgotten them or downgraded them.

But they were truly monstrous, as revealed in Hoess' own words, self serving although he may try to make them at times.

Something of the Nazi thinking can be gleaned from his righteous anger and shock at the fact that guards at the concentration camp stole from the loot which had been conciscated for the state from prisoners before they were herded into gas chambers and stripped from their bodies (gold teeth, etc.) after they were burned. This, to him, was a truly dastardly crime. The wholesale murder of millions of innocent people, including helpless women and children, was to him, in retrospect, perhaps somewhat regrettable and unwise, but fully justified on his part as "in the line of duty."

The book shows why some of our more thoughtful people are so aroused and alarmed when neo-Nazism raises its ugly head today, even in isolated and seemingly miniscule incidents.

The book opens when Nazism was just such a minor fester in Germany—and follows through the wave of almost unbelievable butchery and brutality that resulted when public indifference and even indulgence permitted it to spread instead of nipping it at the bud.

Even those of us opposed to capital punishment cannot help but feel some inner satisfaction from the knowledge that Hoess and many of his cohorts did pay the supreme penalty for their crimes. It is less satisfying to know that others not only survived, but in a number of cases have even regained places of influence in their homeland and in other countries.

The translation is by Constantine FitzGibbon. There is an excellent introduction by Lord Russell of Liverpool. Several pages of photos are included, but tell less starkly than Hoess' words the terrors inflicted on the persecuted by the "master race."

IT'S A BIG JOKE to their offspring when mother and father, played by Kathy Frillson and Scott Holmes, are touched by a magic music box and forced to dance and dance. Giggling son and daughter in foreground are Christian Doughty and Linda Trieber. The youngsters are rehearsing at the Southern Marin Recreation Center for tonight's presentation of "The Musical Box."

TWO DRAMA CLASSES have been meeting at the center since January. The older group will present "Shady Shadows" tonight. Here Nip and Tuck, played by Linda McClure and Carolyn Talbott, have succeeded in tricking their shadows (portrayed by Eileen Fordyce and Elizabeth Green), and are about to run off, leaving the luckless shadows behind to do the chores.

PAUL KRAUS, who plays the role of a policeman in "The Musical Box," gets some last-minute costume adjustments by director Mrs. Irene Pritzker of Mill Valley in preparation for tonights double feature children's theater program. The curtain will go up at the recreation center at 7:30 p. m. Children's dramatics marks still another new activity at the always busy rec center.

It's Something New At The Rec Center

By CORENA GREEN

Not content with such varied classes as jujitsu, swimming, fencing, bridge, tennis and ancient Polynesian dancing, the Southern Marin Recreation Center has plunged into the field of cihldren's dramatics.

At a result two plays have been readied and are being presented at the center tonight as part of the opening day's festivities.

Directed by Mrs. Irene Pritzker of Mill Valley, the classes have been meeting weekly since January. Two groups have been organized, one for first through third graders, and another for fourth through eighth. Each group will present a play.

Between the plays an olio number, A. A. Milne's classic, "The King's Breakfast," will be presented by Bruce and Allen Bitter, twin sons of the George Bitters.

"The Musical Box" is the play chosen by the younger group. It is the story of a group of woodsprites, led by Mickety Midge who are locked in a chest for 300 years. When released by a small boy, they are so grateful they give him a wonderful music box which makes everyone it touches dance.

The older group will present "Shady Shadows" which is about the mischievous antics of two shadows who are forced into doing the household chores and homework of their human counterparts.

Nip and Tuck, the boy and girl, are played by Linda McClure and Carolyn Talbot. The shadows are Eileen Fordyce and Elizabeth Green.

THE WOODSPRITES will be jumping for joy tonight when they are released from a chest in which they have been imprisoned for 300 years. And then things really begin to happen in "The Musical Box." Left to right are Christy Wise, Corinne Del Mar, Allen Bitter, George Berticevich (the chief woodsprite), Bruce Bitter, Michele Gerdine and Judy Ellman. (Independent-Journal photos)

Mrs. Pritzker has a varied background of drama activities in Marin County. She has worked with the Junior Theater of Marin since its inception 12 years ago including the Sausalito, Mill Valley, Ross-Kentfield, and Belvedere-Tiburon units. In December she directed "The Emperor's New Clothes" produced by the Belvedere-Tiburon unit.

For the first year of Music for Minors she created "Symphony Gilda in Orchestra Land." By means of puppets projected in a screen she illustrated the various instruments in the orchestra.

She has performed with most of the Little Theater groups in the county including Ross Valley, Masquers, Sausalito Little Theater, Mill Valley Light Opera and the Cove Players. She specializes in character roles such as Mrs. Feely in "Suds in your Eyes" which the Cove Players produced.

Tonight's performance will start at 7:30 p.m. and members and guests are welcome to attend to watch the junior thespians.
